

'Scrambled Scandals' Show Opens in Farrington Hall

Annual ASUH Oratory to Be Held March 7

Schulze, Hustace, Chun, Tanaka, Ching, Gremett to Compete for Medal Awards

Six outstanding University student speakers will compete in the annual ASUH oratorical contest to be held next Thursday morning at 9:30 o'clock in Farrington hall. Six 10-minute orations are scheduled for the program that will take the place of the weekly convocation.

Each of the orations will be on some subject pertinent to Hawaii. Winners of the first three places in the competition will be awarded standard ASUH gold, silver, and bronze medals, respectively.

Judges of the contest will be Prof. Lee Emerson Bassett, visiting professor of English from Stanford university; E. S. Ing, attorney; and Jack Wakayama, University graduate of the class of 1932. Dean Arthur L. Andrews will preside.

"Hawaii's Way Out"
Arthur Paul Schulze, exchange student from the University of Missouri school of journalism, will speak on "Hawaii's Way Out."

George Ching, ASUH manager of debate and forensics, has chosen for his oration subject, "The Future of Hawaii's Youth."

"The Possibilities in Hawaii" will be discussed by Taro Tanaka, sophomore, in his 10-minute oration.

Arthur Chun, exchange student last year to Pomona college, will speak on "Remodelling Hawaii's Peoples."

Frank Hustace, junior class debater and member of the student council, has chosen as his topic, "Begin at Home."

The sixth finalist, Lawrence Gremett, freshman, will talk on "Hawaii and the Future."

45 Placements By UH Bureau

Most of Teachers College Certificate Holders Employed

Forty-five graduates whose applications for work had been on file in the placement bureau of the University have been placed since September, 1934. Of these, seven were placed through this office. Forty-four other applications are on file. Twenty-seven of these are women and 17 are men. Practically all are from the last two graduating classes. Office work or other business is requested by 20; six are interested in teaching; three, laboratory work; and three, social work. Other work requested includes agriculture, electrical engineering, art, and journalism.

Takashi Kitaoka '34 has recently begun his new work as general assistant to James G. Stone, secretary of the Tuberculosis Association of Hawaii.

Teachers college graduates will be glad to know that all except three of the 1934 certificate holders have employment. Among the new assignments are: Edna Lin Ung Chang at Kalakaua; Mary Lum at Waimea, Kauai; Myra Ching at Makawao, Maui; Edith S. K. Chock at Napoopoo, Kona; Arthur Fraser on Lanai; Marian McGregor Flazer at Lahaina; Patricia McMahon at Central intermediate school; Eleanor Nomura at Kona; and Hazel Yoshida on Molokai.

Twenty-six applicants for work, whose requests have been in the file for over a year, have not answered letters sent to them. The placement bureau therefore assumes that they are no longer interested in employment.

Advertising Agency President to Speak

S. S. Bowman, president of Bowman, Deute, Cummings, Inc., national advertising agency that has been handling Hawaii's publicity on the Mainland, will address a student meeting next Thursday at 1:30 p. m. He will discuss some aspects of publicity work in newspapers and magazines.

Crawford Announces Exchange Student Plans for Coming Year

By arrangements with several colleges and universities a few exchange scholarships are available to students in the University of Hawaii. A student who desires to spend his or her junior year on a mainland campus and then return for the fourth year to be graduated may make application for one of these scholarships, securing a form at the registrar's office.

These scholarships provide for free tuition, but in some cases there are incidental fees which are not covered. Some of the scholarships provide, also, a free room in a campus residence hall, but this does not include board. The student who receives one of these scholarships should have available at least $500 during the year abroad, for transportation, board, books, incidental fees and other unavoidable expenses, to say nothing of purely personal items such as clothes, amusements, etc. Only students who are in good health will be considered as eligible.

Applications for exchange scholarships must be submitted not later than Mar. 13. Present sophomores are eligible. A committee representative of faculty and students will consider all applications and will make their selections on the basis both of academic record and qualities of personality.

David L. Crawford, President.

Zona Gale Will Plant Banyan

Fifth 'Literary Tree' Planting Ceremony Set for Mar. 21

Another "literary" tree will be added to the campus when Zona Gale plants a Chinese banyan after convocation on Mar. 21. Allan B. Bush, superintendent of grounds, said that the location of the tree has not been decided. The Zona Gale tree will be the fifth of the group, the others being planted by Hamlin Garland, Thornton Wilder, Carl Sandburg, and Christopher Morley.

A full program for Miss Gale's entertainment has been tentatively arranged from the time she is officially welcomed by members of the Hawaii Quill on Mar. 14 until the night of the Quill's farewell banquet on Mar. 29.

Under present arrangements, Prof. Gregg M. Sinclair's English literature class will have an opportunity to hear the visiting writer on Mar. 16 at 8:30 a. m.

If Miss Gale's program is not too crowded, Prof. Sinclair will make arrangements with the author for a group meeting of students interested in writing as a career. The same plan was successfully carried out last year with Carl Sandburg and Thornton Wilder. The group will be limited to 12 or 15 University students. Prof. Sinclair has asked that students interested in this evening seminar see him as soon as possible.

Miss Gale will give three lectures on the tendencies in modern fiction while here. On Mar. 14 she will speak on "Modern Trends in Fiction"; on Mar. 19, "Period Realism"; and "Designing for Living— and Writing," on Mar. 22. Each lecture will be given at Farrington hall at 8:00 p. m.

