"March of Dimes"

The campus March of Dimes campaign will begin on January 12 and end on January 23, announced Andrew Seki, general chairman. Assisting Seki in the planning and carrying out of this annual campaign are the Pre-Med and Med-Tech clubs. Contributions to the March of Dimes will be carried out mainly by club solicitations. Cans will be installed in the principal buildings of the campus on Monday.

Randolph Churchill

Randolph Churchill, gifted speaker and debater, opens the Town Hall of Hawaii world events lecture series tonight at 8 at the McKinley auditorium. His topic is "Europe Today." Questions from the audience pertaining to Europe and her pressing problems will be answered if time permits. Mr. Churchill was educated at Eton and Christ Church, Oxford. At the age of 19 he began his career as a journalist and lecturer. During the previous year he carried an impressive campaign for the reelection of his father, Winston Churchill, to Parliament. In a by election in 1940, young Churchill was elected to Parliament but due to his active role in the war, had little opportunity to serve. The wartime prime minister's son, a syndicated columnist, indorses the Marshall plan, confident of its great influential effect on Europe. Special student tickets may be obtained at the ASUH office at five dollars for the entire series which will be covered by internationally known political and journalistic figures.

Dramatic Highlight Of Play

A dramatic highlight in the Theatre Guild's production of the Japanese post war play "The Defeated," which opened Wednesday night in Farrington hall, is the above scene in which a farm woman receives a thrashing from starving vagrants for attempting to sell her produce at black market prices. Students are reminded that they may continue to exchange Theatre Guild coupon number three for tickets at the Bergstrom Music Store box office for the remaining performances which are scheduled for tonight and January 10, 13, 15, 16 and 17.

- The program is as follows:
- I. Jesus the Christ is Born, Appalachain Folk Song; Dayspring of Eternity, Freylinghausen; Cherubim Song, Tschaikowsky; Honolulu Lyric Ensemble.
 - II. Jesus Rest Your Head, Appalachain Folk Tune; Rise Up Shepherds, Plantation Spiritual, Teachers' College Intermediate School Choir.
 - III. To Thee We Sing, Russian-Tkach; Miserere Meo, Allegri; God's Song Has Made Me Free, Greig; Wasn't That A Mighty Day, Spiritual, Honolulu Gleemen.

 - V. While Shepherds Watched, Est's Book of Psalms; Cherry Tree Carol, Traditional. University Singers.
 - VI. Legend, Tschaikowsky; Cradle Hymn, Christiansen; Glory to God in the Highest, Pergolesi. U. of H. A Cappella Choir.

Statehood Forum Begins Tomorrow

A student statehood forum will be held tomorrow in the main lounge of Hemenway hall from 12:00 to 1:00 p.m. and will be continued on Monday, Jan. 12. A statehood plebiscite will also be conducted on Monday. The ASUH statehood committee, headed by Patsy Takemoto, arts and sciences senior, plans to compile student opinions expressed at these forums and present them to Senator Guy Cordon, who arrives in Honolulu next week to conduct a statehood survey. University delegation to see Senator Cordon is made up of the following: William Paz, Calvin Ontai, Mike Tokunaga, Wallace Kim, Hide-do Kono, and Miss Takemoto.

Relation With Russia To Be Discussed At IRC-IPR Camp Conference Feb. 5-7

With "Can the Split Between the East (Russia) and the West be Reconciled," as the theme, the International Relations Club will sponsor jointly with the Institute of Pacific Relations its 13th annual camp conference from February 5-7 at Camp Harold Erdman. These camp-conferences, according to co-chairmen Dennis Wong and Tai Chaoy Yim, are held for the purpose of getting the students together to discuss the international problems facing the world with the hope that through the exchange of ideas and information the students can better understand these all important problems. Another valuable purpose of this conference is to allow free mingling between students and professors under informal camplike conditions.

