

Sophs Win Flag Rush From Frosh By 80-20 Score

Sophomores Stage Cleanup in All Save Sandbag Scrimmage

FRESHMEN START LATE

Flag Untouched by Freshmen in Final Event Despite Gallant Struggle

Before a large gallery of spectators, the Frosh neophytes went down to a crushing defeat administered by the invincible sophomores. After the smoke of the battle had cleared away, the second year men were found to have almost completely annihilated the underlings by the tune of 80 to 20. The Freshmen just could not get started, as was shown by the way in which they were outclassed. Their only victory came after the sandbag fight, when they were able to muster more bags to their side of the line than the opposition.

Three preliminary events took place just before the main attraction of the afternoon, the flag rush.

Preliminaries

In the first preliminary the sophomore team was just too good, as it simply pulled the frosh off their feet before they could get started. This was the tug-o-war.

The sandbag event next. The first year men were out for blood, as they went into the battle and emerged the victors over the highly tutored sophomores. This event was interesting as well as spectacular, and furnished many intense moments to the cheering gallery.

The horse back fight ended in just the manner that would make any fight interesting, as there were two opposing for supremacy. After much slugging and feints on the part of both riders, the Frosh horse gave way, and crumbled to the earth to the despair of the onlookers and his rider. Not being content to let nature play her part the upper classmen felt that there was not enough water, so they took it upon themselves to do the sprinkling, and how it did pour!

Grand Finale

The grand finale seemed to be the deciding event, as the frosh had garnered 20 points to the sophomores 40. To win the flag rush meant 40 points more, and victory. In this event, the sophomores displayed too much stamina. Time and time again, rushes were made by the frosh to scale the grease laden pole, but all attempts were futile.

U. H. Registration Increased To 1239

356 New Students Enrolled Within One Week's Time

There are now 1239 students registered at the University of Hawaii. Up till last Wednesday, only 883 were enrolled, but in one week 356 new registrations have come in.

The greatest increase has been in the graduate division and among the part-time students. The former had only nine members, but it now boasts 66. The part-time students have increased from 60 to 210.

There are 785 enrolled in the two colleges. The College of Applied Science has 295 students, of which 21 are seniors, 34 juniors, 103 sophomores, and 137 freshmen. In the College of Arts and Sciences 490 have registered, namely, 30 seniors, 68 juniors, 171 sophomores, and 221 freshmen.

The School of Education, which provides professional training for teachers, now has a total registration of 178. There are 80 seniors and 98 juniors in that school.

Registration for graduate work will continue till the first of October according to Miss Helen MacNeil, registrar.

Dean Bilger Aids Women Students In Part Time Work

Arrangements for part-time work for women students are now being made in Dean Bilger's office. Placement of women who wish to earn part of their expenses is becoming one of the important services rendered.

Of the 97 women students who applied for work last year 71 were placed. Forty-seven girls did housework, eight were employed in university offices, four in the university library, and two in the library of Hawaii. Writing, teaching, stenographic work, tutoring, and chauffeuring were some of the other forms of employment.

Poetry Magazine on Coast Plans University Number

Whitley Grey, editor of Troubadour, "A Magazine of Verse" issued every third fortnight by the Troubadour Press at San Diego, California, has asked Jane Comstock Clarke, who was for two years poetry adviser for Hawaii Quill and literary editor of 1930 Ka Palapala, to edit a University of Hawaii number of Troubadour.

Others who will be on the staff are Professors Wise, Lee, Rempel, Harada, Pecker, Dean Bilger, and Mrs. Hormann, the complete staff to be announced as soon as the work is fully organized.

All writers of verse, student, faculty and alumni, are asked to contribute verse manuscripts to Jane Comstock Clarke, 2125 Armstrong Street, Honolulu, T. H. Typewritten work is preferred but handwriting will be acceptable. It is hoped all manuscripts may be submitted by December first in order that the poems for the magazine may be judged for the prizes.

Prizes will be awarded undergraduates for best poems, also those of the art class for cover design and illustrations. Professor Rempel will have charge of the art work.

Girls' Glee Club Re-organized With Twenty-Five Coeds

Twenty-five girls have already signed up to join the university girls' glee club, according to Dora Namahoe, student leader.

Mrs. David L. Crawford, who has done some extensive musical work both here as well as in California, will again be the director. Mrs. Crawford is a graduate of the Pomona School of Music. She taught music at McKinley High School, and also at Mid-Pacific Institute for three years. She was director of the University men's glee club for five years.

Paul Tanner, well-known organist of the Central Union church, is working on plans to organize a men's chorus at the school. During the summer session of the Territorial Normal Training school, he had charge of a chorus of more than fifty voices.

Prof. Bristow Adams Finishes World Tour

Conservation Expert Here Last Semester Tells of His Trip

Professor Bristow Adams of Cornell University, who last semester spent three months at the University of Hawaii organizing an office of publication and an information service similar to the one at Cornell, recently completed a world tour that began early this year.

During his travels, the first leg of which was a transcontinental journey across the United States, he visited Hawaii, Japan, China, Hongkong, the Philippines, Strait Settlements, Federated Malay States, India, Egypt, Italy, France, and England.

Professor Adams made special observations of life in the various parts of the world, and especially in the Orient. He states that conditions in the East outside of Japan are extremely chaotic.

Japan Is Progressive

"Japan," he said on the other hand, "is the most homogeneous, industrious, contented, and self-contained nation I have seen with the possible exception of France, and is easily the most forward looking and efficient of all Oriental countries."

Comparing Hawaii with the rest of the world, he said, "Nature and man have conspired to make Hawaii more nearly like heaven than any other place on earth."

