Debate manager to be chosen this week

Applications for the position of business manager of the board of debate and forensics shall be made to Elbert Yee, council representative of that board, the student council decided at a meeting Saturday.

Deadline for applications will be 12 o'clock on Friday, it was announced.

Student members of the board of debate and forensics chosen by the council include Peter Aduja, Andrew Ikezawa and Robert Chuck.

Faculty member of the board, chosen by President Gregg M. Sinclair, is Dr. Earle Ernst, instructor in English.

The business manager of the board of debate and forensics will act as chairman of the group.

In order to qualify for the position of manager the applicant must be an active member of the ASUH, and a junior or a senior, as rated by the registrar.

The board will consider the applications and recommend its choice to the student council.

Local violinist plays Tuesday

Konrad Liebrecht, internationally known violinist and present concertmaster of the Honolulu symphony orchestra, will be presented at a concert in Farrington hall November 10 at 1 o'clock, it has been announced by the adult education division.

Mr. Liebrecht will play Mendelssohn's Concerto in E Minor as the feature on the program. Other selections to be played by the violinist include Kreisler's Caprice Viennois, Dvorak's Songs My Mother Taught Me, and Foster's Old Folks at Home.

Before coming to the Islands Mr. Liebrecht had been concertmaster of the Opera in Graz, Berlin Great Volks Opera, Frankfurt Symphony orchestra, Berlin Bluthner orchestra, and the Tokyo Symphony orchestra.

Tickets may be obtained in Farrington hall on the day of the concert, starting at 12 noon. The admission price is 35c.

Debate and Forensics

Elbert Yee was appointed council member of the board.

Peter Aduja, Andrew Ikezawa, Robert Chuck were chosen student representatives.

Policy for classes

Richard Kuykendall was made chairman of a committee to study the matter of a blanket policy for classes.

It was decided that Kuykendall would choose his own committee but that the class presidents be included.

Election approved

The freshman class election results for councillors and secretary-treasurer were approved by the council.

Spirit and rally

Takashi Noda was appointed chairman of the spirit and rally committee.

Theodore Searle, graduate manager, was asked by the council to get a section for Rainbow backers in the Shrine game.

No dance

The proposal by the social committee to hold a dance on November 8 was rejected by the council on the grounds of insufficient funds.

'First Lady of the Campus' doing war work; studies Oriental culture, is also artist

"The first day I arrived in Honolulu, I dressed carefully in a San Francisco woolen suit. As I came down the gangplank, a delegation of students met me and took me up to Hale Aloha, where I sat down in my little room—land sick, very hot, and very tired."

While reminiscing on the year she spent here as a graduate student, Mrs. Gregg M. Sinclair sat in the shade of a tree in front of the library.

To describe her, one would say that our "First Lady of the Campus" is charming, young, and pretty, or, as President Sinclair himself said, "She's a smart girl."

A graduate of Mills College, she received her Phi Beta Kappa key in her junior year. She came down on an exchange scholarship as a graduate student, while Sophie Judd of this University went to Mills. Mrs. Sinclair won her M.A. in English at Mills. First as a librarian, then as the registrar, she later worked at the San Francisco Museum of Art.

Speaking of her first year here, she said, "I enjoyed the opportunity to live intimately with Oriental and Hawaiian girls. It was interesting to me to enrich my own attitude toward life by coming to understand a little of theirs. I had a lot of fun, too. I learned to dance the hula—after a fashion. I remember how we used to sing 'Akaka Falls,' 'Across the Sea,' 'Pau, Pau Piliikia,' and 'Hawaiian Paradise.'"

Mrs. Sinclair spent a great deal of time studying Oriental subjects. She took President Sinclair's

Aggie frosh to take orientation course

Lectures to start Friday at 10:30; occupational opportunities in agriculture to be emphasized

Every freshman student in the department of agriculture is required to take an orientation course starting this Friday morning at 10:30 in Agricultural building, room 212, announced Prof. Harold A. Wadsworth, chairman of the University department of agriculture.

According to Professor Wadsworth, its purpose is to present to the freshmen an idea of what different occupational opportunities are available in the agricultural field, and where occupations may develop.

Students who registered either in June or in September 1942, must take this non-credit course, which will consist of a series of eight to ten lectures to be delivered by different agriculturists throughout this semester.

The schedule of lectures is as follows:

November 6—The department of agriculture; its organization, curricula and requirements for graduation.—H. A. Wadsworth, chairman, Dept. of Agriculture, University of Hawaii.

November 13—The need for basically trained men in Hawaii's agricultural enterprises.—J. L. Collins, geneticist and acting director, Pineapple Research institute.

November 20—What does Hawaii offer to the well-qualified graduate in animal husbandry.—L. A. Henke, animal husbandman, Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station.

December 4—Occupations associated with animal husbandry and their possibilities in Hawaii.—S. H. Work, associate animal husbandman, Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station.

December 11—Local opportunities in truck farming.—W. A. Frazier, associate horticulturist, Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station.

December 18—Helping men own farms.—Arlen M. Scott, county supervisor, Farm Security Administration.

Deadline for senior pictures set Nov. 30

November 30 is the deadline for senior picture-taking at Williams' Studio, Fort street, announced Doris Oshima, class editor of Ka Palapala.

The memos that have been sent to the seniors through campus mail must be taken to the studio at the time of picture-taking, said Miss Oshima. The cost is $2.50.

Miss Oshima reminds the seniors to be prepared with the following information:

Name and address, class and college, major and minors, class offices held, and activities and offices held.

Constitution available

All students who are interested in buying the ASUH constitution and by-laws printed in folder form should leave their names with Edna Ching, in the graduate manager's office, announced Theodore Searle, graduate manager.

A limited number of folders have already been printed and issued to all student council members.

