NEW PREXY IS ANNOUNCED BY U. H. REGENTS

Director of Extension Work Called To Chair Left By Resignation

Prof. David L. Crawford, director of the University of Hawaii Extension department, was elected the new president of the university to succeed the retiring president, Dr. Arthur L. Dean, at a meeting of the Board of Regents on Thursday, December 23, 1926, when the resignation of President Dean was accepted and the appointment of Professor Crawford was announced.

Professor Crawford has had experience both in active administrative and teaching work and has won the confidence and respect of the students of this university. His choice by the board of regents, therefore, has met the hearty endorsement of the student-body.

During the past 10 years that Professor Crawford has been a member of the staff of the University of Hawaii he had the title of professor of entomology and during the past two years has devoted all of his time to work as director of the extension department of the university.

RESEARCH WORK IN OIL IS CONTINUED

Work of Making Chaulmoogra Oil Derivatives Goes On At University

Research work in chaulmoogra oil derivatives for the treatment of cases of leprosy will continue in the university under the direction of Dr. Arthur L. Dean and Prof. Richard Wrenshall, head of the chemistry department, according to an announcement made by Professor Wrenshall this week, in refutation of a rumor that the work would be discontinued, due to the resignation of Dr. Dean as president of the university.

The work in chaulmoogra oil derivatives is supported by the United States Public Health Service and the Territorial Board of Health.

In addition to Dr. Dean and Dr. Wrenshall, who hold commissions as consulting chemists in the U. S. Public Health Service, Miss Margaret Dewar is employed here as chemist, and Chong Hong Lee, a technical assistant, with the Public Health service. Giichi Fujimoto, instructor in chemistry, is retained by the Territorial Board of Health to devote half of his time to research work in chaulmoogra oil.

HAWAII DELEGATES RETURN TUESDAY

The five men who represented the University of Hawaii at the intercollegiate conference at Asilomar, California, during the Christmas holidays, will return to Honolulu on Tuesday, January 11, on the S. S. Maui.

The men left Honolulu on the S. S. Los Angeles on December 18, 1926, and went to Los Angeles, California, where they were met by conference officials. From Los Angeles they motored up the coast 400 miles to the conference grounds at Asilomar, near Monterey Bay.

Several hundred men from the leading colleges and universities in California and Nevada attended the conference, which was held from December 27 to January 2. Able speakers addressed the assembled men, and helpful discussions were held.

After the conference the men left for San Francisco, stopping at Palo Alto on the way, and visiting Stanford university. Then they motored on up to San Francisco where they visited the Golden Gate park and other places of interest. In Berkeley they visited the University of California.

The men who represented Hawaii at the conference were David Makaoi, senior, Quan Lun Ching, Hung Wai Ching and S. C. Jain, juniors, and Moses Inaina, sophomore.

Dr. Dean Developed Chaulmoogra Cure

Dr. Arthur L. Dean is the discoverer of chaulmoogra oil which has been used with very satisfactory results in treating cases of leprosy.

The specific was first developed by Dr. Hollman and Miss Alice Ball, and the advanced specific was discovered and prepared by Dr. Dean.

Chaulmoogra oil is obtained by pressing the seeds of the "taraktogenos kurzii" and several closely related species of hydnocarpus, which grow wild in India.

The deputation team visited the island of Hawaii in 1924 and the island of Kauai in 1925. This will be the second trip of the team to the Garden Island, but the majority of the men who will make the trip this year will be new men.

The team will return to Honolulu on February 2, in time for the second semester. The trip will be made under the direction of David Makaoi, chairman of the deputation team, and Dwight Rugh, Student Y secretary. Students who are interested in the trip are asked to see Makaoi when he returns from Asilomar on Tuesday.

UNIVERSITY TO LOSE DR. DEAN AS PRESIDENT

Executive Resigns; Accepts Offer To Be Director of Pineapple Research

After 12 and a half years of service as president of the University of Hawaii, formerly the College of Hawaii, Dr. Arthur Lyman Dean will retire from his office to become full-time director of the Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Canners, according to an announcement made by Charles R. Hemmenway, chairman of the board of regents, on Thursday, December 23, 1926.

