The Center for South Asian Studies

The Center for South Asian Studies initiates and supports outreach activities in the university as well as the wider community. It provides opportunities for intensive study of past and present societies of South Asia, supports courses, and promotes faculty interaction across academic departments to foster interdisciplinary research in the region. This area includes contemporary Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, the Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, and Tibet.

The Center for South Asian Studies' objective is to be coordinative and integrative by juxtaposing humanistic with scientific scholarship, and historical with contemporary data. In this way the center serves to illuminate specific questions of regional interest and can complement and bridge the disciplinary departments directly related to it.

FOREWORD

South Asia has been an intellectual focus at the University of Hawaii for over fifty years. This began with the Oriental Institute in 1935, a series of East-West Philosophers' Conferences after 1939, and the journal Philosophy East and West in 1951. The Center for South Asian Studies, formally created in 1987, now provides a rich environment for study of the diverse region that includes Afghanistan, Bangladesh, Bhutan, India, the Maldives, Nepal, Pakistan, Sri Lanka, and Tibet. Over 30 faculty members offer courses in 17 departments that span the Colleges of Arts and Sciences and professional schools.

The objectives of the Center are to provide courses and supervised opportunities for intensive study of South Asian societies and cultures, to present occasions for interaction among faculty and students, and to foster comparative and interdisciplinary research on the region. A wide range of activities and programs are sponsored, including regular colloquia and cultural events in the visual and performing arts. The Center's annual Spring Symposium provides a forum for keynote talks, research papers, and roundtable discussions over a three-day period. Beginning in 1987, the Rama Watumull Distinguished Indian Scholars Program has brought prominent intellectual figures to the campus to lecture on topics relating to South Asian studies. The newly-established David Watumull Awards for Best Graduate and Undergraduate Papers encourages excellence among students.

A quarterly newsletter, South Asia News, highlights the Center activities, and a new South Asia Occasional Paper Series has recently been inaugurated. This present work is of special significance because it serves to highlight the wide range and depth of scholarship on the South Asian region at the University of Hawaii. Linda Wiig is to be commended for having initiated this project, which brings to public notice a rich source of material, and for the great care and effort with which she brought it to fruition.

PREFACE AND ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The Center for South Asian Studies was established in 1987 with the founding of the School of Hawaiian, Asian and Pacific Studies at the University of Hawaii at Manoa. The formal organization of the school, and its ten centers, reaffirmed and strengthened the university's long-standing commitment to area studies.

This bibliography of doctoral dissertations and masters' theses documents the extent of graduate student research in the area of South Asian studies at the university and provides bibliographic access to the findings of their research. From 1947 through 1989, 98 doctoral dissertations and 133 masters' theses were completed in a wide range of disciplines.

It is a pleasure to give recognition to the people who provided assistance in the publication of this bibliography. Dr. Miriam Sharma, Director of the Center for South Asian Studies, readily approved the proposal and arranged to provide funding from the center for the project. Her support and advice were sincerely appreciated.

Appreciation is also extended to the staff of the university's Hamilton Library Special Collections. In particular, the compiler is grateful to Eleanor C. Au, Head, and Dr. Michaelyn P. Chou, Head of Public Services, for arranging for the necessary library card files to be accessible during the summer of 1989 when Hamilton Library was closed for asbestos removal. And, special thanks go to library technician Mary K. Muraoka for her willing assistance during the course of the project.

Recognition and thanks go to Teri L. Skillman, Educational Specialist for the Center for South Asian Studies, who offered useful suggestions in the area of arrangement and indexing, and who typeset the bibliography.

INTRODUCTION

SCOPE

This bibliography consists of South Asia related doctoral dissertations and masters' theses written at the University of Hawaii at Manoa in all fields of study, including the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences, since the university's establishment in 1920. The earliest determined thesis was written in 1947. Chronological coverage extends through December, 1989.