Tickets for the lectures are procurable at the University extension division.

The farewell banquet at Lau Yee Chai's will feature the dramatization of a scene from "Miss Lulu Bett." In addition, Moana Peterson is arranging a program of Chinese, Japanese, and Hawaiian dances and music. A copy of the annual issue of the Hawaii Quill will be given to each guest.

The farewells will be given at Farrington hall at 8:00 p. m.

Women Students Hold Experiment

Seven junior women students in the home economics department are conducting a feeding experiment on white rats and guinea pigs in the nutrition laboratory. The class is directed by Miss Carey D. Miller.

An eight-weeks comparison will be made of the animals, some having an adequate diet, and some having a poor diet. The rats and guinea pigs are weighed regularly.

The "good" diet is made up of whole wheat bread, cheese, water cress, and powdered whole milk, while the "bad" diet is made up of salted daikon tops, white rice, and miso.

Up to the present date, marked differences in the physical build of the animals may be seen.

New Library Structure Will Double Space

Wings to Be Added; Hawaiian Room Three Times Larger; New Reading Rooms

The present University library space will be almost doubled by the addition of two new wings in the future. Tentative plans have been drawn up for a reference reading room, a reserve room, and additional cataloguing and stacking space.

The new reference reading room will accommodate 200 students, and the reserve room will seat 150. The present Hawaiian room will be made about three times larger.

Part of the new addition will be of three-story construction, and the remainder will be two stories high. The three-story portion will extend to the present campus roadway, beyond which it will be of two stories.

On the ground floor there will be space for a larger cataloguing room, stacking space for magazines, and rooms which may be used for offices.

On the second floor, over the location now occupied by the cafeteria building, will be the new reference reading room.

Plans Only Tentative
Miss Mary P. Pringle, librarian, points out that these plans are only tentative and complete plans have not yet been drawn up.

The addition will form a hollow square. The present campus roadway from the new library to University avenue will be graced over. The portion of the road from Maile way up to the addition will be retained for the use of trucks only. In this way, no road will come near the library.

No new books have been ordered for the addition. The Territory gives the University about $8,000 in the biennium, which sum is budgeted among the various departments of the school. During the year ending June, 1934, the University library bought about $8,000 worth of books, including the amount given by the Carnegie foundation, which has been almost exhausted now. This bought 3,000 bound volumes and 14,000 pamphlets.

Stacking space will be doubled by the new addition. The only inconvenience the library expects to experience during the construction will be the noise. As the new stacking space is needed, it will be used.

Ching Elected Prexy Of Forensic Society
At a meeting held last Thursday night at Atherton house, George Ching was elected president of Hawaii Union, honorary forensics society on the campus. He succeeds Curtis Heen, retiring president.

Other officers chosen were Frank Hustace, vice-president; Richard Fujii, secretary; and Clarence Chang, treasurer.

Members of University Faculty Urge Erection Of New Student Union Building on UH Campus
(Editor's Note: The following opinions have been expressed by University faculty members upon the feasibility of starting a drive for a new Student Union building on the campus.)

Prof. Gregg M. Sinclair: "A Student Union building here may be the cohesive force that we need to bring students together and make this a real university. I should think the proper way of going about it would be to have a joint committee of regents, faculty members and students to canvass the situation and see how such a building may be erected."

Miss Mary P. Pringle, librarian: "I think we need one decidedly. It would be a great relief to the library. It would be a great benefit to the library. It would make a general meeting place for the students. An adequate Student Union building should make the library quieter."

T. Blake Clark, instructor of English: "Sure, they ought to have one. It will give serious students

ASUH Council to Meet on Saturday

Members of the ASUH student council will hold their monthly meeting for March on Saturday at 12:45 p. m. in the ASUH office in the cafeteria building.

Curtis Heen, ASUH president, urges all councillors especially to be present at this meeting, as a number of important matters will be discussed.

The council will take some action toward organizing a campaign for a Student Union, it is reported.

Frazier Does Yearbook Art

Pencil Drawings Features of 1935 Ka Palapala
Pencil drawings depicting student activity in the main buildings on the campus will be one of the most attractive features of the 1935 Ka Palapala, according to Raymond Tan, editor-in-chief. The drawings are the work of Preston Frazier, art editor, and will be reproduced on pitted stock paper.

"Work on the yearbook has been progressing very satisfactorily," Tan says. "The merit of the book will depend to a large extent on the co-operation of the various staff members. So far the editors have been diligent workers and should continue the good work till the book is finished."

Arthur Paul Schulze, exchange student from the University of Missouri school of journalism and a member of the editorial board of Ka Leo, has been appointed copy editor of the yearbook, Tan announces.

The annual will be printed in three colors—black, purple, and gold. It will have 262 pages, slightly exceeding the size of last year's book. It will be ready for distribution about May 15.

Shigeichi Imada, business manager of publications, has requested that all club presidents pay the fees for the photographs immediately. Arrangements must be made with the manager by presidents of clubs that are unable to make the payment within the next two weeks.

Shogo Abe Is Active Student at La Verne

LA VERNE, Calif.—Shogo Abe, popular exchange student from the University of Hawaii to La Verne college, is well known on the local college campus for his ukulele and tenor voice. He recently appeared at meetings of the Lions club and a local high school.