The announcement came as an unexpected surprise to the university as well as the community, for there had been not a single previous intimation of the event.

President Dean will leave his executive position in the university at the end of this month, in order to take up his work with the Pineapple association.

Graduate Study Director

When Dr. Dean assumes his new duties he will continue his relations with the university as director of graduate study and research.

According to President Judd of the Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Canners, the canners have had part-time services of Dr. Dean as director of the experimental work which has been closely associated with the University of Hawaii for some time. The trustees of the association, Judd said,

Harrison Starts "U" Basketball Practice

Four Letter-Men And Nine New Men Report For Wicker Team

With the close of the football season, basketball is the major sport of the university men for the next two months.

The Deans did not enjoy a successful season last year. The Rainbow basketball team won two out of six games, and tied for fourth place in the Senior Basketball league. This year, however, Hawaii is out to make a better showing.

Coach "Spud" Harrison, the newly appointed hoop mentor, issued the first call for candidates during the Christmas holidays. More than a dozen aspirants responded. The first practice was held last Monday afternoon at the Central Y, when the fine points on dribbling, pivoting, and conversion of free throws were told by Coach Harrison.

Among the candidates who turned out for the first practice were four letter men and nine newcomers. The letter men are Capt. Archie Kaaua, Billy Mountcastle, Kanky Chun and Shunma Hino, and the new men include Donald Dease, Donald Smith, Walter Holt, "Lofty" Cook, James Shin, Hung Dau Ching, Richard Sakimoto, Bernard Farden, and "Bull" Towse.

South Dakota Wins From Deans By 9-2

The University of Hawaii football team lost to the powerful South Dakota eleven in a hard-fought game at the Honolulu Stadium on Christmas Day, 9-2. The Dakotans, led by their versatile half-back Kelley, scored three field goals, while the Deans won a touchback. The game was cleanly played throughout. It was refereed by Knute Rockne.

INTER-CLASS DEBATE TEAMS TO BE CHOSEN AT TRY-OUTS NEXT WEEK

Tryouts for the interclass debating tournament will be held in Room 107, Hawaii hall, at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, January 11th. Any student in the university is eligible to try-out.

Short talks, either defending or opposing the following proposition are to be given by the contestants Tuesday night: "Resolved, that in behalf of better speech, and wider interests for the people, the Territory of Hawaii should provide and maintain a territorial theatre in Honolulu, similar to the municipal theatres in Germany and the state theatres of Soviet Russia."

At first glance the topic may be a little perplexing. However there are several very strong arguments that may be given both for the Affirmative and pected from the men who attended the the Negative. One of the main contention for the Affirmative will probably be that the cultural and educational value of such a public theatre will justify whatever is spent on it.

The average citizen has little chance to hear good talks, debates, or dramatic productions today, outside of the church and the occasional lecture. If a territorial auditorium were established it would be a decided boost for platform speaking and other forms of forensics.

On the negative one of the principal arguments would be that the auditorium would be too expensive to build and to maintain year after year. Then it would admit considerable possibilities for graft, political propaganda, and the like.

Three students will be chosen to represent each of the four classes of the university—freshman, sophomore, junior, senior. In the first series of the

PRESIDENT DEAN'S RESIGNATION

Dr. Arthur L. Dean will leave the presidency of this university at the end of this month, in order to become full-time director of the Experiment Station of the Association of Hawaiian Pineapple Canners. The news of his resignation came as an unexpected surprise to his many friends, who had never even dreamed the possibility of such an event. It will be a long while yet before we can begin to think of Dr. Dean as other than President Dean.

Dr. Dean has served as president for twelve and a half years, having come to the islands in 1914 as president of the College of Hawaii. Under his administration the College of Hawaii has grown from an institution of a mere handful of students into a University of over 800 students and 60 faculty members. The university now has plenty of good land and water, a splendid campus, fine buildings, and superb laboratory and classroom equipment.

The scholastic standards are on a par with those of the best mainland universities. The quality of the academic staff is high, the morale of the student-body is good. The service rendered to the community by the university is immense, and the reputation of the university is sound and widespread.

