

Strong University Eleven Wins from McKinley Alumni

First Half of Debate Series Closes Today

Contests at Convocation, Noon Hours Today End First Round Competition

Two debate contests today, one between the freshman A and the junior B teams and the other between the senior A and the freshmen B squads, close the first round of the ASUH inter-class debate series.

Kenneth Lau and Robert Jarrett of the freshman A will meet Arthur Schulze and Frank Hustace of the junior B in Hawaii hall room 22, at 9:30 a. m., while Curtis Heen and Tokui Kubota of the senior A will encounter Lawrence Gremett and Clara Kim of the freshmen B in room 112, Hawaii hall, at 12:40 p. m.

The question for debate is "Resolved, that the economic boycott should be adopted as an instrument to maintain world peace."

Juniors, Seniors Tied
With the completion of today's debates, all "A" teams, having spoken on the affirmative, will debate on the negative in the second round encounters, and all "B," or negative teams, will uphold the affirmative.

With four wins and one loss in competition to date, the juniors and seniors are tied for first honors in the debate series. The sophomores have a record of two wins and four losses, while the freshmen have lost all of their six debates.

The senior and junior squads kept abreast in wins yesterday, each defeating a sophomore squad. Edward Berman and Harry Mau, senior B pair, defeated Robert North and Othello Esposito, sophomore A team. Also, Fred Neal and Clarence Chang, the junior A duo, defeated Edward Hustace and Robert Taira, sophomore B pair.

In one of two debates held on Tuesday afternoon, the senior B team of Harry Mau and Edward Berman defeated Kenneth Lau and Robert Jarrett, comprising the freshman A squad. Clarence Chang and Fred Neal, the junior A pair, beat Clara Kim and Lawrence Gremett, freshman B team.

Two Debates Monday
On Monday, two of the leading teams in the competition clashed, with the junior B team winning over the sophomore A squad. Frank Hustace and Arthur Schulze comprise the junior squad, and Robert North and Othello Esposito, the sophomore team. Also on Monday, the senior A team of Curtis Heen and Tokui Kubota vanquished the sophomore B squad of Edward Hustace and Robert Taira.

In last Thursday's debates, the sophomores won two sets and the juniors and seniors, one each. The freshmen lost both their debates. The results were that sophomore B defeated freshmen A, sophomore A vanquished freshmen B, senior B beat junior A, and junior B defeated senior A.

Judges were Dr. Laura V. Schwartz, Mrs. Muriel J. Bergstrom, Prof. N. B. Beck, Prof. John W. Coulter, Prof. L. A. Henke, Prof. H. J. Hoflich, Mr. E. A. Hoy, and Mr. George J. Peavey.

Next Rotcy Test Of Training Set

Manual of arms will be the next training test for the ROTC cadets. This competition will be held during the first week of November, according to Captain D. M. Bartow, professor of military science and tactics of the University regiment.

Results of the inter-company competition for September and October give Headquarters company, a sophomore company commanded by Adolph Mendonca, first place with a percentage of 95.53. The remaining companies in the order of their rating are: Co. "G," Co. "H," Co. "K," Co. "F," Co. "L," Howitzer company, and Co. "M."

Junior Class Dues Deadline on Nov. 3

Members of the junior class who do not pay their $1.00 class fee by Nov. 3 will be assessed 25 cents extra when they get their bid to the Junior Prom. This is the announcement of Frank Hustace, class treasurer.

Those juniors who have not paid their class dues are asked to see Hustace, or watch the columns of Ka Leo for an announcement as to where to pay class dues.

Chinese Frat Will Sponsor Next Oratory

As part of the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the beginning of relations between China and the United States, Peng Hui, campus Chinese fraternity, will sponsor an oratorical contest on the general topic, "Relations between the United States and China."

Contestants may discuss any phase of the past relationships between China and the United States.

Finals in the University contest will be held on Nov. 16. Preliminary to the main speaking contest, contestants will be required to hand in typed manuscripts on 8 1/2 by 11 inch paper, and names are not to appear on the manuscripts. The manuscripts should be given to Sun Leong, chairman of the fraternity's oratory committee, before noon of Nov. 3.

Six finalists to deliver orations will be chosen from among those handing in typed copies of their orations. The winners of the first, second, and third places in the competition will be awarded silver cups.

Dai Ho Chun, public speaking teacher at Central intermediate school, is the fraternity's oratory adviser.

'Buster' McGuire To Speak Friday At House Banquet

Walter "Buster" McGuire, of football fame, will speak at Atherton House tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. to Atherton house association members at their monthly luncheon. His topic will be "Professional Football versus Amateur Football."

McGuire is a graduate of Punahou academy and the University of Wisconsin. He starred in football in both of these institutions, and is well known locally.

Reservations for the luncheon will be limited to the first 30 who sign up by Thursday. Freshman members of the Association are not invited because they had their luncheon on Wednesday, October 3.

Francis Ching, chairman of the luncheon, will have a musical program to offer as well as the talk from McGuire.