Professor Adams says that the notion of Philippine independence is unthinkable to anyone who has seen conditions there. In his talks with both Americans and Filipinos alike, he finds no sentiment for independence, except from those who see, in a different regime, a chance to better their political, and therefore, their financial fortunes.

While at the University of Hawaii, Professor Adams gave courses on conservation of natural resources and journalism.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mack Here From Wellesley

Mrs. Elizabeth Rath Mack, assistant to Miss May Gay, girls' physical education director, was formerly a student at the University of Hawaii. She attended her freshman class here in 1925-26.

She left this university to attend Wellesley, about 50 miles from Boston Mass. Before assuming her position here, Mrs. Mack was connected with the Palama Settlement. There she did club work and gave lessons in swimming

H. Deponte Yields To Public Demand For ASUH Song Leader

Nora Akaka, Dora Namahoe, Rose Simerson Will Act As Assistants; Eddie Holroyde Chosen As Yell King

Harold Deponte, the only boy competitor for song leader, received the most votes and applause of the students at the first meeting of the A. S. U. H. held last Friday in the gymnasium. His assistants are to be as follows:—Nora Akaka, Dora Namahoe, and Rose Simerson.

Eddie Holroyde was chosen chief yell leader and the rest of the candidates—David Bray, Harold Hall, and M.

Okumoto—were named his assistants. President Donald Layman, the president of the associated student body for the coming year, called the meeting to order. He expressed his belief in the ability of the freshman class this year to make a name for itself and reminded the students of the necessity of cooperation in matters of student activities.

Discuss Constitution

The revision or the entire rewriting of the A. S. U. H. constitution was the first matter taken up. The committee members appointed to look after this matter are:—Professor Gregg M. Sinclair, Caroline Shepherd, Kenneth Chun, and the president of the A. S. U. H.

Students were made aware of the location of the student mail box which is now in the student union building. The new location, the President hopes, will help to keep the usual crowd from assembling on the Hawaii hall steps.

Another announcement concerning the student union building—that of the use of the A. W. S. room—was made. Students were asked to keep the room in as good and neat a condition as possible.

New A. S. U. H. Card

The new method of using the A. S. U. H. ticket book was told to the assembly. The game tickets are to be signed by the owner, one for each attraction at the entrance of whatever places the events might occur in the presence of several authorized students of the university who will serve as identifiers. No tickets are to be torn off before going to the games.

The annual flag rush-program was announced. Then came an announcement of certain interest to all—that of an A. S. U. H. calendar of activities kept by Mrs. Earl Bilger, dean of women. This calendar enables the 50 organizations on the campus to plan their meetings and functions without having them clash.

All social evening affairs given by any of the organizations are required to be chaperoned by at least two couples who will stay to the end of the functions.

The students were also informed that some of the faculty members would greatly appreciate receiving invitations to their functions.

Hawaii Quill Plans Stevenson Banquet, "Treasure Island"

The Hawaii Quill held its first monthly meeting on Tuesday evening, September 16, at the home of Adaline Marques. Plans for the Stevenson Banquet, celebrating the 80th anniversary of the writer, to be sponsored by the club on November 13, were discussed.

The club intends to stage the play "Treasure Island" adapted from one of Stevenson's most widely read novels at the banquet, with a program of speeches by well known "kamaainas" who personally knew Robert Louis Stevenson. A special number of the Hawaii Quill magazine dedicated to the author will be issued to all who attend the banquet.

Sadie Li, Thelma Colle, and Charles Penhallow were elected as literary editor, poetry editor and business manager of the Quill magazine respectively.

The new members who were voted in at the meeting are: Alice Catton, Hebben Porteus, Ivy Williams, Carolyn Shepherd, Elizabeth Shepherd, Elizabeth Pung, Eleanor Lui, Muriel McKenzie, Mew Kean Chock, Fred Kruse, Yukino Nakamura, Bernard Lee, Mark Stephens, Eva Le Claire, Oswald Bushnell, Charles Penhallow, Mary Wong Leong, and John Domine.

ASUH Handbook Now Issued In Place Of "Freshman's Bible"

Published primarily to familiarize students with the University regulations, traditions, activities, and spirit, and to remind them of the elements which make them members of this institution, the student body handbook has been issued this year in place of the Freshman Bible. It embodies the rules which regulate the conduct of the freshmen in their probation period.

Edited after a pattern of yearbooks, the handbook bears much information, such as messages from the president of the university and the A. S. U. H. president, a brief outline of this institution—its life sketch, its campus, and its library; names and purposes of the student organizations.

Wilfrid Hussey edited the handbook which is printed in University of Hawaii colors.

New Lecture Hall To Be Completed On September 25

$40,000 for Erection Provided By Loan Fund Bill

Begun on the last week in April under Contractor R. S. Chase, the new lecture hall seating about 500, will be completed by September 25, according to an announcement by Dean Arthur R. Keller.

The $40,000 for the erection of this building was provided in the loan fund bill by the legislature of 1929. The governor allotted this money from the first issue of bonds sold and early in 1930 the money became available.

The engineering department of the university has been closely associated with the work. The engineering department has had charge of the main supervision of the contract work, has prepared contracts for the main work as well as special contracts, and has attended to many of the details.

Care for Large Classes

The main portion of the hall seats 216 people. These seats are provided with arm rests and will provide seating space for the large lecture classes who use this building.

The tribune section of the hall will seat about 260. The floor of this latter section is wood; that of the other portion, concrete. Space for additional seats of a portable type is available so that the hall will easily accommodate 500.

The lecture hall is expected to provide accommodations for the large lecture classes in social and political science and history. The building will also serve as a laboratory for the class in play production conducted by Professor Arthur E. Wyman.