The story of the growth and development of this institution under the presidency of Dr. Dean is as fascinating as any story of romance could expect to be. It is a record of high ideals, ambition, indomitable purpose, and tremendous capacity for effective work.

Dr. Dean has not only been an amazingly efficient executive; he has been a staunch friend and inspiring leader of the student-body, and a leading citizen in the local community. He has endeared himself to the student-body and we all keenly regret to lose him as president of the university. We can rejoice, however, in the knowledge that he is going into work for which he is eminently fitted by both training and ability. In his chosen profession Dr. Dean will be in a position to be of inestimable service to the growing pineapple industry and therefore to the territory. We rejoice too in the selection of Professor David L. Crawford as the new President. We have the utmost confidence in Professor Crawford. We believe the Regents could not have made a better choice.

THE 1926 DEANS

When Otto Klum and Carter Galt began the task of coaching the 1926 Deans, they missed eight first-string men from the championship eleven of 1925. Undespairing, they started in to build another "wonder team," with what material was on hand. And the 1926 Deans, although not as successful as the championship teams of previous years, showed enough potential strength and ability to cheer the most pessimistic Dean booster. A "wonder team" is not formed accidentally, but has to be built up, through sound training and long experience. Watch the Deans of 1927, 1928 and 1929. Meanwhile we bid aloha to the members of the 1926 team, especially to Captain Eddie Fernandez, Dan Ainoa, and Archie Kaaua who donned the Rainbow uniforms for the last time on Christmas Day.

BORAH ON CHINA AND WORLD PEACE

Senator Borah, chairman of the senate's foreign relations committee, was asked to speak before the National Council of Jewish Women on the subject of Peace. His entire address was devoted to the situation in China! A stirring challenge it was, expressed in terms of American idealism that are strongly reminiscent of the finest challenges voiced by the great Woodrow Wilson:

"There is no power," he declared, "which can master or hold in subjection 400 million people . . . The nation which . . . invokes the brutal policy of force in China will be the deliberate assassin of justice in the Orient for decades and decades. It will dedicate that land to misery and bloodshed for years to come, and in the end it will settle nothing. Force never does. The time has gone by in China when you can shoot down men, as they did last July, and see a nation bow like whipped slaves. China may furnish the acid test of whether the world has been converted to justice or whether it proposes to retain the barbarous creed of force."

The Nation, editorially remarks: "What a stinging answer to the timid pessimism of Silas Strawn, American delegate to the Extraterritoriality Conference, who has been telling his audiences that since China is in civil war America must stand with the Western Powers and refuse to remedy the crying abuses of the unequal treaties. Mr. Strawn's policy of doing nothing now is a herald of the gunboat policy tomorrow. Our gunboats indeed already line the Yangtze, in silent defense of an unjustifiable status quo. Will not the State Department heed the warning?"

JAPAN'S NEW LAND LAW

Under the provisions of the new Japanese land law, which went into effect on November 10, 1926, all foreign nationals are permitted to own land, except in places that are regarded as being "necessary for national defense." When the Imperial Diet passed the law in 1925 it appended a provision leaving to the government the decision as to whether or not it should couple with the law an imperial rescript putting foreign nationals on a reciprocal basis. This would obviously prevent Americans from owning land who hold citizenship in American states which similarly bar Japanese.

The rescript has not been attached to the law. That is significant. Japan cannot be said to be free from jingoists and the yellow press. Added to that is the fact of our insult over exclusion. Japan has indeed set our country an example.

PROHIBITION AND PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Seven and a half years have passed since the Eighteenth Amendment became a part of the Constitution of our country, and Prohibition is still a big issue. The recent election returned a gain for the "wets" in the House of Representatives, where they now claim 178 out of 435 members. In the Senate, however, the anti-prohibitionists did not gain. They claim 26 out of 96 members of the upper house. Attention is now focussed on the presidential election of 1928 when a third of the Senators and all the Representatives must stand for election again.

We believe in Prohibition, and we hope that our American experiment succeeds. If, however, this experiment cannot today receive the support of the large majority of our fellow-citizens, it would then be advisable to "make an orderly retreat to beer and light wines." If we do so a great responsibility is ours. We must begin and maintain a thorough-going educational campaign directed toward the ultimate re-adoption of complete prohibition.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PICTURE?