Abe is a member of the cabinet of the college YMCA, a member of Chi Delta Chi, college dramatics organization, and is doing creditable work as a member of the La Verne varsity debate squad.

Deputation Team Program Sunday

Two rural churches will be visited next Sunday by deputation teams from the University YMCA, according to plans just released by Lloyd E. Killam, secretary. A group will visit Waikane church in the morning and another group is to give a program at Kailua Community church in the evening.

The YMCA also has been invited to give programs at McKinley high school and the Waipahu Community Center.

Last Sunday a team of three students entertained at Haula Hawaiian church. Vincent Van Brocklin and Malcolm Moore gave musical numbers. Frank Wilson delivered a talk on life in India.

Two events for Mar. 13 are scheduled on the activity calendar of the Charles Atherton house association. A conference on Japanese-American relations will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt. On the same day, the monthly luncheon will be held at Atherton house.

Dai Kiang Lee Is Writer for Etude

Dai Kiang Lee, sophomore, is the author of an article published in the February issue of Etude, national music publication. The article is titled "Musical Instruments of Old and Modern Cathay." It describes the history of Chinese instrumentation.

"Five thousand years ago, before Egypt started building the pyramids, China had already developed a system of music," he writes.

"The Chinese people possess instruments that correspond to nearly every instrument of a present-day symphony orchestra."

Lee is the composer of a number of pieces, several of which have been published on the Mainland. One of his operas has been accepted for publication and will be produced in May by the McKinley high school music department.

Senior Class Plays Mar. 15

Fourth-Year Thespians to Give Three One-Act Dramas
"Poor Madalena," "The Willow Plate," and "The Valiant," senior productions, will be the first of the series of one-act plays offered by different classes for Theta Alpha Phi recognition. The senior plays will be given in Farrington hall on Mar. 15 at 7:30 p. m.

Ella Lo will direct "The Poor Madalena," a fantasy, by Louise Saunders. Pierrot will be played by Catherine Duncan; Pierrette, by Ella Lo; and Bambo, by Myrtle Freeman.

"The Valiant" is under the supervision of William Mueller has the following cast: James Dyke, played by Belden Lyman; Josephine Paris, Frances Brown; Father Daily, Willard Grey; Warden Hold, William Mueller; and the Jailor, Larry Capellas.

"The Willow Plate," directed by Raymond Won, is a Chinese play. The cast is: Ming Chu Po, played by Raymond Tan; Cheng Loy Tah, Ella Lo; Sai Hoo Tso, Mew Yung Jay; Mung Sin Chu, Raymond Won; Dragon, John Kuon; Chorus man, Clarence Ching; first flower girl, Florence Liu; second flower girl, Helen Sei; and the Mandarin, George Chiu.

Unusualness and a sense of news values is prominent throughout the show, particularly in the 5-and-10 number, which features a floorwalker who actually does not make passes at the salesgirls. And that is news! The girls sing of their regret at having a solid counter between themselves and the audience, hiding their pretty knees, and they sing so charmingly they make everyone else feel the same way about it.

Clayton Romler and Hazel Hale put a dance interpretation of "Stormy Weather" across in true New York fashion, ably assisted by a perfectly trained chorus of eight. Lights and stage settings are perfect, and the leaping blue shadows on the backdrop add much to the effectiveness of the dance. The orchestra, good throughout, reaches its best during this number, cutting in with an arrangement for full orchestra which does not blanket out the voices.

Ma's grave is dug deep right in the middle of the stage, while eight angels (one actually flying) 30 through their capers and the orchestra furnishes music hardly angelic in character.

Many University Alumni Active In Vocational Agriculture Work

Among many other occupations, University of Hawaii alumni members are playing an active part in vocational agriculture in Hawaii. The part played by teachers of vocational agriculture has been an important one in helping to overcome existing emergencies during the present economic crisis. This instruction includes the production of garden, fruit, dairy, and poultry products for home use.

The agricultural teachers in Hawaii are doing much for the plantation workers in their home projects as well as for the children in the schools. In the schools the Future Farmers of America promote agricultural interest in the students.

Some of the goals of the vocational agriculture teacher's have to do with the improving of agricultural practices in their particular communities. They may wish to introduce pure-bred livestock into the community; to see that proper methods of pruning and fertilizing coffee is followed; and that better seeds are used for planting.

Those who are doing pre-vocational work on Oahu are Yaso Abe '33 and Henry Bartels '28 at Aiea; Tamotsu Hori '32 and Yoshimi Maeda '34 at Andrew Cox intermediate; Richard Leong '34 at Ewa; Harold H. Hall '34 at Kahu-ku; Murray Heminger '27 at Leilehua; William Wong, '31 at Waianae; and Michio Yamaguchi.

The following are on the island of Hawaii: Tsumika Maneki '22 at Hakalau; Clarence Watson, graduate student, at Hilo high; Yasuo Ishikawa '26 at Hilo intermediate; Philip Westgate '30 at Honokaa intermediate; Takumi Kono '31 at Honouliuli; Clement Judd '31, and Stanley Christian, an ex-student, at Konawaena high; Jorgen Jorgensen '30 at Mountain View; Albert Kong '32 at Paaulo; Kenneth Ohara '32 at Pahala; Allen Fuji-naga '33 at Pahoa; Kazuto Nitta '30 at Waialakea-uka; Hsiao Miyasaki '34, traveling teacher at Honokaa; and Richard Matsumoto '34, traveling teacher in Hilo.