Sinclair Honors Judge Carl Wimberly Of U. S. Senate Subcommittee

At an informal luncheon held in the Regents room in Hawaii hall last Tuesday, Judge Carl E. Wimberly, specially retained representative of the United States senate subcommittee on territories and insular affairs, was honored by President Gregg Sinclair and several representatives of the University of Hawaii faculty. Judge Wimberly arrived in Honolulu December 30 to lay the ground work for Senator Guy Cordon, head of the senate's public lands committee, who will arrive here January 12, to study the statehood issue. The luncheon was held in an informal manner with each guest expressing his own opinions on statehood for Hawaii.

Dr. K. C. Leebrick, vice president of the University, stated the fact that Hawaii has for twenty-five years been trying to obtain statehood and that she is now entitled to it. James H. Shoemaker, chairman of the department of economics and business, spoke on the industrial and labor situation in relationship to statehood. He stated that statehood would improve the conditions existing at present. Dr. Benjamin Wist, dean of Teachers college, warned that the old educational system might be changed by Congress and that under the American system of government the local people should have much to say about this issue. Dr. Paul S. Bachman, dean of faculties, pointed out that Hawaii has been treated as a stepchild long enough. Norman Meller, director of the Legislative Reference Bureau, and Dr. Edmund F. Spellacy, acting dean of the graduate division, pointed out that Hawaii ranked with the average states, and, compared to some, far above them in efficiency in government services. Other guests included Dr. Lee Brooks, visiting professor of sociology; Leonard C. Mason, acting chairman of the department of anthropology and sociology; Dr. Allan F. Saunders, chairman of the department of government; Dr. Bruce White, dean of student personnel; and Dr. Hubert C. Everly, assistant professor of education. Special guests were A. T. Longley, chairman of the Hawaii Statehood Commission, and William Cogswell, representing George McLane, territorial statehood commission representative in Washington, who was not able to attend the luncheon.

Pineapple Bowl Committee Says Thank You

The Pineapple Bowl committee wishes to acknowledge the cooperation and services of the following firms and individuals who made the Pine Bowl event a success. Pineapple Industries of Hawaii, Pineapple Research Institute, Pan American World Airways, Honolulu Construction and Draying Co., Mrs. L. Porter Dickinson, Dr. Joel Trapido, Norman G. Rian, Joyce Roberts of the Pineapple Institute, members of the Queen's court and the high school students who participated in the band formations. In a letter received by Thomas Nickerson, Director of Publications, Mr. Gilbert Brown, director of public relations at the University of Redlands, writes: "You will be glad to hear that Shirley Moss certainly won friends for the University of Hawaii during her recent visit here. Everyone was pleased by her gracious manner and friendliness." Pan American Official Vignolle who escorted the Queen to USC, UCLA, and points in Hollywood, has sent word that Shirley was a wonderful person to work with and made a hit wherever she went.

Sinclair Sends Congratulations

The Pineapple Bowl game was a great success, I feel, not only as a thrilling athletic encounter to witness at the stadium or hear over the air, but also as a public relations event. All comments which have reached me have been complimentary—about the queen's trip to the mainland, the coronation ceremony, the band's formations and playing, and the half-time ceremony. I have been told that all elements of the community who were called upon gave generously of time, funds and material. Their ready cooperation is greatly appreciated and will be acknowledged individually so I understand, in your columns. As essential as these contributions were, the fact remains, however, that this year the responsibility for the event rested wholly with the student committee. I wish to congratulate heartily that committee on the thought, planning, and work—much of it during vacation time—which ensured the success of the occasion. No one who attended the Collegiate Carnival or this year's Pineapple Bowl game can doubt the ability of the students to stage such events. The students are to be commended on their enterprise. Under their direction I am confident that the Pineapple Bowl game will become an increasingly important occasion each year. Aloha and mahalo, Gregg M. Sinclair,

Communion Breakfast

A communion will be held at St. Clements Church on Sunday, January 11, at 7:30 a.m. for all club members and University students of Episcopal faith. A breakfast will follow the service with St. Clements being the host. All club members are urged to attend to help formulate plans for the coming conference at the Moku-leia Youth Center.

ICC Meeting

All members of the Interclub Council are requested to attend an important meeting Today at 12:30 in Dean Hall 8.