The Churchman offers this "delectable bit of prophetic history." It is Sunday morning at St. Vitus's-in-the-Vale in the year 1950. We are in a crisis with Japan and France, and it seems that Germany may join us. War has not yet been declared, but the publicity bureau is building up morale and the clergy have been asked to read a letter from the pulpit. The aged rector, who has got his old and new papers somewhat mixed, begins: "Since the days of our glorious revolution there has been one nation bound to us not only by ties of race, but by those closer ties of a common democratic tradition. When we think of the great Lafayette, we realize that we have had no more faithful friend than France (nervous coughing in the congregation). And if we have had one bitter and relentless enemy, arrogantly devoted to its own aggrandizement, autocratic, militaristic, it is the land of Bismark—Germany."

Here a vestryman bustles up to the chancel and whispers to the rector. He peruses his paper, nods assent, and hurries into the vestry and back. "My friends," says he, "I am very sorry. I was hunting among some old papers for one of the 1917 war prayers, and I must have picked up the wrong letter. That was the one," and here the old man seemed to grin childishly, "that we had to read in the other war. These are the patriotic sentiments which our government would impress now, upon us: "Since the days of our glorious revolution there has been one nation bound to us not only by ties of race, but by those closer ties of a common democratic tradition. When we think of Von Steuben, we realize that we have had no more faithful friend than Germany. And if we have had one bitter relentless enemy, arrogantly devoted to its own aggrandizement, autocratic, militaristic, it is the land of Bonaparte—France!"

Impressions Of A Kona Storm

Sheets of rain! Moaning trees! Ruined shoes.

The city draped in a mantle of grey. Street cars out of commission—naturally.

Umbrellas turned inside out.

Cars skidding perilously.

The glorious rainbow.

That pent up feelin' on the inside.

The purple haze on the mountains.

Linesmen hurrying to repair the damage done to trolley lines and electric wires.

The drip, drip, drip of everything.

Sniffling children; damp, whimpering dogs.

The wet coal that won't burn.

The telephone that is out of order.

The morning paper resting in a puddle of water.

The little pool that came in through the window and spoiled the new table.

That damp, cold, uncomfortable feeling.

The wish for a big open fireplace, a good book, and some popcorn to pop. These are impressions brought on by the recent two-day storm.

Returns To Hawaii

DR. TASUKU HARADA

Dr. Tasuku Harada, professor of Japanese Language and History at the University of Hawaii, returned to Honolulu with Mrs. Harada and Sam Harada, a son, on the Siberia Maru on December 18, 1926, after a half-year's sojourn in the Orient. Dr. Harada, who was granted a leave of absence for the first semester, will resume his chair with the beginning of the second semester.

Dr. Harada has been a member of the faculty since 1920. Previous to his coming to Hawaii he was president of Doshisha University, in Kyoto, Japan, for 12 years, from 1907 to 1919.

Dr. Harada studied in Kumamoto, his birthplace, and later at Doshisha University. He entered Yale University and graduated from the Divinity school in the class of 1891. He traveled through Europe in 1892. Returning to Japan he had pastorates in Tokyo, Kyoto and Kobe. He was editor of the Rikugo Zasshi and the Christian World.

For nine years, from 1898 to 1906, Dr. Harada was president of the Christian Endeavor Union of Japan. He attended the world convention in London in 1906, and similar religious meetings abroad. In 1909 he lectured at Harvard, Yale and other American universities.

Edinburgh awarded Dr. Harada the degree of Doctor of Laws, and Amherst awarded him the degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1910.

was then professor of botany at the University of Hawaii, set out for Burma to gather a supply of the precious chaulmoogra seeds in order to plant some in the United States. Professor Rock and his party were forced to penetrate into wild hill country, with native guides.

Four Lives Lost

A man-eating tiger followed the party back to the village of Kyankta, unobserved by the members of the expedition. Entering a native hut it killed three women and a child. Professor Rock was anxious to track the beast but the natives devised a trap in the same hut which snared the tiger only two days later.