The hall will be available for public lectures or recitals to be given under the auspices of the university and also for the usual class plays and dramatic nights and small productions where the capacity of the hall will be ample for accommodations of limited number of interested spectators.

Exchange Students From U of C Speak At Sophomore "Y"

Wayne Lobdell and William Marshall, exchange students from the University of California at Berkeley, were the guest speakers at the first meeting of the sophomore Y club last Wednesday noon, September 17, at the University cafeteria.

Wayne Lobdell, the first speaker, related his impressions of Hawaii and later discussed the Y. M. C. A. system at the University of California.

William Marshall had for his talk the subject "Fraternalities and Traditions of My University." Both boys are sophomores.

New officers of the soph Y consist of Raymond Nikaido, president; Charles Kwok, vice-president; Setsu Okuno, treasurer; and Kum Pui Lai, secretary.

Jack Gett Chang was appointed program chairman for the next meeting. Songs and yells ended the gathering.

Extension Director Returns Next Week

Sailing today from San Francisco on board the Matsonia, Dr. F. G. Krauss, director of the agricultural extension service of the University of Hawaii, is expected to arrive in Honolulu on September 30, after spending two months on the mainland.

Since leaving Hawaii July 25, Dr. Krauss has met and conferred with directors of extension and specialists at the universities of California, Oregon, Washington, Montana and New York, and the chief and other officials at the office of cooperative extension work at Washington, D. C.

While in Washington, he prepared a radio paper on Hawaii which was read on National Broadcasting Night, September 8-13.

What of the Future?

TEN YEARS of growth have been completed by the University. Another decade lies by the wayside as the future's challenge or promise. In the interim between, it is appropriate for us, now at the dawn of another era, to look forward and discern what we can of Time's uncertain line.

The achievements of the past are before us—in beautiful architectural productions, in academic attainments, and in growth in numbers. Tangible feats bear mute testimony of the patience and diligence of Hawaii's pioneers in higher education. And now comes the question, "What of the future?"

Expansion is inevitable. The University has grown in the past because of an urgent need, responding in each case to a definite demand. As new opportunities arise within the next decade, thus will be born the need for further enlargement.

Here at the Crossroads of the Pacific the prospects are indeed bright. Ten years from today: perhaps a school of racial studies? possibly a school of music? probably a school of medicine? or a school of tropical agriculture? or augmented campus facilities? The future is not a closed book. The destiny of the University is in the hands of the mass of citizens, who comprise the strength and virility of the Territory.

Training Hawaii's youth for adjustment in the commonwealth is the University's primary objective. This is its greatest opportunity. And here resides the germ which may make of the University of Hawaii an institution of great significance throughout the Pacific area.

"Procrastination is common to all mortals except firemen, who have so much desirable leisure that an emergency is seized as a joy."

Now that night football is here, some students have another item to add to their list of alibis for not getting in their assignments on time.

Warrior of the Pacific

FOR THE FOURTH consecutive year the Warrior of the Pacific, symbol of collegiate rifle supremacy, is to remain in Hawaii. The trophy was won by the University of Hawaii R. O. T. C. cadets at the last encampment, held during the summer, in competition against universities throughout the mainland.

The University cadets who participated in the matches are to be congratulated. In dishing out credit, however, Colonel Adna G. Clarke, Captain Cecil Gridley, and Captain E. A. Rudelius should not be forgotten.

Real accomplishment comes only with hard work. That the Hawaii cadets worked hard for their victory colors whatever satisfaction and merit this University and the participants themselves may have received. Hawaii cadets have every reason to hold their heads high, not in pride but in the realization of a duty well done.

All things I thought I knew; but now confess
The more I think I know, I know the less.

For the Students' Interests

AS A MATTER of policy the president of the A. S. U. H. last week requested and was granted the power to delve into complaints regarding the University book store. Dissatisfaction, pure and simple, provoked the gesture. The president will appoint a committee to conduct an investigation, and if possible, remedy matters.

It is not held that the book store is making exorbitant profits. It is held, however, that the situation is not altogether a pleasant one—from the student's viewpoint. The students want cheaper text books, and want them when they are most needed, not three or four weeks late. It remains to be seen whether or not the cloud can be lifted.

The Brevity of Time

ARTHUR BRISBANE, classed as America's highest paid writer, tells in one of his weekly editorials of his experience with a dentist who complained that many of his patients did not pay their bills. "And I suppose you put a lot of valuable gold fillings in their teeth?" Mr. Brisbane asked.

"Gold nothing," the doctor replied. "I can buy more gold. I don't mind that. But I can't buy more time. It's the time that I lost that counts."

We each of us have twenty-four hours each day—no more, no less. The time available for work, study, and play is limited. Every day we hear people around us who complain: "I wish I had more time," and "If I had the time, I . . ." and so on. When we stop to think of the 19 years of that young student who recently met his death in an auto accident, we are impressed forcibly with the brevity of time. But whether we consider the 19 years of that young life or the 83 rich years of Victor Hugo, time, after all, is decided brief.

As he drew near the close of his 83 years, Victor Hugo testified to life's brevity: "For half a century I have been writing my thoughts in prose and verse, history, philosophy, drama, romance, tradition, satire, ode and song; I have tried all. But I feel I have not said the thousandth part of what is in me. When I go down to the grave I can say like many others, 'I have finished my day's work, but I cannot say 'I have finished my life.'"

Time: How fleeting, how brief.

It is not what a man is studying that makes him a sophomore or a senior; it is the stage the college process has reached in him.

Woodrow Wilson

The weakest among us has a gift, however seemingly trivial, which is peculiar to him, and which, when worthily used, will be a gift also to his race forever.

Campus Views Gossips

Former Editor Becomes

Political Manager
Hiram Leong Fong, former editor of Ka Leo, is campaign manager for G. Fred Wright, Republican candidate for mayor in the coming primaries.

