Quonset Huts to Sprout on Campus Soon for Temporary Classrooms

New buildings should be completed by this spring to house a chemistry laboratory, a zoology lab and other overcrowded classes, according to Dean W. J. Holmes. These buildings from surplus properties will be quonset huts for temporary use.

Permission must be obtained from the Federal Works Administration here, which relays the request to the headquarters in Washington. Granting these additions is in accordance with the national law passed recently which authorizes temporary campus facilities especially for veterans.

The applications were sent in last fall for the additions of the labs and other temporary classrooms. Another application has not yet reached the Washington bureau in which permission is asked to erect an addition to the cafeteria and a unit to house ASUH activities.

Spring may see the first of these quonset huts on the campus for the badly-needed laboratories, and perhaps next year the others will be completed, including larger facilities for the ASUH office, Ka Palapala and Ka Leo.

Lottich Leaving Counselor Post

The resignation of Philip B. Lottich, counselor for men, effective at the end of this semester has been announced.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed my stay at the University, and I shall always remember with pleasure the friendliness and cooperation of the students and faculty members," said Mr. Lottich. He has been acting head of the office of student personnel during the absence of Dean White, and also acted as counselor for women after Mrs. Dorothy Isom's resignation and until Miss Barbara Clark arrived.

To visit down under—Australia and New Zealand—is Mr. Lottich's tentative plan.

Mr. Lottich came to this university in November 1945 from Wittenberg college in Springfield, Ohio, where he was assistant to the president. He was graduated from Columbia university and did much advisory work before coming here. He ran a counseling service in New York City, was personnel director at Monroe College of Optometry in Chicago, and was also assistant dean of men at Grinnell college in Iowa.

During his stay here Mr. Lottich worked closely with the faculty and students.

Miss Palmer Resigns From Secretarial Post

Miss Maria Palmer, executive secretary of the UH agricultural extension service, has resigned due to ill health, it was learned this week.

Miss Palmer, who has been with the UH since 1933, has seen the service staff grow from three full-time specialists to the present 10.

Director H. H. Warner stated, "The extension service could not have performed its job as efficiently as it has all these years without Miss Palmer's devoted, painstaking work."

V.A. Reminds Vets Of Lapse of GI Insurance Policies

The Veterans Administration regional office reminds all territorial vets whose GI term insurance policies have lapsed that they have until Feb. 1 to reinstate without the required physical examinations.

After this date, the V. A. said, vets whose term insurance policies have lapsed more than six months will be required to take a physical exam. Within the six months period, the vet is merely required to sign a statement that his health is as good as it was when his policy lapsed and pay two months' premiums.

At the same time, the V. A. announced that the time limit for reinstatement of converted National Service Life Insurance policies which have lapsed more than three months has been extended from Jan. 1 to Feb. 1.

Vets whose converted GI policies have lapsed more than three months will be required to take a physical exam and pay all back premiums with interest after this date.

ALEX OKA

"Capisc' Italiano?" "Si, I can garble the gab with the best of 'em," says Alexander Oka, business major sophomore.

As one of the "paesans" of the 442nd Infantry battalion, winning four battle stars in Italy and France, Oka had a chance to sling the lingo with all the natives—particularly the women (the girls in northern Italy were especially "nice to know", in Oka's words).

"I think all the girls at the UH should be complimented on using so little make-up," Alex stated. "They look nice and natural. Of course, they're a constant distraction, but it's pretty fine to have them around."

A graduate of Waiialua high school, Oka believes taking roll in college is unnecessary. "If a student can stay away all term and still pass the course, why more power to him!" He backs up the Ka Leo editorial policy.

As an A-House resident, Oka thinks that living in a large University dormitory is advantageous, especially before exams when fellow students can study together. He hopes someday that the UH will have large men's and women's dorms.

"In 10 years the enrollment here may be much higher than it is now, and we need them," Oka concluded.

Art Students to Form Club on UH Campus

The formation of an art club for students interested in the field of creative art, either two dimensional or three, is being contemplated by several University students.

A meeting will be held Monday, January 27. Interested persons will be notified of particulars if they will send their names, phone numbers and campus mail to CM 1546 as soon as possible.

The club is expected to be established by mid-February at which time "products of genius will have full opportunity to flourish."

Theater Guild Tryouts

Dr. Joel Trapido, director, announced that tryouts for the Theater Guild 40th Anniversary Production will be held during the registration period, Jan. 31, Feb. 1 and Feb. 3, in the evenings at Farrington hall, and also during the first week of the second semester.