A tract of 27 acres of fertile land was purchased at Waiahole, Oahu, and the seeds brought back by Professor Rock were planted there. Thousands of trees are now growing from those seeds. The average height of the trees is five feet. Each tree bears seeds after eight or ten years.

Lepers Are Cured

The oil as prepared by Dr. Dean cures the milder cases of leprosy. Scores of patients have been dismissed from the Kalihi receiving station after being treated with the oil. None of the patients have found it necessary to return to the station for further treatment.

UNIVERSITY MEN'S GROUP DISCUSSES VITAL ISSUES

"What is the goal of human endeavor and human living? What can the human race look forward to? If any, what are the inherent laws of the universe that mankind must learn to understand and obey in order to obtain a richer and fuller life?"

These are some of the questions to be discussed at the next meeting of felt that it was hardly fair to Dr. Dean to attempt to continue in the dual capacity of president of the university and director of the experimental work of the association.

Fortunate to Get Dr. Dean

"We feel that we are indeed very fortunate in being able to obtain the services of a man of Dr. Dean's ability, energy, and character to conduct this work for us," Judd declared.

"While we appreciate that the territory is losing the services of Dr. Dean as president of the University of Hawaii, yet it is retaining those services in a field of endeavor which we trust will prove of inestimable value to the future resources of these islands."

Came In 1914

Dr. Dean came to the former College of Hawaii in the summer of 1914 and has devoted more than 12 years to the institution. During his term of office the college has become a university with two colleges, a well organized extension department and a considerable group of graduate students.

Dr. Dean's resignation was accepted at a meeting of the board of regents of the University of Hawaii at a meeting held on Thursday, December 23, 1926.

There will be no decided changes in administration at the university, according to President-elect Crawford. He will assume the work of the presidency in February. According to tentative plans he will continue as director of the extension department until the end of the fiscal year.

Dr. Dean Issues Statement

"There are, in my opinion, only two fields of effective advertising for a college or university. The first and foremost is the human product. DEBATE ON ISSUE OF WAR GUILT IS HELD AT HARVARD

Professor Barnes Places The Responsibility On Russia France And Serbia

"Resolved, that the house favors the revision of the Versailles treaty in respect to the war guilt of the Central Powers." This question was debated by the Harvard Debating Union recently, with Prof. Harry Elmer Barnes of Smith College taking the Affirmative. In a speech which, according to the Crimson, swept the skeptics off their feet, Professor Barnes fastened the guilt for the World War of 1914 upon Russia. Precipitating a general European conflict to serve her own political aims, she shares with France and Serbia the responsibility of the war.

Russia Desires Bosphorus

"Russia's desire for the Bosphorus was the roof of all the trouble," maintained Professor Barnes. "This strait, her only outlet to the Mediterranean Sea, was owned by Turkey, and for three years Russia played fast and loose with Turkey, with her eye on the strait. Turkey saw through the device, and Russia turned to stirring up the Balkan States against the Ottomans. The Balkan war ended this plan, and the Czar saw that only in a general European war could his ambitions be won.

Negotiates With Poincare

"Negotiations were begun with President Poincare of France, a hot jingoist for a war to regain Alsace-Lorraine, and plans were laid for a sweeping continental war. Poincare's correspondence of this period shows this. Austria had aims in the Balkans, and as these conflicted with Russian plans, and irritated Serbia, the Balkans were the logical seat for war.

Where the Guilt Lies

"So the Russian designs on Turkey were the spring of all the dissession, and the events leading up to the war were all of her engineering. The guilt is Russia's and France's and Serbia's." Professor Barnes has published a book on "The Genesis of the World War," a brief review of which was presented in one of Ka Leo's editorials on October 30, 1926. His conclusions are startling to the average American, but it is significant that no historian or statesman of any repute has been able to refute the arguments presented by the fearless Professor Barnes.

TOWERS ENTERTAIN AT CHRISTMAS BREAKFAST

A bit of the old South mingled with the holiday spirit on Christmas morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Burt A. Tower when they entertained the unmarried men of the university faculty at an old-fashioned southern breakfast, given at 11 o'clock Christmas morning.