Mr. Fong completed his studies here last summer. He was among the spectators who witnessed the annual flag-rush on the campus last Friday. Fong says that just before the primaries, on invitation of Dean William H. George, he is "coming back" to give a talk on the city and county elections to the class in freshman political science.

Allen "Plunger" Moore, former Varsity cheer leader and member of the class of 1930, paid us a visit last week during the initiation ceremonies on the campus. Mr. Moore is now connected with the Territory Building and Loan company.

Miss Koto Nakamoto, graduate of the University of Hawaii, class of '29, will leave for an extended trip to Japan on Thursday, September 25, on the Tatsuta Maru.

While at the university, she was an active member of Hui Pookela, Wakaba Kai, and the Japanese Students' Alliance Association.

Among the Hawaiian-born young people who are returning to Japan this fall is Paul T. Hirashima, A.B. '30. Hirashima sails tomorrow on the Tatsuta Maru and expects to study Japanese during his one-year stay in Japan.

"Timid, bewildered ones and hold 'cock-sure' ones are scurrying through basements and up and down stairs, defying commands, and swinging into cooling dips. Which's which and who's who? Difficult to say for many, but there is that huge, brawny Hercules.

Harry Field is the Herculean Frosh. Every inch an athlete he has both a past and a future in football, track, and swimming. He can excel as tackle, half back, shot putter, and even as a sonorous tenor. Watch him go!

Eddie Holroyde, treasurer of the class of '34, is always there with a smile. Cheerful and snappy he, as an experienced cheer-leader, can lead hundreds in a concert of actions.

As an artist and dancer, Dorrance Chandler comes from Punahou to join the frosh ranks. She is a graceful interpretive dancer. Posters and sketches she paints with equal ease and grace. She can also make speeches.

David Livingston is a track and swimming possibility. He is a big boy with a genial character that has made him a student leader. He plays a "Big fiddle," too.

A perfect blonde poised on the board, a spring, a flash into the water—that describes Virginia Hammond. Diver, swimmer, and bridge "friend," is "Gin Gin." She can also wield the gavel as a pretty club president.

Another Punahou alumnus among the freshmen is Paul Young of the booming voice. He has always, is always, and will always talk. Besides talking he is a whiz scholastically and is a boxer.

Exchange Editor Speaks His Piece On School Papers

By HAROLD W. CHING

Without invitation and at the risk of considerable adverse criticism, the exchange editor contributes the following few comments on present day conditions in school and college papers. Perhaps there will be a new e.e. within the next few weeks, but whether or not this is so, is a debatable question.

College journals, like all newspapers, look toward New York for the newest features and trends in journalism. What is successful there is imitated all over the world.

Many school newspapers lament the comparative smallness of their journals, sometimes without sufficient cause. For when a paper uses a name plate occupying a sixth of the entire page, further squawking should cease.

Instructors want to model their sheets after the New York Times or the Manchester Guardian, while students copy the style of the tabloids. And in spite of all the information to the contrary given out by statisticians, students have reasons for their beliefs. In the list of "rulers of the country" picked by an ex-ambassador, McCormick and Patterson, owners of the blatant Chicago Tribune and the sensational New York Daily news placed alongside with Ochs of the New York Times, and Hearst, another sensation creator.

Instructors who spend so much time on telling their students of the importance of facts should cease, for the student, however dumb, realizes that it is "no facts, no news."

What old-time newspaperman hasn't lamented the indiscriminate signing of news articles? There are three reasons for signing a story; namely, (a) when it is an essay, (b) when the writer wishes to take the credit for its excellence, and (c) when it is so exceptionally poor that the paper does not care to be responsible. (This article is for the third reason.)

Personal journalism is coming into its own again.

Counlists also emigrated from New York. Of these, Christopher Morley (one of them) speaks: "he is not a real newspaper man: he is only a debosched editorial writer. The increase is a sign that papers require more scapegoats, or safety valves through whom readers might blow off their disrespects. With these effigies as decoys, the wicked press might go about its misdeeds with more security, and conspire unobserved."

THE PINION, McKinley, Honolulu.—Enlarged by one whole column in its first edition, it gives promise of a good record this year. The featured article, a sermon, should have been signed, or else the writer should have quoted himself instead of editorializing. Many students have shown they can write. Now to start writing for interest and forget all about rules of journalism, and the profession of journalism would take a great step forward.

Copyreaders would do well to watch for such indefinite adjectives as "grand and glorious."

NIGHT FOOTBALL

Will night football be successful in Hawaii? Undoubtedly, it will be. Last year, it enjoyed a prosperous season on the mainland, and this year it may go across big in Hawaii, or it may turn out to be a dismal flop. Who knows? It is to be an innovation and like all new-fangled things, it is uncertain. Nevertheless, night football has advantages that cannot be overlooked. For one thing, it will not come into conflict with the prep games. Secondly, it will switch public interest that has centered around the interscholastic league to the senior league and that, in itself, will help fill the coffers of the University of Hawaii. Thirdly, night football will be played in a weather devoid of the heat and sweat that accompanies day football. And lastly, it will contribute wholesome recreation to the people of Honolulu at a not too ungodly hour.

The disadvantages of night football, however, lie on the part of the students of the University of Hawaii. A student usually does not want a break in his studies during week days, and night football, held on Wednesday nights, will provide this break. The same condition confronts the players. They will have to buckle down and study harder. Also (this is only speculation) they will have to adjust themselves to new conditions. This takes time and consequently the brand of football exhibited may not be on par with what the customers have been accustomed to see in the past years.