To Have Three Sessions

The conference will be divided into three sessions with possibly a fourth session Saturday depending on the discussion. During the first session, Thursday evening, the students will hear the reasons and factors behind the split between the east and west aired by Dr. A. Marder, "Historical Analysis of Russian Foreign Policy," Dr. A. Saunders, "Ideological Analysis of Russian Foreign Policy," and Dr. P. Bachman, "U. S. Foreign Policy." A general discussion by students will follow these talks. For the second session, Friday morning, the students will divide up into four roundtables, each discussing a specific area of conflict.

Chairmen Announced

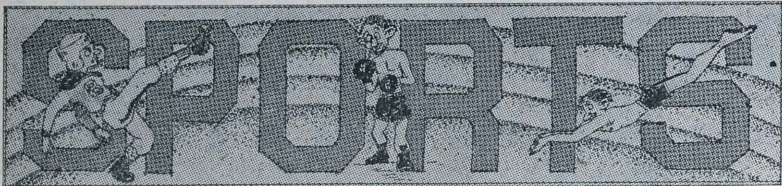

The chairmen for these roundtables are Kenji Toyama, U.N.; Jean McKillop, Marshall Plan; Julius Paul, Europe; and Catherine Watkins, Far East. For the third session, Friday evening, following an afternoon of recreation, the roundtable chairmen will give a brief summary of the discussions at a general discussion on all the their respective tables followed by four sub-topics. Cost of the camp is $7.50 per person. Anyone interested in attending this conference is asked to turn in his name to Denis Wong, C.M. 252. A maximum of 135 students will be accepted.

AWS Conducting Poll Of Campus Women

The Associated Women Students is conducting a poll beginning today of all campus women on a much debated topic: Should the wearing of corsages, leis and related floral ornaments be banned? If not, should they be worn at all dances or only at informal or formal dances? Women students will find these green slips in their campus mail boxes and they are urged to answer and send them back to the mailroom in care of the AWS as soon as possible so that the results may be tabulated before the exams.

"We Point With Pride..."

We feel there is no finer way of closing the pages of the Rainbow gridiron book for 1947-48 than by paying tribute to a great football player in the person of Jyun Hirota. His exploits on the field throughout the season were sensational—not only in gaining valuable yardage on offense but also in inspiring his teammates to greater fight and spirit, in victory or in defeat. Jyun was a constant threat whenever he packed the mail, feared by the opponents when he crossed the line of scrimmage. Truly a dynamic scatback, Jyun was always good for that extra yardage when tackled. For his outstanding achievements on the gridiron and his inspirational performances "We Point With Pride" to Jyun Hirota.

Rainbow Cagers Leave for Maui To Play Two Games

The inter-island casaba tilts are sponsored by the Maui Agricultural Athletic Association.

Roster of players scheduled to leave this afternoon for Maui includes: Charles Chang, Aldon Glynn, Al Haake, Phil Haake, Harry Kahuanui, C. Bessette, Stanley Kim, Ed Loui, George Malama, Richard Mamiya, Robert Wong, Henry Yamashita and Bill Young.

The team will return Sunday evening.

Keanuenue Sportsnotes

BY GEORGE KOGA

Are the Rainbow mittmen ready for inter-collegiate competition? A final answer can be obtained only after contests with Washington State College, University of Idaho, University of Gonzaga and San Jose State College, tentatively scheduled for late March pending B.A.C. approval.

Our fighters are beginning to develop class and finesse with the expert tutelage of coaches Don Gustuson, Shangy Tsukano and Frank Guiteres.

The bright light among the featherweights is newcomer "Blackie" Tanonaka. "Blackie" is an old-timer with many years of AAU experience. Stan Kaneshiro has what it takes and may develop into one of our best. Frank Saloman is a good defensive fighter and counter puncher.

The lightweight is, at present, our strongest division. Henry Takeshita is fast developing into a boxer-puncher like his brother Robert. One of the best conditioned members of the team, he is destined for many inter-collegiate victories. Ken "Cannonball" Kawate, strictly a slugger, is the Phillip Kim type. A very hard-hitter, he is a virtual "wild bull" once in the squared circle. Tom Ajimine, though a newcomer to boxing, has the poise of a veteran. He can give, as well as take, stiff punches. Southpaw James Kanemoto is showing a lot of promise.