On Maui, Norman Ignacio '34 and Shinji Miwa '34 are at Paia; Lloyd Kaapana '34, at Waialua intermediate; and Kwok Wo Tom '32, at Pauwela school.

David Akana '32 is teaching gardening and pre-vocational at Molokai intermediate, and Jiro Suzuki '29 is at Kaunakakai school.

These agricultural teachers are a part of the plan of the federal government to solve certain phases of the agricultural problem. What the federal government is doing on a national scale, the teacher of agriculture is doing for the community on a smaller scale.

Chinese Students Plan Many Events For Easter Week

"CSA Week" will be sponsored by the Chinese Students' alliance during the Easter vacation, according to plans of the board of directors of the organization. The week will feature extensive activities to be participated in by delegates from local and outside island units, and by leading citizens of Honolulu interested in the work of the alliance.

Peace Tan will direct all activities. She will be assisted by members of the club appointed at the last meeting of the board.

An oratorical contest in Chinese will be held on the first night of the week. Laura Siu is in charge. Prizes will be awarded the winning orators.

On the second day a territorial radio broadcast will be held especially for the Chinese on the outside islands. Jennie Fong and Helen Chan are drawing up the program for the occasion.

A Chinese play, in charge of Katie Chun, will be given at the Honolulu Academy of Arts on the third night. Running concurrently will be an exhibition of Chinese paintings and objects of art at the academy.

On Thursday of the week, a Chinese play will be enacted in Farrington hall during the convocation hour. Goldie Li is in charge of this play.

A territorial literary contest with prizes for an essay and a poetry division is being planned under the direction of Florence Ching. It will be open to all Chinese students.

Two nights of the week will be devoted to conference sessions held in Honolulu, with prominent leaders of the community as speakers. Delegates from the various units will meet at round table discussions. An invitational dance will be the concluding event on the week's program.

Japanese Students To Sponsor Hop March 16 in Gym

"Scholarship Hop" will be sponsored by the University unit of the Japanese Students' association on Mar. 16 in the University gymnasium, starting at 8:00 p. m. The Dragons' orchestra will furnish the music for this gala affair.

As a part of the program, a Japanese "bon-odori" will be featured during the intermission. Everyone may join this dance. This dance was popularized in recent years by the Japanese in Hawaii, and was put on a commercialized basis last year at the Houston arena by Taiyo Kawai. It proved to be a great success. There is nothing complicated to this dance and it is very easy to learn by simply falling in line with the rest of the expert dancers and keeping time to the drums by simple arm, body, and leg movements.

During the dance, two prizes will be offered by Stanley T. Ito, florist, one for the prize waltz and another for a spot dance. The prizes will be orchid corsages for the ladies.

Seven hostesses, including the Misses Fuyuko Ito, Katherine Kashiwabara, Patsy Honda, Pearl Kaya, Dorothy Nishigaya, Moana Peterson, and Anita Kong will greet the guests, Miss Peterson and Miss Kong are University students.

Tickets may be obtained from any JSA member or at the Ito Florist shop.

'Farmers' Frolic' to Be Held on Saturday

"Farmers' Frolic," annual dance affair of the University Agriculture club, will be held on Saturday evening in the University gymnasium.

A bean-guessing contest is being conducted this week as a special feature of the dance. Prizes in the form of chicken and eggs will be offered to the winners guessing nearest to the correct number of beans.

Music for the affair will be furnished by the Dragons' orchestra.

Students in charge of the dance are Larry Capellas, general chairman; John Kuon, program; Masuyuki Nagai, decorations; Richard Mizuta, refreshments; Masato Sugihara, publicity; Henry Kusonoki, tickets; and Raymond Won, clean-up.

Soph-Senior Dance Committees Chosen

Committees to work on the Sophomore-Senior dance which will be held Mar. 23 in the University gymnasium have been chosen.

Ralph Matsumura is general chairman. Committee members are Ruth Aki, Dorothy Thompson, Kunito Sakaoka, Charles Sakamaki, James Dyson, and Virginia Lord, decorations; Stanley Bento, Taro Tanaka, and Minoru Shimoda, clean-up; and Lydia Chun, Robert Tairo, and Masao Furukawa, tickets.

The entire faculty will be guests at this semi-formal affair.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Experiments on a large number of subjects at the Harvard university psychological laboratory have shown that difficult material is better assimilated by students by means of a speaker in the room than by receiving the same information by radio.

pus. It would be of great advantage to the student body."

Leonora N. Bilger, dean of women: "An adequate Student Union which would centralize the business and social affairs of the students of the University would be a stimulus for students to live a "campus life" much more completely than is possible under our present circumstances. I should like to see a Student Union beautiful in structure and in furnishings and I should like to see the students take a resolute pride in its use, its care and its upkeep."

FERA Office Work Claims 11 Graduates

Eleven graduates of the University of Hawaii are employed by the FERA office in Honolulu in its social case investigation department. The major work of the investigators is to collect and compile data necessary in the administering of FERA funds.

Those employed from last year's graduating class are Elizabeth Buchanan, Ayako Mihara, Toyo Takase, Joan Wilson, and Harlan Wong. Nancy Leong, Margaret Ching, Mabel Chong, and Maude Ho are from the class of '33. Those from the class of '31 are Evelyn Fujinaka and Raymond Uchimura.