But the most staggering blow that will result from night football will be felt among the students of this university and its rooting section simply because a large number of the women students will not choose to go to the games without an escort. Some may say that night football does not end at an unearthly hour, and others may say that university women are all grown-ups and hence able to take care of themselves, but the fact remains, that there are a great number of timid and wise mothers in this community who think more of their daughters than of night football. Hence we can estimate that attendance will fall, especially among the women students who comprise an important cog in the university rooting section. Therefore I resolve that this night football racket is unfair to the fair sex. The A. S. U. H. has obliged them to buy the book of tickets which entitles them to witness the games played by the University of Hawaii. Now night football has crept in and will eventually rob some of them of their opportunities to claim their privileges simply because they will have to comply with the wise instructions of their mothers. I leave this to the A. S. U. H. to judge whether this is fair or not, and if unfair to alleviate the trouble.

A Student.

Senior Forum Holds Its First Meeting Of The School Year

Eleven of the thirteen members of the Senior Forum were present at its first meeting last Thursday evening, at 610 South King Street.

Exchange Student Thinks Facilities Here Are Well-Provided For Students

Editor's Note—Following is the second of a series of interviews with the exchange students on the University campus. This week Frank Wengren, of the University of Southern California, gives his impressions of the University of Hawaii.

"Never have dreams, never have friends, never have illustrations given a truly realistic and comprehensive impression of your wonderful island world. I am struck by its beauty, and although I do not want to humiliate I must say that everything is more than malkal.

"In Los Angeles we know the University of Hawaii; we know especially its football team and debate squad and have a great deal of respect for both. None of the wonderful reports of the University of Hawaii have been exaggerated, and when your team goes back to face the University of Southern California in football this year they'll have a battle, but I know our boys will make it a real game and if they don't win, they will go down fighting like true sportsmen. I wish the team the best of luck against U. S. C.

HAWAII

Ronald Colman comes to the Hawaii theater screen for the week starting with the matinee performance this Saturday afternoon in the picturization of the famous novel "Condemned to Devil's Island" by Blair Niles, and which has been retitled, "Condemned." In leading support appears the charming actress Ann Harding.

"Condemned" provides Colman with a striking role that of a debonaire, fearless young thief condemned to servitude with the world's most notorious desperadoes. He is an outlaw, dare-devil, fugitive and heart-bandid.

PRINCESS

"The Furies" coming to the Princess theater screen for the three days starting with the matinee Saturday afternoon, although a murder mystery film, tells at the same time a poignant and dramatic psychological story of New York's social elite. This story was filmed from Zo Akin's stage play and Lois Wilson with H. B. Warner appear in the leading roles.

Buster Keaton the popular "frozen-face" comedian comes in his first talkie, "Free and Easy" to the Princess for the four days starting next Tuesday matinee.

"Free and Easy" carries the audience behind the scenes of the studios in Hollywood, the main premise having to do with Buster's entrance into the making of a talking picture.

EMPIRE

The Empire will present for the three days commencing Sunday evening the powerful story of the sea, "Ship From Shanghai" with Conrad Nagel and Kay Johnson in the star roles.

Coming to the Empire next Wednesday for four days the famous Duncan Sisters, Vivian and Rosita, of "Topsy and Eva" fame will be seen in their first talkie, "It's a Great Life."

Schedule Is Drawn For Women's Sports

Miss May Gay, Mrs. Elizabeth Mack in Charge of Activities

Tentative plans for women's sports for the year 1930-1931 were issued last week by Miss May Gay, women's athletic director. Under the present schedule Miss Gay and Mrs. Elizabeth Mack will have charge of all branches of sports.

Every woman will be required to pass a swimming test similar to the Junior Life Saving test, and those who fail in the test will be required to join a swimming class under the tutelage of Mrs. Mack.

Other sports will be tennis, and basketball. In addition, it is planned to have a field-hockey class at 7:30 a. m. on scheduled days. Another new feature in the calendar of women's sports will be the forming of a tennis team to compete with outside organizations. Both the tennis and hockey teams will be extra-curricular, but may be used to fulfill physical education requirements.

Freshman women will be required to take a series of sports during the year, while members of the upper classes may elect one sport.

Westgate Becomes Jr. Class Treasurer

Mark Westgate, member of the Student Council and a prominent scholastic student, was elected treasurer of the junior class at a special meeting held last Saturday.

The new treasurer has requested all juniors to pay the class dues to their officers, Yasuo Katsuki, Jana Glenn, Eugene Ichinose, and Mark Westgate. The junior dues amount to two dollars; while during the sophomore and freshman years, the dues were a dollar per year.

AIWOHI AND NAGATA LEAD RAINBOW BABES TO VICTORY

Spartans Wallop Fighting Micks 24-0; Young Deans Execute Klum's New Shift To Perfection

BY DON MCKENNEY

Everything went just about according to hoyle last Saturday in the Mick-Spartan clash. The youthful gang of Rainbow youngsters scampered off with the long end of a 24-0 score, and everyone agrees that it should have been about twice that margin. McKinley fought valiantly and long, for her line measured up well with the Spartan forward wall and but for a most woeful weakness at end and in the backfield, a far different story would have been recorded.

Within the first 16 minutes the young Deans had run up a three touchdown lead and it looked as if a slaughter was in the offing. The Micks braced, however, and it was quarter that Nagata raced fourteen yards around right end for the fourth and final touchdown of the game. It must have given Neil Blaisdell, Mick coach, a pain in the neck to see Nagata, Westcoat, Chan, and other former Micks bust up his team all afternoon. And they did rather a thorough job of it too.

