Since its founding in 1980, the AAUSC has worked

- to promote, improve, and strengthen foreign language and second language instruction in the US;
- to strengthen development programs for teaching assistants, teaching fellows, associate instructors, or their equivalents;
- to promote research in second language acquisition and on the preparation and supervision of teaching assistants; and
- to establish a forum for exchanging ideas, experiences, and materials among those concerned with language program direction.

In fall 2020, AA USC will celebrate 30 years of publishing high-quality scholarship relevant to your daily work as language program directors and coordinators. To honor this milestone, we will publish the 30th anniversary issue in AA USC’s new journal, Second Language Research and Practice. This online journal will expand the reach of our work and transition AA USC into the cutting-edge world of open-access publishing. The launch of the new journal requires start-up costs. Your tax-deductible gift to AA USC will ensure that our scholarship reaches a broader readership, which will increase our publication’s impact on the field. We hope to reach our goal of $1500 by July 1, 2019, so please make your gift before you leave town for the summer! Gifts of any size are welcome and will make a difference.