Eleanor Chun Prexy Of Reorganized Club

To promote professional interest in teaching, the Teachers college club recently was reorganized with Eleanor Chun as president; Yoshiaki Eto, vice-president; Momi Chung, recording secretary; and Belmyra Souza, corresponding secretary. All students of Teachers college automatically are members of this club.

The club met yesterday in Farrington hall at 12:45 p. m. with the Beamer Hawaiian troupe providing the featured entertainment of the program.

"Dance of Vienna" by a group from Kulumanu dance studio. Both are excellently done, but somehow do not quite fit into the general spirit of the "Scandals". They seem out of place, though they might prove more effective if differently placed on the program.

The finale, obviously intended to be "stupendous", is well done, but lack the originality of most of the rest of the show. The orchestra, too, turns on too much volume, and drowns out the singers.

Honorable Mentions

Now for a few honorable mentions and orchids:

Freddy Neal, the pianist, hammers the piano and turns out characteristically "screw" accompaniments, shifting keys with consummate skill.

Clayton Romler and "Doc" Wyman deserve all kinds of credit for their direction and management. Romler's dance numbers are excellently arranged, and all dancers show the results of his coaching.

The writers of the lyrics (there must be several of them, as one person just couldn't have all those good ideas) really "went to town". The words have a zip, and their satire has just enough acid in it. Rhymes aren't always what they might be, which just helps things along.

To sum it up, the entire cast of 70 is well trained, and puts on a worthwhile show.

Aw Nertz! What's the sense of talking about it when it will be on again tonight, tomorrow night, and Saturday night, curtain at 8:30 p.m. same place, and everyone of any importance whatsoever will see it.

Dr. Earl M. Bilger Talks to Chem Club

This talk will be given again in a condensed form at a meeting of the faculty Criminology group in the cafeteria at 12:30 p. m., Mar. 15.

Robert P. Scripps, Newspaper Owner, Vacationing in Hawaii

By Robert Brillande

With the directorship of 24 newspapers temporarily relegated to other shoulders, Robert P. Scripps, president of the nation-wide Scripps-Howard newspaper chain, is spending an extended vacation in Hawaii.

An affable giant with a graying patriarchal beard, he chuckled at the thought of his early days in journalism. At 17, although his father owned a chain of newspapers, he applied for a job with another paper at Bakersfield, Calif. It was just as easy to start at the top as at the bottom, he decided. On that theory, he asked the editor for a job on his editorial staff. Smiling, the editor shunted him to the circulation department, where he was hired to sell subscriptions.

His first week's reward was a flat iron; his second, an ironing board. Young Scripps strode into the editor's office with both his prizes, told him that he wanted to become a newspaperman, not a pants presser and walked out in disgust.

Directs 20 Newspapers

After working on the Eureka-Humboldt Times, a California newspaper on which Mark Twain was once employed as a typesetter, Mr. Scripps, at 22, became the editorial director of 20 newspapers.

At the outbreak of the World War, he enlisted as a private, served eight weeks in a training camp and was then commissioned to go to France to organize the foreign newspaper correspondents there.

The death of his father in 1926 made Mr. Scripps the controlling head of the huge Scripps-Howard newspaper chain.

"Factual reporting should be the ideal of every newspaper—not propaganda," he said, when asked to comment on the difference between the Scripps-Howard and Hearst policies. "That is one of the main differences between the two.

"We never use our papers as organs of political, economic or social propaganda. There will never be seen in our papers those editorials whose main purpose are the depression or inflation of stocks or real estate.

Employees Own Stock

The controlling stock of each of our papers must be in the hands of the controlling head of that paper with some participation of employees. But under no circumstances can those working for our organizations own any other stock or real estate. We have found it to be one of the most effective methods of encouraging clean journalism."

"Another difference," he went on to explain, "was that while the Hearst organization is highly centralized, Scripps-Howard papers are run by the local directors. It is their aim to report the political situation but not to become involved by it. Each newspaper is thus a deeply-rooted unit in its respective community.

"Schools of journalism offer no indispensable training to aspiring newspaper men," Mr. Scripps said.

"There is nothing in the field of journalism taught in two or three years in the best of the journalism schools, which cannot be learned in six months of actual work on any good newspaper.

Alumni Ass'n Has Scholarship Fund

The board of governors of the University of Hawaii Alumni association decided at its last meeting to provide ways and means by which high school graduates will be encouraged to attend the University of Hawaii.

Realizing that many worthy students are kept out of college because of financial difficulties, the board decided to set up a loan fund for needy high school graduates. Under the present plan, the loan fund will be administered through the various chapters of the association.

The Wahi-ala chapter of the association already has made an application to the loan fund. The Wahi-ala club is planning to help students interested in agriculture.

The Association is hoping to set up an athletic loan fund from the proceeds of the AAU track meet it is handling this year. The athletic loan fund will be made available to athletes who want to attend the University.

For those who are in the University or have attended the University, the Alumni association already maintains a loan fund.

The placement bureau of the University will do all it can to get suitable work for those who applied.

She is teaching Sunday school, and is taking an active part in the recreational committee of the Hakalau Civic association. She has also been elected vice-president of the Big Island Young People's Christian council.