Collegiate Press Plans Poll to Name All-American Football '11'

For the first time in the history of All-American football teams, the students of the University of Hawaii and other institutions in which Collegiate Digest is distributed, will have the opportunity of voting for their favorites and selecting an All-American team of their own, according to an announcement made in the first 1934-'35 issue of Collegiate Digest, nation rotogravure section for undergraduate newspapers.

A coupon, to be found on page 3 of each issue of Collegiate Digest, has been provided for the convenience of those wishing to cast a vote for their favorite players. This coupon may be filled out and mailed or brought in to Ka Leo's office where arrangements have been made to handle the large volume of voting that is expected from the University of Hawaii.

Frosh to Pick Class Officers In Vote Today

Election to Be Held According To the Territorial Polling Rules

To give practical experience to student voters, the freshman class election today will be conducted similar to a territorial election at booths erected at the entrance of Hawaii hall. Dean William H. George, class adviser, has urged that each freshman cast his vote.

Candidates nominated are Edison Tan, Donald Rietow, and Kenneth Lau, for president; Lucia White and Benjamin Hollinger, vice-president; Ellen Bairos and Esther Au, secretary; Frederick Tan, Robert Jarrett, and Koon Wah Lee, treasurer. Of the ten candidates running for office, two were put up by petition, Kenneth Lau for president, and Koon Wah Lee for treasurer.

Balloting is in charge of Ellen Bairos, assisted by the following students, who will check student names, hand out ballots, and watch the ballot box: Alice Kea, Arthur Chun, Murray Holt, Robert Stevenson, Arthur Smith, Ben Marx, Will Wilder, Florence Wilder, Peggy Donald, Elsie Wong, Marguerite Williams, Wai Chee Chun, Carol Cristy, Edith Cameron, Sylvianne Li, Masako Tateishi, Iwao Mizuta, Robert Newcomb, Elizabeth Wong, Jane Etergeon, Eleanor Soong, Ben Balingit, Ellen Chang, Kathleen Gowen, Fred Cooke, Willard Riddick, Violet To-ugg, Thelma Henderson, and Eben Swift.

Holds Musical Assembly
The freshman class held its first musical assembly last Thursday in Farrington hall. Sonny Adams of the Hazel Hale studio tap danced "Sidewalk of New York" and "Military Tap." Featured in the program was Lena Machado, Hawaii's songbird, who sang "The Wind From Over The Sea," "Keo Kaha," "Sleep, Baby Sleep," and "Malahini Mele." Uzia Berman of the Roosevelt theater played two pianoforte classics. The assembly joined him in song on his medley numbers played on the accordion.

Edison Tan, in presiding, revealed that the freshman class will undertake various projects throughout the year to raise $500 with which to equip the band with uniforms. Among these will be included a candy sale and a Christmas card sale, luncheons, banquets, and dances.

Dr. Leavitt Speaker For Coming Service

Starting on November 7, a religious program will be held on the first Wednesday of each month in Farrington hall.

Dr. Horace H. Leavitt of the Central Union church will have charge of the first meeting. Good music, selective readings, and a short message will be included in the service.

Under the rules of the contest, each individual may submit one complete team as his or her selection for the Collegiate Digest All-American football team. Then, if spectacular playing by some individual or team changes the voter's mind he is free to submit a second choice team as candidates for the honor. Vote each week so as to be sure your candidate wins. The only restriction in balloting has been placed in the fact that each undergraduate is allowed no more than one full team each week. At the end of the contest, the closing date of which will be announced later, Collegiate Digest, representing the undergraduate bodies and newspapers of the United States, will present each member of the student's own All-American with gold medals significant of the honor which has been bestowed upon them.

Play Director

Prof. Arthur E. Wyman, director of the Theatre Guild, who is supervising the staging of "Yellow Jack," first Guild play of the current season.

Theatre Guild Play Practice In Full Swing

The rehearsal schedule for "Yellow Jack," Caucasian play of the University of Hawaii Theatre Guild in the 1934-35 season, is in full swing, with the cast working daily in Farrington hall under the direction of Prof. Arthur E. Wyman.

The production is unusual because it has only one feminine role, and because of the great number of light cues that will be necessary to conduct the play without changes of scenery. "Yellow Jack" will have more than 60 light cues, whereas the average stage production has less than 10.

The play will be given on four nights, Nov. 7-10, in Farrington hall. Students will be admitted upon presentation of their ASUH dues books. Committees are working on the technical details of the play. Belden Lyman, president of the Theatre Guild council, heads the lighting committee; Margaret Isenberg, properties; and Margene Musser, costumes. A special group of electricians is also working with the lights.

'Code of Ethics' To Guide Texas Faculty Members

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
AUSTIN, Tex. — Approval has been given by the University of Texas board of regents for a "code of ethics" which will govern the relations of faculty members of that institution with members of the Texas legislature and with other state officials and authorities.

This "code" stipulates, that no employee of the university shall, without the knowledge and approval of the president, who, with the board of regents, is the only channel through which recommendations concerning the administration of the institution should reach state authorities, initiate or promote any legislation affecting the university or its various departments.