A huge wreath of holly placed in a silver tray surrounded by tall white tapers in silver candle holders formed the center piece for the table. The place cards were red Christmas cards with appropriate greetings.

Each guest was presented with a tiny Japanese nut which contained his fortune, and which, when placed in water, blossomed into lovely flowers.

Breakfast was served in red china embossed in silver. The first course was baked red apples. Red sweet potatoes were served with the chicken and gravy, and red cherry guava jelly was served with the hot biscuits and coffee.

The guests were Osborne E. Hooley, Prof. Earl M. Bilger, Prof. Charles H. Neil and Cecil G. Tilton. Miss Christine Doty was also a guest of the Towers at the Christmas breakfast.

Now baby sister, don't you cry,
You'll be wearing short dresses by and by.

The guards grimly went about their task of affixing the electrodes to the body of the doomed man in the chair. The kindly chaplain bent over him.

"Any last request, my poor mortal?" he inquired.

Yes, Parson," the wretch replied. "It'll comfort me a lot if you'll hold my —Life.

PROF. DEAN ACCEPTS POSITION AS CHIEF OF HAWAII COLLEGE

Comes Here With High Recommendations; Had A Sound Scientific Training

In the Honolulu Advertiser of December 23, 1913, the following interesting account of Dr. Dean's coming to this university, then the College of Hawaii, is told:

"A cablegram from John R. Galt to Judge H. B. Cooper was received by the latter yesterday, announcing the acceptance by Dr. Arthur L. Dean of the presidency of the College of Hawaii. The acceptance is subject to his completing the present year at Yale.

"This is one of the results of Judge Cooper's canvass of eligibles. Doctor Dean was not a candidate for the position, it is said, but was brought to the attention of Judge Cooper while he was at Yale last November.

Graduates From Harvard

"Dr. Arthur Lyman Dean was graduated from Harvard University with the degree of B.A. in 1900, having paid particular attention to botany and chemistry. The following year he went to Sheffield Scientific School at Yale as a graduate student, especially to study physiological chemistry under Dr. Russell H. Chittendon, director of the school.

"He spent two graduate years at Yale, working along lines of biology, botany, physiology and physiological chemistry, taking his degree as Ph.D. in 1902. He was immediately appointed assistant in plant physiology in Sheffield Scientific School.

Becomes Instructor

"The following year he was advanced to the position of instructor, which position he held for two years. The following two years he worked in the department of agriculture, especially in connection with the preservation of timber and other problems for which he was particularly well adapted. In 1909 he was appointed as assistant professor of industrial chemistry for a period of five years, the appointment expiring next year, when he will come to Hawaii.

Praised By Chittendon

"Doctor Chittendon, in speaking of Doctor Dean, says: 'Dean is a man of great intellectual power; a man of well-recognized scholarship ability; a member of Sigma XL, president of Sigma XL for a year or two, and generally recognized as one of our very brightest young men. He is a man of good presence; a fine speaker; clear ideas, and high ideals. If this praise seems a little extravagant, I can only say that I believe it is thoroughly justified. He is a married man and has two small children. He is a man possessed of good business sense and will, I am sure, make a good executive.'

(Grandmother:—Johnny, I wouldn't slide down those stairs.

Little Boy:—Wouldn't? Heck, you couldn't!

MARGUERITE LOUIS GIVES ARTIST COSTUME DANCE

A "Bohemian" costume dance was held at the home of Miss Marguerite Louis, at Kahala beach, on Thursday evening, December 30, with over 40 young men and women, mostly university students, present.

Miss Mary Elizabeth Corneilson in a Russian costume, Mrs. Evelyn Livingston as Peter Pan, Miss Nancy Hall and Charles Johnson as Eve and Adam received prizes for the best costumes. The prizes were etchings of Hawaiian scenes by Miss Leonie Schwallie.

The house was decorated with exotic designs, mostly life-size, made by Miss Mary Elizabeth Corneilson, Miss Marguerite Louis and Jack Love.

The guest of honor for the evening was Miss Rosalind Louis, who is a Pi Beta Phi at the University of California, and who returned to the islands for the Christmas vacation.

The hostess, dressed in a Japanese kimono, met her guests at the door. Following the dance, supper was served at midnight.