Ethel Joan Wilson, now assistant supervisor of social service at the Honolulu FERA office writes, "Since graduation in January, 1934, I have been working, so have not traveled except on business. In November I was the fortunate one chosen to make some special investigations on Kauai when the FERA office was reopened at Lihue. Work kept me there until Dec. 23. My major interest at present lies in the field of social work and it is hoped-for goal to continue this coming fall with my training by attending school in the East."

'Mike' Ryan Gets Degree at Vienna

Miss Ella Nora Ryan '26, otherwise known as "Mike", recently was granted the degree of "Doktor der Philosophie" in the field of psychology at the University of Vienna.

Miss Ryan was well known in her student days as a ring-leader of boisterous fun. She probably was the best yell leader the women students have ever produced. She was first in most activities among women students. Long before "boy cuts" or bobbed hair was stylish, Miss Ryan appeared on the campus with a "boy cut." Slacks worn by women today were not known during Mike's time, so she wore trousers on many occasions. She wouldn't be beaten by men in the art of handling a rifle, so she joined the rifle team. This action resulted in the organization of a women's rifle team. She was elected honorary cadet colonel of the ROTC.

Besides these, she took an active part in the Dramatics club, Theta Alpha Phi, and the Hawaii Quill. Since graduation from the University of Hawaii, she has spent four years teaching, three in Kona and one at Punahou. In 1930 she entered Columbia university and obtained her master's degree. She then spent a year at the University of Berlin and two years at the University of Vienna and the Psychoanalytical Institute in Vienna before she was granted her degree.

PRINCETON, N. J.—Two courses which deal with the agencies of peace have been added to the ROTC curriculum at Princeton university.

Dr. Hayashi in Kona Practice

Grad of '25 Comes from Large Family of Students

Dr. Chisato Hayashi, now practicing medicine in Kona, Hawaii, returned from the Mainland last May with Mrs. Hayashi.

Dr. Hayashi interned at Frances Willard hospital in Chicago after finishing his medical training at University of Chicago medical school and the Rush Medical college.

Dr. Hayashi was graduated from the University of Hawaii in 1925. While in the University he was active in dramatics, YMCA activities, and Japanese Student association activities. He was known as "Pedro" on the campus.

Mrs. Hayashi, before her marriage to Dr. Hayashi, was Miss Eva Hurst, a nurse. Both Dr. and Mrs. Hayashi are popular among the younger set of Kona.

Dr. Hayashi's father is a retired physician and publisher. He arrived in Hawaii in 1890 and practiced medicine at Honoumuli, Hawaii. After two years at Honoumuli he moved to Kona and has been there ever since.

In 1897, five years after he established himself in Kona, he started a newspaper called the Kona Echo which is being edited today by Miss Fusa Hayashi, '31.

Dr. Chisato Hayashi has eleven brothers and sisters. Three of them have been already graduated from the University. They are Miss Fusa Hayashi '31, Shigeki Hayashi '32, and Miss Elsie Hayashi '34. Ensei Hayashi is now attending the University.

Shigeki Hayashi is now studying medicine at Western Reserve university in Cleveland, Ohio.

Miss Mary Hayashi is a nurse at Kona hospital.

It is rumored that when Shigeki returns from his medical training a clinic or hospital might be started in Kona by the family.

KAUAI Alumni Notes

Dr. Tadao Hata is now located in Kapaa. His shingle reads, "Physician and Surgeon." In answer to a question put to him he replied, "A doctor, like any business man, has his ups and downs and business depressions. I have a pretty good business because I was the first young Japanese doctor to practice on Kauai."

Fred Weber is employed by the Grove Farm plantation as time-keeper.

Teachers in the Hanamaula school are taking an active interest in the University of Hawaii Alumni association. Seven teachers from the school joined the association recently.

Our records show that last year Kapaa and Kilauea schools were very active. We have not heard from them this year. Let's hear soon!

Mrs. M. Ogata, who was Miss Mitsuko Abe '26, before her marriage, has been doing active work in the Kauai YWCA. She is kept busy with Girl Reserve and social service work. Her husband is with the Bishop First National Bank of Waimaea.

Lincoln Kanai, who has been connected with the Kauai YMCA for the past three years, has been granted a leave of absence for three months. Mr. Kanai has not made up his mind as to where he will spend his vacation. He is contemplating a trip to the Orient or to the Mainland.

M. Lydgate, who is the Kauai representative of the Home Insurance company, was elected president of the Kauai county YMCA. He replaces Eric Knudsen.

We are just wondering what happened to the East Kauai and West Kauai units of the association. Two years ago the East Kauai unit, under the leadership of Miss Marjorie Kimura, was the first unit to join the association. Speak up, presidents—let's get acquainted!

'26 Grad Has European Trip

Beatrice Krauss Studies Much in Germany, Russia

Beatrice Krauss '26, assistant plant physiologist for the Pine-apple Producers Co-operative association, returned in December from a trip of three months to Europe. She found the trip very interesting and educational. She spoke highly of the research men and laboratories of Russia and Germany.

The primary purpose of her trip to Europe was to visit plant physiology laboratories in Russia and Germany. She spent the majority of her time in Moscow and Leningrad, Russia, visiting well known scientists and their laboratories. She found the Russian government very much interested in the advancement of science.

"Scientific men and women of Russia are given excellent equipment to carry on their work," Miss Kraus states.

In Berlin she visited the government biology station, the plant physiology institute of the University of Berlin, and the potash experiment station. The potash experiment station is the best built and equipped laboratory in Europe.

