

ASIAN PERSPECTIVES

The Journal of Archaeology for Asia and the Pacific

Volume 49

Fall 2010

Number 2

SPECIAL ISSUE: NEW AND EMERGENT TRENDS IN JAPANESE
PALEOLITHIC RESEARCH

ARTICLES

- Introduction 227
Peter Bleed
- Dual Nature in the Creation of Disciplinary Identity:
A Socio-historical Review of Palaeolithic Archaeology in Japan 231
Yuichi Nakazawa
- Transitions in the Early Upper Palaeolithic: An Examination of Lithic Assemblages on the Musashino Upland, Tokyo, Japan 251
Takuya Yamaoka
- Mobility and Lithic Economy in the Terminal Pleistocene of Central Honshu 279
Katsuhiro Sano
- The Palaeolithic Exploitation of the Lithic Raw Materials and the Organization of Foraging Territory in Northeastern Japan 294
Kohtaro Yoshikawa
- Assessing the Reality of a Palaeolithic “Dwelling Structure” in the Japanese Archipelago: The Structure of the Tana-Mukaihara
Site 318
Takanori Sakashita

Refitted Material and Consideration of Lithic Reduction Sequence among the Microblade Assemblages: A View from the Okushirataki-1 Site, Hokkaido, Northern Japan	332
Jun Takakura
Experimental Study on Heat Alteration of Palaeolithic Material: Preliminary Results from Shale in the Northeastern Region of Japan	348
Kaoru Yonekura
Use Angle and Motional Direction of End Scrapers: A Case Study of the Palaeolithic in Hokkaido, Japan	363
Katsunori Takase	