The code specifically bans the promotion by any individual employee of any recommendation "concerning his personal advancement, the advancement of his department, or the advancement of any other individual or department," and states that an employee of the university who by invitation of a member of the legislature or a state official is called upon to discuss policies affecting the university in any way is "under obligations of honor to inform the president of the nature of such discussions."

Inter-College Debates Start After Oct. 20

Competition Open to All Bona Fide Regular Students In the University

Plans for the annual series of inter-college debates, released yesterday by Prof. N. B. Beck, adviser of debate and forensics, indicate that the competition in the three colleges will start shortly after October 20.

The question for discussion in the debates is the 1934 national Phi Kappa Delta topic, "Resolved: that the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions."

Any bona fide regular undergraduate student is eligible to try out for the team of the college in which he is registered. At the inter-college trials, three debaters will be chosen to represent each of the three major divisions within the University. Separate trials will be held in the college of arts and sciences, college of applied science, and teachers college.

4-Minute Speech in Trials
Each debater appearing in the trials must be prepared to speak four minutes on either the affirmative or negative side of the designated question. Material on the debate subject is now on reserve at the University library loan desk.

The inter-college debates will constitute the second step in the selection of the varsity debate squad for 1934-35, the first step being the inter-class debates now in progress.

All students intending to enter the trials for the inter-college debates should inform Prof. Beck, room 101, Hawaii hall, of their intention by Oct. 18.

Illinois Prof Has New '7 Wonders'

(By Associated Collegiate Press)
URBANA, ILLINOIS. — A new "seven wonders of the world" was listed at the University of Illinois by Prof. A. W. Nolan when he announced what he considered to be the outstanding wonders of the universe.

He included in his list the discovery of the solar system; law of moving bodies; law of electricity; law of electrical radiation; law of electrical structure of the universe; law of steam engine; and the law of life.

Junior ROTC Frosh Exams Start Friday

Freshmen with three years experience in a junior ROTC will be examined tomorrow and Monday. Explanations on the basic military training will be required of these men. The highest ranking among these will be chosen to be corporals of the freshmen companies.

Japan's Manchurian Policy Is Great Colonial Project---Lory

Expressing the belief that Japan will never swerve from her Manchurian policy, no matter what the odds, Prof. Hillis Lory, formerly of Stanford university, spoke to the freshmen political science group on October 3 in Farrington hall on the topic, "Manchukuo." Prof. Lory recently attended the student conference in Japan and was on his way to the Oakland Forum, Oakland, and the Beloit college, Wisconsin, to lecture on the government of the Far East.

That Japan's activities in Manchuria constitute one of the most tremendous colonial projects of history, a colonization much greater than the combined attempts of England, France, or Spain in America three centuries ago, was revealed by the lecturer.

"When going through Manchukuo, I thought that I was going through a rich Mississippi valley, until I saw the Chinese peasants

Motorcycle Drivers Asked to Be Quiet

Oct. 8, 1934.
Students with motorcycles are reminded that they must not park near Gartley or Dean halls, as the noise of starting is a nuisance to nearby classes. If reasonable co-operation cannot be had, motorcycles may have to be kept off the campus entirely.

200 Students Participate in Rally Parade

More than two hundred students and fifty cars took part in the first pep parade of the year held yesterday afternoon.

Led by the University band, the noisy procession of cars, decorated with green and white streamers, started from the campus cafeteria and circled the down-town area, the McKinley high school grounds, and returned to the campus.

Cow-bells, tin cans, rattlers, and pans supplied the necessary glamour of the parade. A float entered jointly by the Aggie club and the F.F.A. won the pennant given by the ASUH for the best stunt in the parade. The float hung in effigy a McKinley alumni football player. The parade was directed by the pep and rally committee, headed by Raymond Tan.

Atherton Ass'n Releases Plans For Next Month

At a recent meeting of the Charles Atherton house association cabinet, a list of events for October and the first part of November were arranged.

Following the noon luncheon tomorrow, a Caucasian freshman tea-dance will be held. This is one of a series of racial teas being held by the association. Bill Hobbs has been named chairman for the afternoon. A Japanese freshman tea-dance will be held on October 17, 4:00-5:30 p. m. Major Manago is chairman.

ROTC Sponsors Meet Wednesday

New honorary battalion and company sponsors of the University of Hawaii ROTC regiment held their first meeting of the year yesterday noon in Hawaii hall.

A new type of uniform for the sponsors was suggested, but no decisive plans were made.

The first review at which the sponsors will be presented is to be held early in November.

Frosh, Sophs Star for U.H. In First Game

Espinda, Morse in Scoring; Kaulukukui, Aki Also Shine for Deans

Totally outclassing Coach John Traut's McKinley Alumni team, Coach Otto Klum's 1934 University of Hawaii varsity football team flashed championship form to emerge victorious by a 13-0 score in the third Hawaii senior league game at the Honolulu Stadium last night. A crowd of 8,000 fans witnessed the contest.

