

EDITORS' NOTE

We are pleased to share this latest issue of Asian Perspectives, bringing us into the year 2020.

The journal continues to grow in its style and format. An updated style guide will appear soon for prospective authors. The content format may expand to accommodate regular review or debate essays, in addition to the existing traditional categories of research articles, book reviews, and obituaries.

Later this year, Asian Perspectives will transition into a new editorial team that will guide the journal into the next years. We are grateful for having had the opportunity to contribute to the journal's ongoing improvements, including an operational online manuscript management system, timely production schedule, and renewed international ranking. Additionally, we are grateful for the opportunity we have had to work with the journal's contributing authors, referees, editorial board, and production staff.

The journal's website provides the most updated information about the journal, published contents, instructions for prospective authors, and other useful links, available at <https://www.uhpress.hawaii.edu/title/ap/>.

—Mike T. CARSON and Rowan K. FLAD