The team will get their first big test on January 17 when they meet the Alexander House fighters on the Valley Isle.

Varsity Cagers Defeat 7th Fighter Wing Five, 58-25

Playing at full-team strength for the first time in the current season, the UH varsity cagers trounced a stubborn Seventh Fighter Wing team 58-24, Wednesday night to keep clean their record of eight wins and no losses.

Spearheaded by Bobby Wong's deadeye shots which accounted for 21 points, the Rainbow five came back from eking out a 37-36 victory over Ewa on Saturday to match basket for basket in the opening moments of the game, with the Wheeler field quintet.

Featuring "THE DEFEATED"

The Defeated, as translated from the Japanese of Teruaki Miyata by Dr. Earle Ernst and presented by the University Theatre Guild this week end, in many ways is a naive play—which is not surprising since, as the program note points out, in relation to postwar Japanese drama, it is a "first, tentative step in a direction toward which the Japanese theatre, thus far, has only begun to move." The play is conceived in episodes rather than in acts, and, although there is no other similarity between them, it has hardly more plot than Saroyan's The Beautiful People.

Yusuke Nomura, the protagonist, a demobilized soldier, in a succession of five scenes unrelated except that the represent phases of postwar Japan and that Yusuke is present, goes from disillusion to disillusion through devastated Tokyo. In two final scenes he puts himself on the road which he thinks may lead himself and the Japanese people to recovery and happiness.

But even though The Defeated seems intended for a special and unsophisticated audience, the earnestness and intelligence of the Theatre Guild production, together with the universal significance of the play's implications, make it good theatre.

The pattern, repeated in the individual structure of the five first scenes, of fairly high emotional tension drawn to a climatic breaking point, is repeated in the larger structure of the relationship of these five scenes to each other.

Scene V, a phantasmagoria in which the hungry writhe like damned souls and an ex-Kamikaze pilot goes mad from despair, is almost unbearably horrible. And the truth which dawns upon Yusuke Nomura that, war or no war, a people is defeated which abandons to anyone its right to determine its own destiny, and which gives Yusuke the hope upon which the play ends, pertains every bit as much to us as it does to him.

Acting honors go, as they should, to Henry Oyasato as Yusuke Nomura and to Jeanne Mitsumori as Chieko Minagawa. The cast is too large for much individual mention, but I noticed with especial pleasure Makoto Nakamura as Yuzuru Kobayashi, Irma Kop as Chizu, Dorothy Nekomoto as the soldier's

Kats Klaws

BY FELIX

IN RETROSPECT: Before the books on the Rainbows' 1947 grid activities are finally closed, we would like to insert a few parting meows.

With the Pineapple Bowl as the outstanding exception, not too much flowery praise can be said for the recently ended season. Many times the Rainbow eleven looked like anything but the fine aggregation it was.

One thing, however, cannot be denied the local lads—their fighting hearts. And we sincerely hope Coach Tommy and his men will be able to supplement that fighting drive with shrewd ball handling next season, and produce the brand of football they are certainly capable of playing.

CITATION: One member of the Roaring Rainbows stood out exceptionally throughout the entire season. His amazing aggressiveness and spirited determination made him an inspiration not only to his team but to the fans as well.

For this reason, this column is proud to present him with the first Kats Klaws Award ever to be handed out, the presentation of which is to be made sometime today.

This writer salute—Jyun Hirota!

HOWLING MAD AGAIN: In this issue's Letters to the Editor, Henry J. Nachtsheim, a student here and a former marine, sends a 24-gun blast in our direction for certain statements we made concerning Gen. Holland M. Smith sometime ago.

Space limitations prevent Kats Klaws from offering ample proof to back up our assertions. Gen. Smith's conduct of the Saipan campaign, and the Army-Navy investigations thereof, can be obtained from the files of either the Advertiser or Star-Bulletin. The whole incident makes interesting reading.

We should like to remind the writer of the letter that the word "censorship" (as such) doesn't exist in Ka Leo's functional vocabulary.