Alfred Espinda, substitute end, went over the goal for the first score of the evening, after receiving a 23-yard pass from Furtado. Piltz failed to convert. The second touchdown came when Tony Morse, halfback, plunged through center from the Micks' two-yard stripe. Tommy Kaulukukui converted with a placement.

The shining light of the encounter was the untiring work of Kaulukukui who consistently ripped through the Mick line for big gains. His brilliant returns of punts were the big features of the game. He also shot through the McKinley defense like a whirlwind to make easy 10-yard punt returns on most of his runs.

Lots of Punting
The first quarter developed into a punting "game," with Captain Jack Johnson of the Deans having the advantage over Nagata. There were no scoring threats in this period, and most of the plays were executed in midfield.

However, with the resumption of play in the second chapter, the Deans started their drive, which finally culminated in the first score of the night. Furtado passed 12 yards to John Murray, who placed the pigskin on the Micks' 37-yard line. After a couple of line plays and passes had failed, Furtado again hurled the oval, this time to Espinda for eight yards.

The Rainbows threatened again in the same quarter after the Micks, who recovered Johnson's fumble on their own 26-yard mark, had punted out of danger. A pass, Furtado to Piltz, earned 10 yards and a first down. In the next play, Furtado heaved the ball to Espinda for the Deans' first score.

Second Touchdown
After a short exchange of punts in the fourth quarter, Joy booted the ball 27 yards to Kaulukukui. Aki, on a spinner, travelled nine yards. On the next play, Kaulukukui passed 18 yards to Aki, who added five more, placing the pigskin on the Micks' four-yard mark. Kaulukukui added two yards off left tackle. Morse then hit center for the second touchdown.

The Deans had the edge over the Micks in every department of the game. The first downs favored the Rainbows, 7 to 3. However, there were more penalties against the Rainbows.

Conspicuous on the University line were George Zane and Augustine Ahuna, guards; Henry Kusunoki, center; and Al Mendonca and George Clark, tackles.

Kent Considered For Justice Job

A recent communication from the office of J. Edgar Hoover, director of the division of investigation of the United States department of justice, to Col. Adna G. Clarke of the University faculty indicates that Edward F. Kent, graduate in the class of 1934, will be considered for a position in the justice department.

While attending the University, Kent was an honor student, and upon graduation was named the honor graduate of the ROTC regiment. For these reasons, Col. Clarke recommended him to Washington.

The letter stated that Kent would be given a personal interview, and in the occurrence of any vacancies which he might fill, he would be given consideration.

Ignorance and Arson

"BURN, Rome, burn . . ." cried Nero as he sprawled on his throne and played his fiddle while leaping flames spread over the illustrious city of Rome. Nero, the Roman emperor, will always be remembered as the man who burned his city to satisfy his delight in seeing flames dance in the air and hearing the crackling sound of burning timber.

On Tuesday night, some practical jokesters showed off their "smartness" when they came up to the University grounds and set off the junior class bonfire an hour or so before the pep rally. The guilty ones, however, played the "disappearing act" instead of the fiddle after they committed the underhanded crime.

Because of the commission of this felony, the rally turned out to be a disappointment and many people were deprived of the fun that they had expected. Not only did it arouse the wrath of the officials of the fire department who had so kindly given us permission to stage the bonfire, but it "burnt out" the enthusiasm and spirit of those who attended the rally. Members of the junior class who had spent days of hard work in preparation for the bonfire were severely handicapped when they found their efforts and energy destroyed by certain persons who had no respect for the rights and enjoyment of others.

The identities of the "smart alecks" have not yet been revealed, but when the time comes, we advocate that they be dealt with severely.

Remember what happened to Nero!—R. T.

A California Alumni Rooting Section

INTERCOLLEGIATE football, with the accompanying "color" provided by well organized rooting sections, will be afforded to Honolulu football fans on New Year's Day, 1935, if the University of California alumni in the Islands will organize a cheering section to support the Golden Bears from Berkeley.

The organization of a large California alumni section to be present at the game between the University of Hawaii and the University of California can quite easily be accomplished, for there are many Berkeley alumni in the Islands, and it is expected that the majority of them will be present at the New Year's Day game.

The introduction of a second collegiate rooting section to provide competition for the Rainbow rooters would be an answer to those who claim their lack of interest in the University of Hawaii football games grows out of the fact that we have no intercollegiate competition in the rooting stands.

The University of California alumni in the Islands will help their team and add to the attractiveness of the game if they get together in a special section for the "big game."

How about it, California alumni?—W. B. S.

Inter-Island Air Mail Service

AIR MAIL for Hawaii at last! The Islands have long wanted air mail service and our influential citizens have worked hard in securing the service for Hawaii. We are indeed happy and eager to make use of this latest and faster means of communication among the Islands.

Inaugural services for Island air mail were heard Monday by the nation over a national radio hook-up. Postmaster-General James A. Farley spoke from the Mainland, Governor

Joseph B. Poindexter and Postmaster Charles F. Chillingworth spoke in Honolulu.

