
Contributors

Warren Nishimoto
Guest editor and interviewer

Nishimoto is director of the Center for Oral History (COH), College of Social Sciences, University of Hawai'i at Mānoa. He has directed dozens of oral history projects focusing on people, cultures, communities, occupations, and events in the Islands' history. He also teaches classes in the UH-Mānoa Department of Educational Foundations.

Hunter McEwan
Narrative editor

McEwan is professor and chair in the Department of Educational Foundations at the University of Hawai'i at Mānoa. He is also editor of Educational Perspectives.

Cynthia Oshiro
Narrative editor

Oshiro is the Publications Specialist at the Center for Oral History. Among other responsibilities, she is editor of COH's newsletter, Oral History Recorder.

Joe Rossi
Interviewer

Rossi is a former researcher at the Center for Oral History. He currently works as a writer and editor in San Francisco.