Assessment to Pay for Grad Manager's Salary

In order to raise sufficient funds to hire a full-time graduate manager, a plebiscite on the proposal to collect a special fee of fifty cents from students registering for the second semester will be held tomorrow.

The ASUH council, which unanimously passed this resolution to have a plebiscite at its meeting on January 10, reveals that only through the assessment of an additional fifty cents from students will the ASUH be able to pay a substantial salary to a full-time graduate manager.

Taira Advises Vets On School Changes

Veterans in school are advised by Robert Taira, training officer, that the Veterans Administration office on the campus must be informed of the following changes:

1. Completion of college work;
2. Withdrawal from the University;
3. Contemplated change of major field of study (prior to approval of the faculty advisor);
4. Withdrawal from educational benefits to save eligibility time for later schooling;
5. Transfer of V. A. records to

Veterans who expect to be back in school the second semester are requested to complete proper V.A. forms at the V.A. campus office prior to registration for the semester.

mainland V. A. regional offices upon presentation of proof that the veteran has been accepted by the mainland institution;

6. Request for vocational guidance.

Vets are requested to remember to carry small cards showing their C-numbers at all times. The C-number will save both the vet and the V. A. unnecessary delay at the time of contact.

Any kind of a record showing the vet's name and C-number will facilitate hospitalization through V. A. facilities in case of emergencies, Taira concluded.

'47 Ka Palapala To Be Out By End Of School Year

Student participation on the University campus will be the theme of the 1947 Ka Palapala according to Amy Higashihara, editor. Much of the work on the yearbook has been completed and if plans are followed accordingly, the 1947 annual may be issued to the students before school is over.

The book will be divided into these sections: administration, student administration, 40th anniversary section, classes, activities, sports, beauty queens and organizations.

Winners of the beauty contest to be held in February will have a full page portrait in the beauty queen section. Portraits will be taken by David Muramoto, local photographer.

For the first time since 1941, the sports section will feature varsity football. Other major campus events that will be included in the yearbook are Collegiate Carnival, ROTC, Theater Guild and May Day festivities.

The Case of the Missing Minutes, Please Kokua

Anybody seen them? A set of MIMEOGRAPHED WAR MEMORIAL COMMITTEE MINUTES. They were last seen in the ASUH office but walked off somewhere and they ain't been seen since.

They're kinda important and we'd like to have them back.

Kokua, please.
ASUH War Memorial Committee.

Vote Tomorrow . . .

Tomorrow we vote on the council proposed assessment. Are we willing to pay an extra fifty cents for the purpose of obtaining a graduate manager or aren't we?

We must realize that this method is the only one we can follow if we want to have a graduate manager. Everyone agrees that the present salary of $75 is almost an insult to the man who must do the detailed and difficult work. The only way we can supplement the salary is by student assessment, for the ASUH pays for its grad manager.

It is hoped by the council that a good percentage of the students vote tomorrow. And it is hoped that they vote in favor of the assessment which won't hurt them at all.

Fifty cents is a nominal amount, but multiplied by 2800, it will give us a decent sum with which to pay a grad manager.

Hawaii Sports . . .

Hawaii Sporting News, a new periodical published in the islands, has come out with an editorial for the University.

The paper points out to local athletes the advantages of attending our own school over advantages of attending mainland universities and colleges after they get out of high school. It shows that athletes who attend the University have a much better chance of making the varsity squads than they do of placing on the big mainland teams where they are generally "lost in the shuffle" of heavier men and larger schools.

The Hawaii Sporting News urges our local athletes to attend the University of Hawaii because the advantages of doing so are far greater. For one reason, the University is sending its football, basketball and swimming squads to the mainland where they are put up against top competition. The football team will play in the Mid-West next year, and the basketball team is going to New York this spring, covering 14 states in its trip. The swimming squad is going to Seattle Nationals, also. The track and baseball teams have inter-island trips.

Besides, top mainland teams are brought down here to compete against the University in all sports. No other place in the world will people turn out 5000 strong to see two swimming teams meet or turn out 25,000 strong to see a mainland football team play a local club team.

By making a name for themselves in local sports circles, the athletes have a top chance of obtaining good jobs after graduation because they are known to island business men. Also, the University offers as much scholastically as most big mainland colleges and far more than schools of the same size.

The News points out that the climate here is ideal for year-round training in every sport, something no state in the country can boast of. We are not handicapped by inactivity over a three or four month long winter period.

The News' editorial shows us that island people are waking up to the University's position in national sports. We thank them for their backing.

Quonset Huts . . .