In securing air mail service Hawaii is getting something it well deserves. These same sentiments were expressed by the Postmaster-General when the contract was awarded the Inter-Island Airways, Ltd. The Inter-Island Airways, in its four years of operation, has demonstrated its efficiency to handle such work.

Instead of semi-weekly mail service between islands at three cents we now have daily service as well at six cents. This will be welcomed by many business concerns, as well as by many people living away from their homes on different islands.

Again, it shows that persistent efforts on the part of many men have reaped rewards. Mr. Stanley Kennedy, of the Inter-Island Airways, and Delegate L. L. McCandless are to be congratulated for their parts in securing inter-island air mail service.—K. J. B.

The Straight Ticket

VOTE the straight Democratic ticket! Vote the straight Republican ticket!

These cries, all too frequently heard in municipal elections, were not wholeheartedly answered by partisan voters in the primary election held last Saturday. For the four major municipal offices, two Republicans and one Democrat were elected outright, while one member of each party will vie for the fourth office in the general election next month.

During the primary campaign, several candidates for supervisory positions declared themselves as for or against the Jones-Costigan amendment to the Agricultural Adjustment Act. Granting that these candidates were elected, what part would they then have in actively carrying out or opposing the Jones-Costigan Act?

The national issues upon which Democrats and Republicans declare themselves do not apply to municipalities, nor do municipal officers have any hand in determining national policies on which the party platforms are based. What matter, then, if a candidate for municipal office favors high or low tariff, according to the policy of his party?

The time may come when political partisanship will be forgotten in municipal elections, but only then will the best men of a community be attracted to public office with the assurance that ability, not political affiliation, will determine who shall guide the municipalities.—W. B. S.

Famous misquotation (heard in the primary campaign): "I am for government of the people, by the people, and to the people."

VALUE OF THE EXCHANGE STUDENT PLAN

By WILLIAM RONEY

(The following article is an excerpt from a letter to a faculty member by last year's exchange student from Occidental college.—Ed.)

When I accepted the privilege of going to the University of Hawaii last year, I did so with the aim of gaining certain things for myself as well as contributing what I might to the University student life. I am glad to say that I realized all I hoped for, and much more in addition. What these values are that I gained during my year at Hawaii, I shall endeavor to express to the best of my ability, although there are certain subtle effects which that rich experience has had upon me the true nature and significance of which I could never hope to express in concrete words.

In the first place I had hoped to gain some real understanding of the many races and nationalities of Hawaii. This hope I have realized, and not only do I feel that I have gained an understanding of them, but that I have cultivated a deep interest in them and a warm affection for them as well. My association with the Oriental students at the University, and with those of all other racial groups, helped me much to cultivate an interest in and high respect for those not of my own race.

In the second place, my association with the students at the University has cultivated within me an increased love for human personalities, and a better understanding of students that shall be of great value to me in my intended life work.

Thirdly, my year has furnished me with first-hand knowledge of the Hawaiian Islands and made me to appreciate better their significance in relation to the entire Pacific area. Such first-hand acquaintance with the Islands will be of much value to me in future studies of the Pacific area which I hope to undertake.

Moreover, I feel that my academic work at the University was in itself of great significance to me, since it unrolled before me a new world of thought in the field of sociology, and as a consequence aided me at last to form a very definite objective for my life work and a course of action by which to attain my objective. No one other than myself can fully realize how much this alone means to me now, except those who have gone through the same experience of years of discouragement and floundering around that I have gone through before at last coming to a satisfying and sound decision as to what course I shall pursue in life.

Finally, my year's participation in student activities, and association with the University students, has given me a wealth of experience to draw from this next year in leading the activities of my own home college YMCA, and has in addition better qualified me for leadership in any area of human activity that may present itself to me.

Eastern Prof Said to Have Disease Cure

(By Associated Collegiate Press) PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—A Temple university scientist believes he has conquered infantile paralysis.

The man, who is ready to present a priceless vaccine to the world, is Dr. John A. Kolmer, widely-known pathologist and professor of medicine at the school of medicine of Temple university.

Dr. Kolmer told of long years of research that culminated when he injected his vaccine into himself and a young woman assistant to determine its efficacy. The woman, who, with him, literally took her life in her hands, is Miss Anna M. Rule. The vaccine, which may some day drive infantile paralysis into the limbo of smallpox, contains a small amount of devitalized virus.

Exhaustive experimentation with monkeys preceded the human test. In the case of the animals, the vaccine rendered them immune to the disease—but there was still a chance that a human being would contract the disease instead of being made immune to it.

A few months ago, Dr. Kolmer and Miss Rule inoculated themselves with the vaccine. Four times, at weekly intervals, it was injected. After six weeks there should have been set up in the blood stream sufficient resistance to create immunization. The next stage of the experiment then took place.

A quantity of blood was tapped from the arms of Dr. Kolmer and Miss Rule. The specimens were placed in test tubes, together with portions of active virus. That combination was injected into the brain of a monkey, and the monkey remained healthy.