While in Moscow she met Dr. Patapov, Dr. Dikussar, Dr. Butkevitch, Dr. Prianishnikow, and Dr. Oparin. In Leningrad she visited Dr. Vavilov, Dr. Maximov, Dr. Krassovsky, Dr. Rybin, Dr. Moshkov, Dr. Lubsmenko, and Dr. Walter, all well known scientists.

Some of the scientists she met in Germany are Dr. Muller of the plant physiology institute of the University of Berlin, Dr. Titting and his associates at the Botanical institute, Dr. Schaffnit and Dr. Wilhelm of the Plant Disease institute, and Dr. Ruhland and his associates at Leipzig.

When Miss Krauss arrived in Germany from New York, she witnessed the last presentation of the Passion Play for 1934 at Oberammergau. From there she went to Vienna to visit the botanical institute of the University of Vienna. While there, she met Miss Ella Nora "Mike" Ryan, '26, who had just completed her studies at the Uni-

New Building May Be Built Makai of Tank

Proposed Structure Would Replace Present Swimming Locker Quarters

Tentative plans have been divulged for the erection of a new sports building to replace the antiquated one now standing makai of the University swimming tank. Should the Territorial legislature appropriate sufficient funds, construction will be started soon. The new building not only will be the headquarters for all major varsity sports, but of intramural sports activities as well. Adequate facilities for the accommodation of visiting mainland teams will be one of the outstanding features of the proposed two-story structure.

To Centralize Offices
It is planned to centralize the offices of the director of athletics, his staff, and the graduate manager in the building. At present, these offices are all in separate buildings, making it difficult to carry out necessary administrative functions. A general office for student managers of the major sports also is contemplated.

Other proposed features include a classroom where theory and illustration of principles of the various sports could be taught, a study room where book lockers for members of the "H" club could be installed, a trophy room, and most important of all, sufficient space for the handling and storage of all athletic equipment. At present, space is limited, and the handling of the equipment would be carried on with greater ease in a larger building. Such necessities as a drying room, improved showers, an up-to-the-minute medical room, and spacious clothes lockers are among the other improvements that are being planned.

Gill's Basketeers Beat Korean Five

Starting off sluggishly, but finally getting their fast-breaking offense under way, Coach Luke Gill's varsity cagers took the measure of the Korean Delta Frats, 49-32, last Saturday night in a postponed Senior AAU basketball league game in the University gymnasium.

Inspired by the timely shots of Espinda and Smith, the Rainbows forged to the front after the Koreans had assumed an early lead.

Seemingly sure of cinching a victory after gaining a great advantage at the end of the half, the Deans had to cope with a furious Korean onslaught when the contest was resumed, but the rally fell short when the University defense stiffened.

Capt. Cockett was the leading Dean scorer with 14 digits. Lee of the Delta Frats scored 12. Moses accounted for eight markers, while Kaulukukui and Espinda scored six each.

In the nightcap, the University Alumni won a thriller from the all-Chinese outfit, 42-38.

Alumni Association Plans New Sports Program for Territory

The University of Hawaii Alumni association has initiated a plan which it hopes will make its Alma Mater not only the athletic center of the Territory, but in the not too distant future, an active participant in various athletic programs on the Mainland, particularly on the Pacific Coast.

In order to facilitate the carrying out of this plan, the Alumni association has joined the local AAU organization. It has appointed as its delegates Herbert Keppler, former president of the association and for many years one of its most active members, and "Pump" Searle, present graduate manager of the University of Hawaii.

Under the efficient and enthusiastic management of these two men, plans are now being made for the coming track season. First of all, they include an invitational meet between the point-winners in the Interscholastic and Cornell Relays and the varsity track team. This meet is scheduled to be held about two weeks after the Interscholastic track meet, and should

Varsity '9' to Play Saturday

University Baseball Team Will Oppose Rapid Transits

Completing their first round of play in the Commercial Baseball league, the Deans will play Earl Vida's Rapid Transits on Saturday at the Honolulu stadium at 3:30 p. m.

From all indications, the game looms as a great battle. With Earl Vida handling the pitching assignment, the "Token Boys" are expected to be hard to beat. Last Saturday it took the champion Mutuals 11 innings to vanquish the Rapid Transits.

Not only can Vida's men play good ball afield, but they can hit the ball with telling results. Martin, Naauao, Vida, and Steward are all dangerous batters.

The University nine also bears watching from now on. With the return of Coach Otto Klum, the Deans have taken on new life. Defeating the highly-touted Electrics last Saturday, the Rainbows have served notice that they are out to win.

With Furukawa and Uchimura in form, the Deans have two able moundsmen to match the pitching of Vida. When right, they are hard to beat. Working them out from the backstop position will be Fujishige, one of the smartest catchers in the league.

Afield, the University is well fortified with Piltz, Wada, Murray, and Kaulukukui taking care of the infield, and Andrade, Katsunuma, and Ahuna watching the outfield.

Crucial Game Friday Night

Dean Basketball Artists Meet Strong Elks Quintet

Coach Luke Gill's Rainbow varsity basketball team must win tomorrow night's game against the strong Elks quintet if it hopes to stay in the running for the Hawaii senior league championship race.

As the "A" division leadership is now in a two-way deadlock with the Deans and Elks, perched on top rung with one loss each, a defeat for the Rainbows virtually will eliminate them from further competition.

