The African-American Claim for Reparations for Slavery

* Whites Benefited Economically from Slavery and a Century of "Jim Crow" Discriminatory Laws

* African-Americans Were First Forbidden and Later Greatly Hindered in Forming Capital and Investing in the Economy

* Whites Have Property and Wealth at the Expense of Blacks

∴ Blacks Have a Claim for Reparations Which Must Be Viewed as a Property Right

University of Hawaii School of Law Library - Jon Van Dyke Archives Collection