The explanation is that the blood of the human subjects had set up anti-bodies that killed the active virus.

Therefore, as Dr. Kolmer patiently explained to a group of curious, questioning writers, by inoculating a child with the vaccine, should that child contact polio germs, the anti-bodies so set up in his system will prevent infection.

Dr. Kolmer believes his vaccine spells doom to infantile paralysis. When further experiment proves to the world that no harm can come from inoculation, he is confident that mothers will ask for vaccination of their children against infantile paralysis just as they do now against other contagious diseases. He believes one vaccination will prevent infantile paralysis for a lifetime.

Reason for Happiness

"One of the best reason for my happiness is Mr. Joseph Sefton, my very shrewd and remarkably intelligent husband. If you will allow me to become personal, I shall tell you a little story of a very unusual marriage."

I caught my breath sharply! Was this to be a "true confession?" Her candor increased my interest tremendously, but I was a little apprehensive.

"As you may realize, the life on the stage is a swift, tense business. It requires a good deal of freedom. I am working continually under pressure, rushing about from early morn to late evening. But it is my life; I love it and live it with a zest."

Love vs. Career

"It is because I was torn between the love for my career and the love for my husband, that his proposal of marriage was long considered. When I finally said 'yes,' I had already made a tearful resolution to leave my beloved stage and enter the strange new 'marriage career.'

"One evening, shortly after our honeymoon, my husband came home to find me despairingly trying to adjust my nerves to a quiet evening at home.

"Why, Minna, what are you doing at home? I thought you were rehearsing for your new play?"

"Quietly, I told him of my resolution to leave the stage. He laughed in evident glee. There was a strange twinkle in his eye, and he was like a mischievous boy contemplating some new prank. But, he said nothing more. I hardly knew what to think.

Enter, the Messenger

"Apprehensively, I went to the studio for my rehearsal. Entering into my new role, I soon put the entire business out of my head. During the middle of the rehearsal, a messenger appeared and handed me a legal envelope marked 'Urgent.'

"A little fearful of its possible

Noted Character Actress Tells Of Unique 'Marriage Contract'

By Robert Brilliande

"The possessive instinct of the male is responsible for most of the unhappiness and divorce in our American marriages."

I listened, breathless with interest. Minna Gombell, fine character actress of Broadway stage and Hollywood screen, snapped those words across a luncheon table at the Royal Hawaiian hotel.

Her firm round chin was set with confidence. Her bright blue eyes sparkled with assurance. A little flush of interest pinked the lovely white texture of her complexion lending a perfect contrast to her Teutonic blondness. Her whole body seemed tensed in her sincere conviction.

"I am not speaking from a pulpit," she continued, "I speak from experience. I have thought this whole marriage scheme through and I am applying my conclusions directly in my own married life, and with happy results."

Reason for Happiness

"One of the best reason for my happiness is Mr. Joseph Sefton, my very shrewd and remarkably intelligent husband. If you will allow me to become personal, I shall tell you a little story of a very unusual marriage."

I caught my breath sharply! Was this to be a "true confession?" Her candor increased my interest tremendously, but I was a little apprehensive.

"As you may realize, the life on the stage is a swift, tense business. It requires a good deal of freedom. I am working continually under pressure, rushing about from early morn to late evening. But it is my life; I love it and live it with a zest."

Love vs. Career

"It is because I was torn between the love for my career and the love for my husband, that his proposal of marriage was long considered. When I finally said 'yes,' I had already made a tearful resolution to leave my beloved stage and enter the strange new 'marriage career.'

"One evening, shortly after our honeymoon, my husband came home to find me despairingly trying to adjust my nerves to a quiet evening at home.

"Why, Minna, what are you doing at home? I thought you were rehearsing for your new play?"

"Quietly, I told him of my resolution to leave the stage. He laughed in evident glee. There was a strange twinkle in his eye, and he was like a mischievous boy contemplating some new prank. But, he said nothing more. I hardly knew what to think.

Enter, the Messenger

"Apprehensively, I went to the studio for my rehearsal. Entering into my new role, I soon put the entire business out of my head. During the middle of the rehearsal, a messenger appeared and handed me a legal envelope marked 'Urgent.'

import, I tore it open. Reading it, my little fears fled; I laughed until the tears rolled. The document was a contract, duly signed by my husband and witnessed to. Briefly it said that I was to be allowed full freedom to pursue my career, that I was to feel free to go where and with whom I pleased. And—no questions asked.

"The next morning at breakfast, my husband was laughing over a duplicate contract which I had signed. And, strange as it may seem, our marriage has been a complete success, for my husband's psychology was perfect. There could be no better assurance against any desire for clandestine relations. He had taken all the mystery and romance out of it. But, his sporting 'beau geste' had only increased the possibilities for our future happiness."

