History:  Sun Ming Ting (Shenmingting 申明亭) is the name of one of seventy villages in the Lung Doo District of Guangzhou, located about 80 miles from Canton City. It was formed around 600 years ago, and attained some fame for having produced a number of scholars and educators. Most of the villagers have the surname Yang or Young (楊). The first group of them arrived in Hawaii around 1900, and became educators, merchants, herbal doctors, and laborers.

In 1946, the Hawaii descendants of Sun Ming Ting villagers saw a need for a family-based organization, and established the Sun Ming Ting Club. Later the name was changed to the Sun Ming Ting Benevolent Association. The founders included Sam K. Young, H.I. Young, Hin Sum Young, Kee Nam Young, Koon Lock Young and Ah Lum Young.

Many of the descendants have since become prominent in Hawaii’s community in various occupations and professions.

Activities:  The club undertakes two major activities annually. In April, members observe the Ching Ming festival with luncheon and a ceremony, and in December there is an annual Christmas party, for which participants pay a small fee.

Members have donated funds to provide furniture for the new school in Sun Ming Ting village in China, and to provide ongoing support to several classrooms there. The Association also takes an active part in fundraising for the Palolo Chinese Home, and other civic drives.