Aiwohi Scores First

Little Francis Aiwohi, but plenty tough for all that, shared with Nagata the offensive honors of the day. He has that necessary knack of picking his holes, and the little Warrior scored the first Dean touchdown, when he slashed off right tackle for 22 yards and the McKinley goal. He was also responsible for the second touchdown, scoring it some seven minutes later on as pretty a piece of broken field running we have seen in some time. Tearing off right end this time, he cleverly reversed his field and ambled some 34 yards to score. Coach Klum evidently figured that Aiwohi had done enough damage for the time being and replaced him with Allan Nagata.

Deans Tear Off Yardage

After several ineffective Mick sallies, the Dean Babes obtained possession of the ball, and with Field, Kealoha, and Nagata all tearing off yardage, another score seemed eminent. Several penalties set the young Warriors a very substantial distance back, but just to get even with the umpire, evidently, Nagata sliced off right tackle, and thanks to some excellent interference, sprinted some 63 yards to a touchdown. The fourth touchdown has already been recorded.

Mick Line Strong

Except when bolstered up by Chet Dods, and occasional spurts of brilliance on the part of Dutch Freitas, the entire Mick backfield almost fall over of their own accord. Several times Jack King rushed in from left end and almost took the ball away from Hopkins or Freitas while they were waiting to run with it. King, by the way, played a bang up game at end. The team play of the McKinley line was almost faultless throughout the afternoon. Kusunoki at center, Paoa, at guard, Silva at tackle, and the entire center of the Mick line looked great.

For the University, Puuohou, Ray Reed, Lindsay, Coelho, and Naukana distinguished themselves particularly well.

Sports Comment

BY DON MCKENNEY

Now that rowing is over and the Hiloites have again established their superiority, Hiram Kaakua, that dusky phantom of the gridiron, and Doc Withington, the new line coach will both be seen again on Cooke Field performing their respective duties with renewed regularity. Great things are expected of Kaakua this year, and no doubt both Coach Klum and Withington may find some flaws in the line play of the Spartans last Saturday against McKinley.

High hopes were again dashed to the ground when Johnny Kerr accepted the proposition of the Oakland Club of the Pacific Coast League to try out as a pitcher with them. We all were looking for Kerr to perform miracles this year on the gridiron, but he can hardly be blamed for taking such a lucrative offer. Aloha and good luck, Johnny.

According to Klum, Kim has shown the most drive, pep, and form of any of the backs so far this season. Kim plays fullback, and so far appears to be the class of the lot. George Indie, by the way, has been switched from full to right half and shows more promise at this position than he ever did at full. It is also a fact that he made the All-Star team last year at full so he must be going pretty good at half.

Speaking of switches reminds us that another All-Star is now playing a position other than that which he played last year. We refer to Norman Kauaihi, in whom Proc believes are contained all the qualifications which make up an excellent end. Norman played guard all last year and it remains to be seen whether or not he can adopt himself to the new conditions at the new position.

Hawshaw Howell has also been shifted from left tackle to left end. He is one man that looks like a fixture on the squad, if he keeps in trim.

If Harry Field can learn to run interference and tackle and block Proc will keep him at full, otherwise back to the line. In the Mick game Field did a lot more than downtown scribes evidently saw him do. His duties were not of a particularly spectacular nature, and anyway we'll see later on how easy it is for the other Interscholastic teams to crack the center of that Mick forward wall.

The big trouble with Chief Lindsay the last several seasons has been that he was too good natured all together. He lacked the killer instinct as it were. If he keeps up his present fight and ginger, there will be one less guard position that Klum will have to worry about.

Just about the biggest improvement in the team as a whole was their execution of Proc's new shift. They ran through it like veterans against the Micks, and it must be particularly gratifying to Klum when he remembers that they were not penalized once for its illegal execution.

The transfer of Hooper from left guard to right tackle has been somewhat in the nature of an experiment. If "Hoop" can get himself in good condition, he should be able to fill the bill in good shape.

"Powderhouse" Nahalea, sub guard last year has been shifted over to center. His passing has been somewhat erratic but lots of experience and practise should overcome that difficulty.

Beat U. S. C. ! ! ! !

Yesterday Klum had both Kauaihi and Field at their old places, guard and tackle respectively. They both looked like demons at these positions and it is quite possible that they will stay where they are all season.

George Naukana was alternating with Clem Judd at right end, the post just vacated by Kauaihi. All the lanky former Kam school star needs is plenty of red pepper and he can make the grade in a walk.

From what we hear this Brigham Young bunch must be one gang of tough hombres. Well, bring 'em on. We all remember what Brigham said at that famous party...but never mind. If they're anything like that last team that came down from Utah...why look out!

has had a great deal of experience with these sports. A more definite announcement regarding this new appointment will be made at a later date.

The pretty freshman girls include Betty Tay in the group. She has a much-envied tan, golden-brown hair, and an irresistible smile. Her tan tells the tale that she is some swimmer.

Girls' Physical Ed Classes Show Gain

Well Rounded Program Being Offered Girls Including Swimming, Basketball

Almost 400 women students in the University of Hawaii are now enrolled in regular Physical Education classes, according to figures given out by Miss May Gay, Girl's Physical Education Director. Of this number almost 150 are freshmen all of whom are required to take the course.

This year the classes in swimming are being concentrated upon more than in previous years. The object of these classes in swimming is to encourage the girls to pass the Red Cross and junior swimming tests. Of the seven classes, the morning class at 7:30 on Mondays and Wednesdays is the largest, with eighty girls enrolled. Thirty of these girls cannot swim at all.

The classes are in charge of Mrs. Elizabeth Mack, assistant director. She and Miss Gay believe that by the end of the course in swimming, the majority of girls will be able to pass the tests.

For the girls of the three upper classes and those freshman girls who have passed the swimming tests, there are six athletics classes. Pin ball and basket ball are played. Class competition in basket ball is being planned by the girls of these classes.