The purchase of quonset huts for laboratory facilities is a wise investment, and we trust the University students who have been studying chemistry this year without laboratories are thankful that the administration has finally decided to procure these huts. If they aren't thankful, at least they can be satisfied, as we are, that the administration has acted in alleviating the crowded conditions on the campus.

Yet the administration has moved slowly, for they should have realized the importance of adding facilities last summer. With the the proposals just going through to Washington now, it is another matter just when we'll get these quonset huts. Some may be erected this spring, some may not come before next year.

With the increased enrollment, these huts will be a welcome addition to the present strained and over-worked facilities. We hope the proposal by the ASUH council for a hut for the use of the ASUH offices and the Ka Leo and Ka Palapala offices is included in the general plan. We are as much a part of the educational program of the University as the labs for chemistry are. The council cannot function to the full extent of their capabilities when they must be crowded into one-third the space they need, nor can student publications.

Yours for more quonset huts!

Esther Bellarmino Thinks K-Rations Are Wonderful

Esther Bellarmino from the Philippines is now attending the University of Hawaii as an applied science junior. At a Home Economics Club meeting last Friday she spoke on "The Role of Filipino Women before and after the War in the Philippines."

"I worked under the Intelligence Division of the Underground movement during the war," she stated.

"Propaganda papers and some 'guerilla' papers were found in my hand for which the Japanese imprisoned me for more than a year. From February 4, 1944 to liberation by the First Cavalry of the U.S. Army February 10, 1945."

"Suffering from malnutrition and beri-beri, I was confined after liberation in Santo Tomas Internment Camp for hospitalization. The k-rations did wonders!"

"Because our colleges and schools were destroyed by the war I decided to come to Honolulu not only to visit my relatives but to continue my studies."

She attended the University of the Philippines in Manila and the Philippine Women's University, locally known as the "Vassar of the Philippines". She has been an active member of the YWCA National Federation of Women's Club, the Girl Reserve, and elected secretary-treasurer of the newly formed organization of women imprisoned by the Japanese Army at Fort Santiago called "Patriotic Women's Club of Fort Santiago".

Harris, O'Dwyer Speak On Jews, Palestine at Forum

By George Yamamoto

The case for Zionism (establishment of a Jewish national home land in Palestine) and the case for British policy regarding the Holy Land were presented respectively by Ellis Harris, president of the Zionist organization in Honolulu, and J. C. O'Dwyer, British consul in the Territory, at the International Relations Club forum held Wednesday in SS105.

The pressing situation in Palestine—refugees not allowed to land or thrown into stockades, terrorism by extremist Jewish organizations, British soldiers and tanks in the land—calls for immediate even if temporary solutions, as well as plans for long range settlements.

"The real tragedy and irony of the situation is that a solution goes begging at the cost of human lives," Mr. Harris said. He said that of the million survivors of the Nazi purges, 200,000 are still in displaced persons camps.

Arguing for a Jewish homeland, Mr. Harris cited the historical relation of the Jews to Palestine and the Balfour Declaration, which promised such a haven. He also spoke of the technical and agricultural development made by Jewish colonizers and said that Palestine is a growing country still in its pioneering stage and should be able to support 4 to 5 million people (present population: about 1½ million).

Mr. Harris said that Arab opposition was the most real barrier but that it was largely due to propaganda; that there was no reason to believe that Arabs or any other group would suffer under a democratic government in Palestine. He said that the Arabs are not pressed for land, nor are they, ironically, restricted in immigration.

Mr. O'Dwyer defended the White Paper of 1939, which now backs the legality of the British policy on immigration of Jews into Palestine, by saying that it was promulgated to allay the fears of the Arabs that they would be ousted and "become extinct as the Indians of Manhattan."

He reviewed the Arabs' association with Palestine since the 7th century and said that after helping the British defeat Turkey in World War I, they were disappointed that Versailles did not include Palestine in the revived Arab empire.

"It is easy to criticize the Balfour Declaration now," Mr. O'Dwyer continued, but in 1917 no one could appreciate the latent strength of either Zionism or Arab nationalism."

He said hopes for peaceful, orderly immigration were blasted by Hitler's programs in Nazi Europe.

The extremist Stern gang and Irgun group were blamed by Mr. O'Dwyer for hindering British attempts to work out a peaceful solution.

Neither speaker discussed at any length the relation between Britain's Palestinian policy and British economic and militarily strategic interests.

Drastic? Revolutionary! And They Call It Art . . .

By Teruko Tokunaga

They call it art. They even get two credits for it. Who're "they"? Miss Robinson and Mr. Norris' Art 150 students who are displaying some collages (which means pasted, for your benefit and mine) on the second floor of Hawaii hall.