Many Schools Have Classes In NRA Study

(By Associated Collegiate Press) WASHINGTON, D. C.—A recognition by many of the nation's institutions of higher learning of the interest their student bodies are displaying in the president's recovery program, including NRA, is shown by the tendency of colleges and universities to install courses on NRA, code administration, and other parts of the recovery program in their regular curricula this fall.

A larger enrollment in economics and sociology courses than at any time in history is being recorded by many colleges and universities, according to word reaching the office of education of the Interior department.

While full details of the number of college courses on NRA are lacking, a typical example is a class on industrial organization to be offered at the University of California, dealing with NRA. Another is a course in the business administration school of Barnard college on the conduct of business under NRA. A phase of a public administration course at Princeton will deal at length with NRA, executive orders, and codes.

During the past summer the school of public affairs at American university, Washington, devoted part of its session to a study of NRA. Western Reserve university, Cleveland, conducted a course on current problems in labor and industry. Columbia university summer school held sessions on "Economics of Recovery Administration." The University of the South Eewanee, Tenn., in a two weeks "round table," devoted some of its work to a discussion on NRA.

Graduate students at Columbia university teachers college studied the educational possibilities of local NRA organizations using the Mount Vernon, N. Y., NRA organization as an example.

Collegiate Press Stages Contest For Its Readers

The ambitious reader of Ka Leo and Collegiate Digest, the weekly rotogravure section, will have an opportunity to compete in two "contests" throughout the school year—and in addition to make himself some real money.

Whether you go in for photography or crossword puzzles, you will have a chance to earn some real fame and some large monetary rewards for your work. Collegiate Digest will pay $1 for all photographs accepted for publication—and it makes no difference what size camera you have, just so the pictures are clear.

Cross-word puzzles have continued to be leading features since the craze first started a number of years ago. To satisfy this demand of college students, Collegiate Digest will pay $10 for all original cross-word puzzles done by students or faculty members, and which have a college angle to them.

All entries in these various contests should be sent to the Editor, Collegiate Digest, Box 472, Madison, Wisconsin.

Glenn Cunningham to Coach Track at U. C.

(By Associated Collegiate Press) BERKELEY, Calif.—Glenn Cunningham, famed University of Kansas miler, will enter the University of California this fall, where he will assist Brutus Hamilton, California track and field coach. Cunningham will serve without pay so as to preserve his amateur athletic standing. This fact is generally considered an indication that he will try for a place on the American Olympic team in 1936.

At the present time, Cunningham is appearing in the Orient with an all-star American track and field team.

The party featured an hour of Hawaiian entertainment, which was arranged by a committee composed of Anita Kong, Amy Richardson, Lynette Amoy, Joe Crowell, Arthur Chun, Harry Fernandez, and David Wong. Morris Singer and Fred Neal, exchange students, handled the decorating of the house.

Francis Wai was chairman for the evening, while John Milne, Vincent Van Brocklin, and Prof. Lloyd Killam received the guests.

Numbers on the program at the party included hulas by the Betty Lei and Hawaiian Village troupes, singing by the Hui Iwi glee club, and entertainment by Joe Bishaw's serenaders. Sam Alama's eight-piece band furnished music for the dancing which followed the program.

The other dates fall on each Friday of this month and the first Friday in November.

The University of Hawaii, Hui Makani, 40-and-8, Palama, YMCA, Outrigger Canoe Club, and Hui Malu are the other entries.

Five University swimmers qualified in four events of the AAU meet trials held Tuesday night at the natatorium. Chollar was among the qualifiers in the 200-meter freestyle for novice men.

Awards and trophies will be given to the individual and team winners. A trophy will be presented to the team with the highest number of points in the Hawaiian championship swims for men. Another award will go to the team scoring highest in the junior and novice events for men. Besides these, individual awards may be made, depending on the gate receipts.

TALKING IT UP

with Kats

Golf—yes, there is much talk about it on the campus right now! Hideo "Baron" Kurokawa has intimated to me that he has plans to stage an all-University tournament, whereby faculty members and students will be invited to participate in the competition.

A handsome silver trophy, donated by Kurokawa, will be awarded the winner. In order to renew the tournament yearly, Kurokawa plans to make this trophy a two-year one—meaning, of course, a person must win two tournament titles before he can call the award his own.

"Also, there will be many worthwhile prizes offered to the second, and third place winner," added the "Baron."

The tournament will be held during December, if the present plans materialize. In the meantime, all those interested are asked to see either Kurokawa, John Kuon, or the writer.

The last all-University golf tournament was held some five years ago when "Pump" Searle offered a trophy.

"Fanny" King, my chief last year and an exchange student to U.S.C. now, writes to Bill Stephenson that we in Honolulu had better keep our eyes open for the Trojan football squad. Regarding the Trojans' close 6-0 victory over College of the Pacific, Fanny states that the U.S.C. team is out for the Pacific Coast conference gonfalon.

But, from here in Honolulu, it doesn't seem that way. Why, only last week the Trojmen "took it on the chin" at the hands of heretofore unheralded Washington State eleven. The score? Well, even Fanny, who, in our estimation, is a poor prognosticator, will have to admit that it was 19 to 0. Anyway, thanks for the warning, Fanny!