In addition to the swimming and athletics classes, there are four classes in natural dancing, two in shooting and one in hockey. This will be the first time that a class in hockey has been taught on the university campus. About twenty-two girls have signed up for this class which is held at 7:30, Saturday mornings. The girls of the class also intend to play a few games against the Kamehameha girls' team.

Thirty girls who are either underweight or overweight or who did not pass the physical examinations satisfactorily will be in a special class. What they will do will depend upon the advice of the medical staff.

Dancing classes will be open to freshmen as well as upper classmen.

Some of the brighter sport luminaries attending the University are Rose Simerson, Elizabeth Shepherd, Dorothy Benton, Virginia Hammond, Lila Brown, Elaine Untermyer, Dutchie Bayless, Rhoda Dunn, Hima Johnson, Winifred Piltz, Dorothy Mack, Kehau Peterson, Dora Rego, Irmgard Farden, Dorothy Mookini, Gealoha Kaluakini, Cecilia Arnold, Thelma Sproat, Ida Yowell, Zella Miller, and Willie Schwallie.

Dean Warriors Doped To Beat Alumni Has-Beens

Last Year Marked End of 3 Season Chain of Alumni Wins; Beaten 22-0

After having broken a three year jinx last season when the Alumni were smothered under a 22-0 score, Klum's latest green and white juggernaut, flashing more speed, power, and deception than ever before, hopes to repeat last year's performance. The Alumni, likewise, bolstered by the addition of Rusty Holt, Mel Peterson, and possibly Water Macfarlane, as well as the regular galaxy of Dean has-beens, are quite confident that they will have little trouble in handing the Varsity the small end of the score.

Klum's Opinion

"Confidence has always been the deciding factor in the games of the past with the Alumni," says Coach Otto Klum. "The varsity has usually been too cocky, while the Alums have been able to bluff the kids out of the old game."

For three years the Alumni administered close drubbings to the regulars, but this year it looks as if they will have their work cut out for them if they intend to repeat. The varsity appears to have much the better, on paper, as far as training, condition, and possibly material goes.

With Nobriga, Johnny Wise, Kaakua, and Crosby in the backfield, the Rainbow backs look like the class of the circuit, especially when we remember that Indie, Field, Puuohou, Kerr, Kim, Nagata, Aiwohi, and numerous other good backs have hardly even been mentioned. When they hit their stride, and we pray that they will, Klum can put a backfield on the gridiron that will compare favorably with the one of the Old Wonder Team days.

It will be practically this same Wonder Team, with a few additions and omissions, that will face the Deans Saturday at the Stadium.

Center Weak

The whole of the Dean line looks to be invulnerable, with perhaps a perceptible weakness at the pivot position. Nahalea, Chief Lindsay, Al Lyman, Toyoma, Coelho, and other good linemen should prove quite competent in taking care of their positions. Tackles and ends appear to be quite in profusion this year. ## Varsity Is To Have Part In Virgil Event

Professor Gregg M. Sinclair Will Give Lecture On Roman Poet

The University of Hawaii will contribute its share to the nation-wide celebration of the Bimillennium Virgilianum the fifteenth of next month. A lecture on Virgil will be given by Professor Gregg M. Sinclair that evening under the auspices of the Department of English and of Phi Kappa Phi.

Phi Kappa Phi is a national fraternity standing for good scholarship, and sponsors events of scholastic interest two or three times yearly. The forty-seventh chapter is located in the University of Hawaii.

The most noted event commemorating the two thousandth anniversary of Virgil's birth was a cruise to the home of the great Roman poet and to the scenes of this great epic poem, the Aeneid.

Virgil was known not only for the Aeneid, but also for his pastoral poems, the Georgics and the Eclogues.

Wakaba Kai Holds First Meeting To Plan Work For Year

Edith Tokimasa presided in the absence of the president, Toku Yoshizawa.

The club voted to have a pin in the form of Japanese pine tree needles.

It was decided to hold the meetings on the first Friday of each month at 12:30 p. m.

Plans for a get-together party with the Yang Chang Hui next month were discussed. The committees appointed were: program—Carla Mirikitani, chairman, Betty Muroda, Kasumi Takeshima; decorations—Shizuko Teramoto, chairman, May Nishimura, Michi Suzuki, Betty Kawakami, Florence Fujitani; refreshments—Asako Fujikawa, chairman, Teruko Shimada, Inoyo Kojima, Ethel Omori and Fumiko Kimura.

Coast University Offers Course To Better Personality

New York University is offering an accredited course this year "to improve the personality of the business man or business woman," according to the announcement from the office of the assistant dean of the school of Commerce, Accounts and Finance.

The course is founded on seven years of research and experiment and is not a "charm school." It is based on practical, common sense training in the improvement of individual personalities which form the backbone of business success.

Says Newman L. Hoopingarner, professor of business psychology who is in charge of the course, "Studies have shown that success, even in such technical lines as engineering, is due approximately 15 percent to technical knowledge and about 85 percent to those human qualities which have to do with successful dealing with people."

The course, in short, is expected to supply the 85 percent lacking in the education of the average student.

Student Flies To Hawaii To Enter School Here

Jean Kinsley, freshmen, transferring to the University of Hawaii from New York University, flew across the mainland. The company maintaining the route arranges for train service during the night and plane service during the day.

Miss Kinsley took plane at Columbus, Ohio, and flew to Waynoka, Oklahoma, landing en route at Indianapolis, St. Louis, and Kansas City. From Waynoka, she travelled by train to Clovis, New Mexico, and flew from there to Los Angeles, landing five minutes ahead of schedule.

