

Lehideux and Isorni v. France (EurHR 1998)

Can France punish two individuals who publicly defended Marshal Petain from the charge that he collaborated with the Nazis?

Does this attempt to exonerate Petain have an element of “incitement” to it?