Art Chun Chosen on All-Star Ball Team

Arthur Chun, who attended Pomona college as an exchange student last year, was chosen first-string third baseman on a mythical all-Southern California conference team picked at the end of the 1934 season by newspaper scribes. Chun batted at a heavy rate, hitting .343 for the Sagehens.

Women May Vie For Net Honors In New Tourney

Women tennis players may have a chance to play in the all-territorial invitational tennis tournament to be sponsored by the ASUH on the University courts sometime during November. However, the plans for the women contests are not fully completed as yet.

In this tournament, all the leading tennis clubs which have good standing with the Hawaiian Tennis association may enter three singles players and two doubles teams. The University will supply the trophies for the winners and the balls for all tournament games. After the entries are determined, the tournament will be so arranged that the whole tourney will be run off in three or four days.

Women's Athletic Sked Announced

Plans for the women's inter-class sports for the coming year, as announced by Rachel Howland, AWS athletic chairman, call for competition in five sports. The AWS wahines will participate in swimming, volleyball, basketball, indoor baseball, and tennis.

Inter-class swimming meets, which will be held in the campus tank on Oct. 23 and 31, mark the first competition on the AWS sport program. Class swimming captains are Catherine Duncan, senior; Moana Peterson, junior; Genie Pitchford, sophomore; and Reaka Franson, freshman.

Campus Grid Season Opens October 22nd

On October 22 the University campus barefoot football league will launch its fourth annual campaign on Cooke field.

Unlike the campaigns of the previous three years, this year's play will be segregated into two divisions. The former 145-pound loop will be embodied in the 150-pound division, and in addition there will be a 130-pound division.

Inasmuch as there is an entirely revised set of plans for conducting campus sport activities, the football loop may witness an array of new teams making their debuts.

The new system calls for a unit in all campus athletics, whereby teams entering each sport league will receive points, according to its final standings, and the team that accumulates the most points during the entire season will receive a handsome award from the ASUH. However, the custom of giving the champions a chop suey fete will be retained.

Many New Teams

The Na Aliis, two-time champions, Locker Room, Ruff Kids, Atherton House, and Engineers, which teams finished last year's intramural football season in the order named, are likely to play again in the current league season. Furthermore, an open invitation is given to all men's clubs on the campus to join the football circuit. Those clubs under consideration are Commerce, YMCA, Phi Delta Sigma, Hui Lokahi, and Hakuba Kai.

If present plans materialize, there will be two rounds in both divisions, with games being played every afternoon. Clubs may enter teams in both divisions, or in only one.

Lists of players and their weights should be handed in to "Pump" Searle during the convocation hour today, at which time the team coaches and captains will meet to thrash out the final plans.

Ruff Kid Eleven Organizes Today On Cooke Field

All players interested in playing campus barefoot football for the Ruff Kids are requested to report at Cooke field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Ruffians are enthusiastic as ever this year. Eddie Mitsukado, hustling tackle of Francis King's last year squad, will handle the team this season. He has reported that more than 17 players have shown intention to play for the Kids.

Many Matmen Greet Coach Choy Monday

Wrestling hopes soared to the highest again this year, when Coach Pedro Choy and a crop of promising newcomers answered "Pump" Searle's call at the first meeting held Monday afternoon at the University gym. This marks the third consecutive year of wrestling at the Dean institution.

After a few introductory remarks by Searle, Coach Choy immediately indicated that he meant business by stripping to trunks and demonstrating a few holds. Also, it was indicated that all tournaments will be held in the University gym this year. Bleachers will be installed for the occasions.

Good Material on Hand

Those back in the fold are Captain Ahuna, Akita, Zane, Wildrick, Onaga, Maneki, Clark, and DePonte, who was a member of the barnstorming party to Japan. The serious losses are in the two champions, ex-Captain Kanemaru, who after returning from the trip to Japan, went to U. S. C., and Oka, who also went to the Mainland to study. Former wrestler-manager Kobatake, Matsumoto, and Quon were lost through graduation last June.

Of the newcomers, Richard Noda, back from the Japan trip, looks best. Although Ahuna, Zane, DePonte, Clark, and a few others are busy playing football, they are expected to be ready by the time of the tournament in January.

Kam Alumni Play Cards in Next Skirmish

Warriors Heavy Favorites to Topple Former 'Greats' Of Saint Louis

The Kamehameha Alumni Warriors, two-time Hawaii league champions, will stack up against the St. Louis college graduates next Wednesday night at the Stadium in the fourth game of the local senior football conference.

Even at this early writing, the Kamalums are given a huge margin over the Cardalums. The reason advanced is that the Cards have no punter who is capable of kicking a consistent 30 yards in the game. On the other hand, the Kams have a booter of note in John Kerr, who does in the neighborhood of 35 yards or better at every trial.

The addition of Francis Aiwohi, erstwhile Rainbow star, has injected new life and power into the Kam backfield, besides aiding the already well-functioning aerial attack.