Luncheon was served aboard the plane both days. The cabin holds twelve passengers and two pilots. The plane is a tri-motored monoplane, with both sending and receiving radio apparatus. Weather reports were received every fifteen minutes. Officials furnished a route map and cotton to stop the ears for the comfort of the passengers.

Miss Kinsley tells us that she enjoyed her trip immensely.

C. S. A. MEETING

The university unit of the Chinese Students' Alliance held its initial meeting last Friday night at the Y. W. C. A. with President James Leong presiding. The meeting was a get-together affair to welcome the incoming members of the alliance. Kenneth Chun, president of the entire C. S. A. addressed the members. Miss Elizabeth Leong conducted a humorous and entertaining program, to which representatives of the four classes contributed stunts, songs and dances.

The first meeting of the general Chinese Students' Alliance will be held at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, September 26 at Fuller's Hall, Y. W. C. A. The university unit will be in charge of the program. Such important business as plans for the observance of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the C. S. A. will be discussed.

The ship reporters gathered about the world-famous traveler at Sidney, Australia. The spokesmen prepared to question him when—

"A fine harbor you've got here," commented the traveler. The reporters slunk away in despair. He had beaten them to it. Back at their offices, none of them devoted more than a single paragraph to his arrival.

It's not much different here in Hawaii, as witness the following headline in the local BULL:—HAWAII IS BEST SPOT ON GLOBE, SAYS TRAVELER.

Aggie Students Are Doing Farm Work

Take Up Principles of Soil Crops, and Various Kinds of Tools

Along with their theoretical work, students in agriculture are required to do some practical farming, either at our own or at some approved farm. Such a course has been found to be very successful in giving to the enrolled future farmers a thorough working knowledge of the fundamental principles of the soil, crops, livestock, poultry, and the various kinds of implements in use. Except for those who already have had some practical training with the soil, this requirement must be met before the junior year. Although the actual length of time spent in practice varies with the different students, the required amount of time is eight weeks.

Many of the boys have found that the best time to do this work is either during the summer months, Christmas vacation or between semester. This enables them to be out on the fields as early as seven o'clock in the mornings, thus giving them an opportunity to actually become acquainted with the many aspects of farm life.

Then before these agriculturists are graduated from the course, they must spend the second semester of their senior year in work, under the jurisdiction of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association, or the Hawaiian Pineapple Canners' Association.

According to Louis A. Henke, head of the agricultural department, fifty-five students are enrolled in farming this semester. Of this number, twenty-five are freshmen, nineteen sophomores, six juniors, and five seniors.

at tackle; Howell, Kauaihilo, Westcott, Naukana, Chan, King and Leydorf at end, all ought to be able to take the measure of whatever the Alums have to offer. Whether they will or not remains to be seen.

Old Against New

Doggy Wise and Eddy Fernandez, Dean satellites in years gone by are coaching the Alumni this year as they have in the past. The Wise to Fernandez combination again promises to be quite prominent. Art Nobriga, for two years the backbone of the Rainbow forward wall, Dan Ainoa, Corny Friel, Duke Thompson, Sonny Kaeo, Fat Young, Buster Holt, Walter Holt and the Blaisdell brothers will all be seen in action wearing Alumni colors. Among the list of players even the casual observer may find the name of almost every Dean captain and star that has competed for Hawaii during the last decade. It will be a battle of the giants, the old against the new, and a game well worth seeing.

The game will start promptly at 3:00 at the Honolulu Stadium.

Marketing Service Now Made Possible

Congressional Appropriation for Agricultural Work Here

A marketing service to be financed by both federal and territorial funds is to be started by the agricultural extension service of the University of Hawaii, according to President David L. Crawford. The project has become possible with the Congressional appropriation of $1,000,000 for agricultural extension work. Of that huge sum $7,000 will be available for Hawaii if matched by territorial funds.

The Hawaiian Homes Commission will contribute $1,000 toward helping to match the federal funds and $1,500 could be obtained through other sources, President Crawford says, making a total of $2,500 of territorial funds. The additional $4,500 of the federal funds available will lapse.

The appropriation by congress was due to the principal demand for more specialists in economics and marketing as was stressed by the federal farm board.

SOPHS WIN FLAG RUSH FROM FROSH

The men mauled around fighting, scratching, punching, wrestling, and at times, embracing, for twelve minutes that seemed like twelve hours. Slippery backs, hands, and feet, were to be contended with. Although the frosh put up a real battle, they failed to separate the upper classmen from the closely guarded pole and all was of no avail, as the final whistle found the sophomores still hugging the pole, and the flag untouched.

As a result of their almost complete victory, the second year men have it in their power to keep close scrutiny over the frosh relative to the wearing of green caps for two more weeks.

The day ended as the sun went down, and the sophomores were triumphant.

Miss Yap Acquires Early Math Findings

Did Research at Nankai Library During Visit to the Orient

"The Chinese used cubic equations a thousand years before Cardan, the Horner method of approximating roots centuries before Horner was born." Such were some of the mathematical findings of Miss Ruth Yap, instructor in the university math department, who has returned from a recent trip to the Orient.

In diligent search for mathematical secrets of the early Chinese, Miss Yap finally located Professor L. F. Chang of the Nankai University in Tientsin who presented her with one of his treasured sets containing 10 classics. They are written on thin rice paper, bound in true Chinese fashion.

"I had a hectic time in an old antique and dusty bookshop in Peking trying to find what I wanted," Miss Yap said, "And," she added, "they had absolutely no system of classification, so nothing of mathematical interest could be found for me."

Miss Yap visited the universities of Japan and China. She especially admired the Chinese architecture and Chinese lotus gardens of some of the universities. She spent much time in the exceptionally good library of Nankai where the mathematics department is complete in European and Chinese.
