Toward Global Science:
Mining Civilizational Knowledge

by

Dr. Susthantha Goonatilake

Wednesday, September 22
11:30 AM to 1:00 PM
Social Science Building, Room 704F

Dr. Goonatilake’s lecture will be based on his widely-acclaimed book, Toward Global Science: Mining Civilizational Knowledge (Indiana University Press, 1999).

Reviewers say:

“This book is relevant to all the current debates about environmental priorities, about the failures of development, about South-to-North brain drains, about multiculturalism, about the need for decolonized global histories, about whose priorities should get to shape global political economies.” - Sandra Harding

“The outcome is a profoundly engaging work that confirms Susthantha Goonatilake as one of the most creative and innovative scholars of science.” - Jan Nederveen Pieterse

Dr. Susthantha Goonatilake is a member of the World Futures Studies Federation and the World Academy of Art and Science. Author also of Merged Evolution: Long-Term Implications of Biotechnology and Information Technology (Gordon & Breach, 1999).