The Time Has Come

Hawaii's bid for statehood has taken on a significant and encouraging turn with President Truman's recommendation in his State of the Union report that the "time has come for Alaska and Hawaii to be admitted to the union as states." Secretary of the Interior Julius A. Krug, perhaps the most outspoken advocate of Hawaiian statehood in the capital has said in commenting on the president's statement, "I just can't see how it can miss this time."

At no other time in Hawaii's fight for admittance into the union of states have prospects looked so bright and encouraging with increased nationwide support on the subject. But we are still far from the end we hope to accomplish.

Recognizing the importance of statehood to the student body as well as to the community at large, the ASUH council has sanctioned the sending of a delegation composed of Hawaii Union representatives with whom the idea originated, and ASUH statehood committee members to see Senator Guy Cordon, chairman of the senate public lands subcommittee on territories, when he arrives on Monday to investigate local sentiment concerning statehood for the territory. This move on the part of the students to take part in the community-wide drive also has the endorsement of President Sinclair.

But it remains not only for a few individuals on the campus to make known their interest and opinion concerning statehood. Because it is of such vital concern to all residents of the territory, Ka Leo feels it is time that the student body woke up and took more than a lukewarm interest in the proceedings. We must decide for ourselves whether or not we want statehood in the light of privileges and duties which will be ours as citizens of a state in the United States. A student forum on statehood will be conducted today and Monday. Opinions expressed then will be presented to Senator Cordon.

Ignorance on the question of statehood is no excuse for college students and while our efforts towards that end will not be the deciding factor in the fight, still it will reflect the sincere and wholehearted interest of a conscious and alert student body.

Editor, Ka Leo:

I'm glad to see that Ka Leo has acquired such a talented writer as the one who scribbles nonsense under the heading "Kats Klaw." That writer is not only clever but witty, too, and a credit to our campus newspaper.

For example, his remarks about H. M. Smith, former Commanding General of Fleet Marine Force, Pacific. Perhaps "Kats" would be interested in learning more of General Smith's history: of his guidance and ingenuity in perfecting amphibious warfare, or his countless commendations from high Army officials for his splendid cooperation with and direction of joint operationh, of the Army's refusal to overstep General Smith's authority in sending their own General Smith to Washington as courier after he fouled up the early stages of the Saipan invasion.

I refuse to believe that you, as editor of Ka Leo, allowed this article to go uncensored. It must be a slip in the type. If you did sanction the article, then Helen Geramos is perfectly right in her assumption that the student body needs someone to think for them.

Incidentally, I would like to know what "Kats" did for a pastime during the war. Was he collecting information on General Smith? This vicious attack on a great general, man beloved and respected by the 200,000 fighting Marines who served under him, is unwarranted. I shall be glad to explain the facts of the Saipan "fiasco" to "Kats" with Army records as documentary proof. In the meantime, Madam Editor, see if you can't find something more in "Kat's" scope for him to play with.

wife, Harry Arakaki as the ex-Kamikaze pilot, and Terry Adaniya in a variety of roles.

The handling of groups, the number of persons on stage at various times being tremendous, was masterful; and the party scene in which separate conversations rose above a general hubbub of gaiety and movement thereafter to be lost, was as skillful as possible.

The sets, of which there were seven, were acutely suggestive and beautifully lighted, especially in Scene VI, where back-lighting was used to give the audience dark silhouettes in a carefully planned composition.

All in all, except for lack of relief from excessive emotional tension (the intermission did not seem quite adequate) The Defeated is a worthwhile, dramatic experience.

Spodts Notes . . .

Horse-Shoe Tournament:

Entries are now being accepted for the All Campus Men's Horse-shoe tournament, the final intramural event slated for the first semester. Interested students may file intentions of participating with Jackie Wong or Bill Chun Hoon, student manager.

Vacancies for Light-heavy, Heavyweight Divisions to be Filled:

Since there were no contenders for the light-heavy and heavyweight divisions in the All-Campus Boxing Tournament, vacancies for the two crowns must be occupied by the end of the first semester to complete the roster of champions. Husky men students (175 lbs. and over) are asked to contact Coach Don Gustuson, Assistant Coach Shangy Tsukano, or Managers Fred Lee and Kats Miho as soon as possible in order to facilitate matching of the contenders. Deadline for entries has been set for next Wednesday.