Masters' papers written under the university's non-thesis plan have not been included and, with few exceptions, are not available within the university's library system. It should be noted that the master's program in Asian Studies has been a non-thesis program since approximately 1967.

Geographical scope covers all of South Asia, including Afghanistan and Tibet. Topics which cover a broader area of Asia have been included when a significant portion of the dissertation or thesis relates to South Asia (e.g. "The Crow as a Theme in Asian Art" [includes India], List no. 35). Bracketed geographical information has been added after titles where clarification was wanting.

Non-geographical South Asia related topics are also included (e.g., "Thoreau's Conception of Immortality and its Relation to the Christian and Hindu Doctrines," List no. 103).

METHOD OF COMPILATION

This list was compiled from the card file of University of Hawaii dissertations and theses which is kept in the Hawaiian/Pacific Collections Reference Room of Hamilton Library. The file cards are arranged alphabetically by the field of study in which a degree was earned. The card file was closed after August 1987. For dissertations and theses completed from December 1987 forward, library lists, derived from lists issued by the Graduate Division, were checked.

Selection of dissertations and theses for inclusion in this bibliography was based on topics indicated in titles. A few titles which did not indicate a South Asia topic and were general enough so as to not exclude a South Asia topic were checked if the author had a South Asian surname. It is possible that some relevant dissertations and theses were overlooked if neither the title nor author indicated a South Asia related topic.

Pro-Cite bibliographic database software was used to prepare and index the bibliography.

ARRANGEMENT

The dissertations and theses have been divided into two broad categories: 1) Humanities and Social Sciences, and 2) Sciences. Works within each of these broad sections have been subarranged: first, alphabetically by country; second, by field of study; and third, alphabetically by author.

Works of regional scope, whose titles do not mention specific countries, are listed under SOUTH ASIA REGION. This heading precedes the alphabetically arranged country headings.

Non-geographical topics are listed under the country most likely to be associated with the topic.

ENTRIES

Each entry consists of: list number; author; year completed; title; physical description; degree awarded; field of study; and call number in the University of Hawaii Library system.

Only one list number is assigned to each dissertation or thesis. Works which pertain to more than one country are listed and numbered under the first country mentioned in the title and are also listed under each of the other countries. The number assigned to the first listing is used in brackets for the subsequent listings.

Authors' names are derived from either the title page or from the library card file and lists. The most complete form of each author's name was used.

Titles appear as they are typed on the title pages. Diacritics and other marks, such as underlining, follow the author's usage. No diacritics or other markings were introduced by the bibliography compiler.

The physical description of each work is, with few exceptions, taken from the university's online library catalog.

INDEXES

Two indexes to the list are provided: an Author Index and a Field of Study/By Year Index.

ACCESS AND AVAILABILITY

All doctoral dissertations and masters' theses (completed under the thesis plan) are housed in the Hawaiian Collection of the university's Hamilton Library. One non-circulating printed copy of each dissertation or thesis is available for use within the library.

In some cases, additional printed copies, as well as microform copies, may be available for loan. Inquiries regarding the availability of loan copies should be addressed to: Interlibrary Loan Department, Hamilton Library, University of Hawaii at Manoa, 2550 The Mall, Honolulu, Hawaii 96822.

The availability of copies of dissertations and theses for purchase is contingent upon copyright. Inquiries regarding the purchase of copies (print or microform) of dissertations which are listed in Dissertation Abstracts International should be addressed to:

University Microfilms Inc.,
300 North Zeeb Road,
Ann Arbor, MI 48106-1346.

Inquiries regarding the availability of unmicrofilmed dissertations and theses should be addressed to:

The Logo of the Center for South Asian Studies

This symbol is an adaptation of a traditional design representing the pomegranate. The pomegranate is indigenous to South Asia and contains within itself many pockets of small, individual fruits. It was chosen to represent the ethnically and religiously diverse region. The designer of the original symbol is unknown but the present symbol was designed by Teri Skillman.