Before you go and see them, let me prepare you for the shock. Even if you can't figure out what you're looking at (and you're not supposed to), at least appear cultured. These displays really outmode the Fortune magazine covers. Drastic? Brother, they're revolutionary!

However, if you're the appreciative type, even if only to please others, perhaps you'll get a bang out of the exhibits. Some are less radical than others. There's one called "Rhapsody in Blue". Remember George Gershwin? His musical score impressed a certain potential designer-artist at the University of Hawaii.

"Transformation" beats 'em all, though. It's a masterpiece, as far as imagination is concerned. It's about the transformation of a man. There's a picture of a man (I presume it's a male specie) and along the way a leaf, modern inventions and an electrical current, among other crazy contraptions, symbolize the metamorphosis. The man finally ends up transformed into a . . . guess what? Go and see it for yourself.

Speaking of imagination, everything from cigarette butts, carbon paper, suit fabrics, flimsy chifton, Christmas wrapping ribbons to advertisements from the Ka Leo are used for these creations. And they call it art!

From the ridiculous to the sublime, the exhibit does rate a word of honor and praise. The displays show definite originality, imagination and hard work. It's a pity more students don't take advantage of such opportunities. Incidentally, I might add here that the art department claims that there IS a serious angle to this seemingly crazy project though we may not be able to see eye to eye with them in more ways than one.

Yep, times are changing and I suppose this thing called art is, too.

Na Panini

In today's column I'm going to take a seventh inning stretch. I'm going to stand up and look around and rest my voice. I've been yelling at the umpire for the whole game and I'm getting hoarse.

No town, it seems to me, can call itself grown up until it produces a lot of objective criticism. Moviegoer, in the Star-Bulletin, is pretty good when it comes to movies. I don't always agree with him, but he says what he thinks, and that's no small thing.

People have sometimes asked me how you can enjoy anything if you're always criticizing it. They say that as soon as you begin to tear it apart to see what makes it go you've spoiled it. Then it's impossible to have any more fun out of it. That's all perfectly true, up to a point. You go to a movie or a play or listen to a piece of music, and as soon as you say, "That guy who wrote that just wants to see if he can get a rise out of me. He doesn't care a second-hand ice cream cone whether or not he says something worth saying"—as soon as you say that, you've stopped enjoying it. It's all over and you've won; or you've lost, depending on your point of view.

But suppose what you're seeing or hearing is really good. As soon as you begin thinking how good the movie or the play or the music is and begin to analyze it to see why, then you've stopped enjoying it, too. But you don't stop there. Your judgment eggs you on and adds to your experience.

Thus no one is so enthusiastic about something he likes or so violent about something he doesn't like, as the critic. He thinks that if he goes for something that's bad he's been played for a sucker—like finding out that the guy he's just given a quarter to for a sandwich and a cup of coffee has $10,000 in the bank. Nothing makes him feel better than being put at ease on that point.

But the critic may feel that he's being played for a sucker when other people are having a wonderful time. If they know their critic, they will not be misled. A play, or anything else, is rarely killed by a critic. But the critic can initiate controversy and make people think. And if he can make people think he's done a whale of a job.

Theater Guild . . .

There will be a meeting of the Theater Guild Council Saturday at 11:30 for discussion of the Fortieth Anniversary Play to be done in March.

The next Theater Guild effort is to be an informal production, for those interested, of original plays written largely in Dr. Wilson's playwrighting class. They will be done the first part of next semester. Anyone interested in taking part should sign up on the Theater Guild Bulletin Board in Farrington Hall.

"A" House Cagers Defeat Peng Hui For Interclub Open Championship

The long awaited struggle between the leading teams in the interclub basketball league, Atherton House and Peng Hui came into the spotlight Tuesday afternoon at the gym. It was Atherton House again, for the second consecutive win in two years, which won the title after winning the Engineers-"A" House game on a forfeit.

Peng Hui started off with Bernard Yim, Calvin Liu, Richard Kam, Norman Chang and Alfred Ching while Atherton House, popularly known as "A" House, had John Gabriel, Eddie Sato, Stanley Kim, Johnny Dang and Toshi Nakasone.

During the first half, the boys from across the street led, with Toshi Nakasone doing the shooting, and Calvin Liu of the Chinese club doing their chores, in vain. A very slippery court hampered the two teams' effectiveness and the game progressed slowly.