Tomorrow night's fracas has all the earmarks of developing into a hot melele, with both teams anxious to remain in the pennant race. The Deans' main obstacle against the Elks lies in Pete Kahler, elongated center of the former Kilsby Florists. Kahler himself may decide the outcome of the game, as the Elks must depend mostly on his scoring ability.

The Elks will be led by a new coach, Phil Marvin, who was one of University of Southern California's leading cage stars back in 1930 and 1931. Coach Marvin has changed the old system of offense, and has shifted to the man-to-man defense.

Coach Gill also will employ the same system of defense, so how well the Elks will fare against the Dean starters with Capt. Pat Cock-

Women Play Final Games Tomorrow

The final games in the inter-sorority basketball tournament are scheduled for this afternoon and tomorrow. On Mar. 11 and 13 the winners of the two sections will oppose each other to decide the championship.

This afternoon Phi Epsilon Mu plays Yang Chung Hui, and on Friday Yang Chung Hui meets Wakaba Kai.

Ka Pueo and Hui Iwi ended their game Monday in a 16-16 tie. The game scheduled between Wakaba Kai and Phi Epsilon Mu for Feb. 28 was forfeited to Wakaba Kai.

Non-Organization and Ke Anue were leading in the tournament on Monday with two victories apiece. Ka Pueo and Hui Iwi also were tied, each team having lost one game and tied one.

Following the completion of the inter-sorority tournament, the inter-class games will be run off.

ett at center; Ernest Moses and Tommy Kaulukukui, forwards; Tony Morse and Maynard Piltz, guards; remains a conjectural question.

In the opener of the evening, the All-Chinese Athletic club cagers will meet the Citywide Athletic association team at 7:30 p. m.

IOWA CITY, Ia.—The University of Iowa has inaugurated a course which deals with the problems of married life.

Klum's University Baseball Varsity Wins by 4-2 from Hawaiian Electric

With Coach Otto Klum in control for the first time this season, the University of Hawaii Rainbows put the damper on the Hawaiian Electric Sparklers when the latter attempted to break into the win column in a Commercial league baseball game last Saturday afternoon at the stadium. The score was 4-2.

Tommy Kaulukukui, Dean shortstop, broke up the game which was tied 2-2 up to the sixth frame, smashing one of Al Nalua's fast ones for two bases with Andrade on base. Andrade came home with the final University run when Kaulukukui poled out another double in the eighth canto. Costly errors on the part of the Electrics accounted for two Hawaii runs in the opening chapter, but they came right back to score once themselves when Fujishige's heave to second went awry.

Masa Furukawa, who replaced Uchimura in the initial frame, threw wild to first in the third inning, allowing Rhinelander to move to third and score the last Electric run on Kerr's sacrifice fly.

The Deans now are in third place in the league, having won two and lost two. The Mutual Telephones, last year champs, again are leading the loop. The Shell Oil team is in second place.

ALUMNI in Sports

Theodore "Pump" Searle is certainly earning his salary as graduate manager. He has so many athletic irons in the fire that it is no wonder that the University is becoming sport-minded.

William "Doggy" Wise will probably be back as head coach next year at Kamehameha schools, with good prospects for another championship football team.

Edwin Fernandez, together with Henry Hughes and "Scotty" Schuman, are still jubilant over the upset victories of their Town Team over California and the Mainland All-Stars.

Louis Collins looks after the coaching duties at Konawaena between coffee-picking periods.

Theodore "Ted" Nobriga, the University's contribution to big-time baseball, has a good chance to look over the younger generation's hooks and fast ones in his capacity of secretary of the city-wide playground movement. Quite a number of alumni are engaged in this line of work, and among the women may be found Rose Simeron on Molokai, and Thelma Sproat on Oahu.

Frederick "Freddy" Steere is leading the HAC soccer team through a very hectic series.

Hung Wai Ching at the Nuuanu "Y" and Ainsley Mahikoa and Don Gustason at the Central "Y" are busy building up the bodies of youngsters by the indoor method.

Herbert Keppler is busy rounding up alumni track men to help him put his AAU track program over in great style.

Stuart Judd and Stanley Tom are helping Coach Roy Bohler in whipping the Alumni basketball team into a championship contender.

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—It would take 503 years for one person to complete all of the courses now being offered by Yale university.

Soccer Trophy To Be Offered

Fred Harrison Cup Competition For Inter-Island Series

The Fred Harrison soccer trophy, which has been on the shelves for seven years since the Celtics last captured it in 1928, will be put up for competition once again when the inter-island soccer tournament is revived on March 23 and 24.

This rebirth of the Scottish pastime was made possible by the interest and support manifested by the ASUH in this year's local soccer loop. The Dean trip to Maui recently also stimulated interest and made this tournament possible.

Four teams will be represented in the forthcoming games. Dr. Felix M. Keesing and Dr. John W. Coulter will lead the University squad, while Tom Gibson, president of the Hawaii Soccer league, will coach the Palamas, 1935 champions of Oahu. From Kauai, a team will be led by Tom Thomas, while David Sinclair and Donald Deese, player-coaches, will head a Maui all-star delegation.

All games will be played on Cooke field. On the first day of the tournament, the Deans will meet Maui in the first game at 1:30 p. m., while the Palamas will take on Kauai in the nightcap.

On the following day, the two winners of the previous games will play each other for the championship, while the two losers will fight for third place honors.