The second half showed a revival of interest in the game by Peng Hui who, up to then were playing sloppily. Led by Dickie Kam's fine pivot shots and Calvin Liu's effective one handers, Peng Hui forged ahead to the lead in the latter part of the fourth quarter. With Stanley Kim's height and Nakasone's shots from 'way back there, "A" House pulled away from Peng Hui in the final minutes of the game. Two fouls were committed and Peng Hui missed the chances of putting the game on ice. On a held ball, time ran out for the Chinese, and Atherton boys walked home with their second consecutive open division championship. The game was a thriller, with the score 25 to 24.

Chop suey dinner, boys, sometime!

The novice championship game was played Wednesday afternoon, between the undefeated Teacher's College five and the Engineers. The TeeCees' had Uyeda (super-soph flash) Uyehara, Kanada, Yoshimura and Oishi. The Engineers had Dang, Tokoyama, Chinn, Marchal and Sakamoto.

Top novice scorer. Harry Kanada, led his Teachers' College team to a decisive win over the Engineers, scoring 27 points to the "slide rulers" 22.

Rainbows Cool Dragons 68-31; Favored To Snag Pennant

By Delbert Sanchez

Harry "Clown" Kahuanui started and ended the scoring last night. That was how simple it was for the University Rainbows to defeat the Dragons in the UH Invitational Senior League double-header at the gym.

This victory gained the Rainbow five a three-way tie for first place with the Sports Stars and Nuuanu Y to give them a crack at the pennant which they are favored to cop. On hand to witness the scoring spree was Nat Isaacs, Madison Square Garden promoter.

The score was 68-31 when the final whistle blew.

The UH varsity started out with their regular five, Loui, Mamiya, Liu, Kahuanui and Rocha. After four minutes of game time, here's how the scoring went, UH leading: 15-8, 17-8, 19-8 and so on until the reserves took over. The dazzling passing and nifty shooting was altogether too much for the Dragons. The "big boys" racked up 25 points to 8 when Coach Chan Wa sent in the reserves.

Damien Rocha and Ed "Boy" Liu, with six points apiece, and Ed "Hot Dog" Louie and Tom Carpenter with five per led the Rainbow scoring parade for the first half. F. Aisaka led the Dragons with a first half scoring total of six digits.

The second squad dumped 11 digits to make the score 36-18 at halftime. The Dragons couldn't manage to get more with boys like Mamiya on their tales, playing classy defensive ball.

The Rainbows continued their winning ways in the second half. Boy Liu was still hitting the hoops with steady accuracy, and Clown Kahuanui found his eye to lead the last half in scoring with eight and six digits respectively. Clown, who for the last few games has been sorta off, demonstrated that he has not lost his touch in gathering points and as usual he played a bang-up game on the backboards.

Boy "the shot" Liu was high man for the game with 14 points. Louie and Mamiya had nine apiece, and Kahuanui, Chang, Rocha and Carpenter rounded out the tally with eight apiece.

Aisaka and Lindsey split 20 points to lead the Dragons.

For the most winning teams, 68 is a good amount of points, but since the score was run up by our reserves, the score was not just good but terrific. Last night the mainstays showed that they have gained some polish. Coach Chan Wa feels a lot safer now when sub time comes with boys like Tai On Chock, Abe Cockett, Haake, Charlie Chang, and Carpenter coming around fast.

The Invitational League has been tops this year with good teams playing hard games. The Rainbows are favored to emerge with the crown, and we hope to return to school the second semester to greet a championship squad.

The schedule is as follows:

Tues., Jan. 28—Ewa vs. Dragons; Pirates vs. Sports Stars.
Thurs., Jan. 30—Sports Stars vs. Dragons; CYO vs. Ewa.
Tues., Feb. 4—Ewa vs. Sports Stars; University vs. Nuuanu Y.
Thurs., Feb. 6—Ewa vs. Nuuanu Y; Pirates vs. University.

Welter Tsukano Meets Kim Tonight At Stadium Bout

Welterweight Shangy Tsukano, varsity boxing squad coach, will meet Andy Kim, former California amateur welter champ, at the Honolulu Stadium tonight in promoter Al Schaff's pro smoker.

Shangy is the popular mentor of the Rainbow squad that hopes to compete with mainland glove teams this spring. Former 442nd Regiment veteran Shangy entered the University last fall as a freshman and is in the college of arts and sciences.

Hardworking Shangy has a fine record behind him, being formerr Maui AAU welter champ. The bout tonight in the five-round semifinal is one of the five supporting matches to the headline bout of David Young, claimant to the world bantamweight crown, and Henry Davis in a 10round fight at the 126-pound limit.