The approximate cost would be 50 cents, said Searle.

Noda chosen rally head

Takashi Noda, senior in the college of applied science, and chairman of the social committee, was appointed chairman of the spirit and rally committee by the student council, Saturday.

It was decided by the council that since the work of both committees will be closely allied this year, one chairman will do for both.

A University rooting section for the Shrine Benefit game will be the committee's first project, it was decided.

University backers of the Rainbow team will be seated on the Waikiki end of the football field at the Stadium.

Theodore Searle, graduate manager, was asked to see the Shrine committee on getting the section and a price reduction on seats there.

The social committee's proposal for a Flunker Frolic, a dance after six weeks, was rejected by the council.

Senior class plans November picnic

Plans for a picnic at Hanauma bay in late November were made by the senior class cabinet at a meeting last week.

Phyllis Tam, senior class president, appointed Kikuye Sasaki and Kazuo Takanishi as co-chairmen of the program committee. Henry Nakamura was asked to head the clean-up committee, and Elaine Ching will be in charge of food.

Clara Higa, Beatrice Suiso, May Siu, James Terauchi, Paul Tamura, and Shirley Yokochi are the other members of the council.

Cheer on . . .

On Saturday the student council appointed a most able person to head the spirit and rally committee — non-existent since the December seventh blitz.

With the task of building school spirit in the hands of Takashi Noda, also ASUH social committee chairman, many surmise that that is all to be done—that things will take care of themselves automatically when Noda is there. But, one man can't do everything.

On November 22 the Rainbows, backed by the University, will play their first official senior league game. Vieing for honors in this Shriners' benefit (we all remember last year's game held the day before the seventh) will also be members of Na Alii. Whether we emerge victorious or not will depend greatly on the students' spirit and cheering.

Noda needs your backing. His committee's first project will be to acquire a University rooting section at the Shriners' game. If he succeeds, the rest is up to you. We only hope the problem of school spirit will not become a more perennial one than it already is.

More play . . .

Sports are once more reigning on the campus as the intramural program for men and women got underway this week. With the WAA and the men's division of the physical education department planning and carrying out such an extensive schedule, the students on the campus should have no worry as to how to spend their leisure time with the greatest benefits.

The WAA, or Women's Athletic association, under the guidance of Barbara Bown, a veritable human dynamo, has shown its colors by springing into action early in the year. Her tentative plans for the year include a variety of events such as tennis, swimming, bowling, archery, basketball, and even bean bags, hopscotch, and jacks. A long list of managers has been announced, and in our eyes, an eventful and successful year is forthcoming.

The male portion of the student body has not likewise forgotten the play side of life. Class managers have been appointed and practices for the interclass touch football competition, which starts today, were well on their way last week.

Thus, as one can see, the University student body is again up on its feet, with the resumption of such recreational activities. It has been long since those last intramural competitions were played last year, and now with the return of normalcy to the campus one rejoices that sports will again play a large part in the students' life.

Though very few realize it, the need for play and wholesome recreation is one of the primary fundamentals for a happy life. Now that we are in the midst of war, situations are tense. Nerves are wrought up over even the very minor things. Blackouts increase the tension; air raid practices frequently stir pent-up emotions. Everyone is subject to a different type of life and, furthermore, to great emotional and mental strain.

The need for play—to be free from the worries of the day—is the average person's desire. Many thus take advantage of the splendid opportunities offered by these organizations—many others, though, merely let themselves exist as they are, thinking that play actually is a waste of time and effort.

We students will be the builders of tomorrow's future. How well we can do the job will depend immensely upon how well-balanced a life we lead today. A supposedly intellectual and scholarly group, lacking physical fitness and emotional and mental stability will be of no value today and in post-war reconstruction. We need first of all strong bodies to weather this crisis we are all experiencing. If we stand the strain, which play will help to relieve, we may then have more to offer to our country.

VVVignettes

By Yutaka Nakahata

Certain members of the VVV still insist on living according to the ancient pre-war Hawaiian time. When reveille sounds in the morning they try to steal an extra hour's sleep on borrowed time.

Last week the law cracked down on these bed bugs. Brought to testify to the questions:

"Don't you hear the whistle blowing?"

"Don't you here Yempuku shouting?"

They answered, "No."

Really, the sun is their undoing. For failing to see the sun rise; for failing to rise with the sun, they missed catching the worm. Now the worm has turned.

This week justice triumphed. The law meted out stiff penal sentences to the notorious late risers—Wallace Doi, Eddie Watase, Kenneth Sorumotori, Henry Oyasato, Kenneth Kawate, and Ted Amioka.

Tomorrow at dawn the penal colonists will rise and march to meet their fate.

You shouldn't jump at conclusions. Whoever said they will face a firing squad? However, they will have to answer roll call at 6:25 in the cold outdoors . . . or else!

Sweetness and light . . .

By Elbert Yee

The move to back up the Rainbow team in the senior football league is gaining headway, as more and more students who miss the old days of songs, cheers and rah-rah for Hawaii are clamoring for a rooting section.

The council has now brought the matter to a head by appointing Takashi Noda, present member of the social committee, as chairman of the spirit and rally committee.

The council has also asked Theodore Searle, graduate manager, to see the Shrine committee about getting a cheering section for the University in the Shrine benefit game which will be the Rainbows' first official senior league showing.

The council made a wise move when it combined the social committee with the spirit and rally committee, because in these times pep rallies and pre-game stunts will definitely be considered social events to the students.

The fact that there is nothing happening around town probably is the deciding factor in the students' appeal for pep rallies, cheering sections and such.

Let's hope that student spirit keeps up and the Rainbows get real backing.

Ikezawa clarifies Social Policies position

Editor, Ka Leo—

Several weeks ago I was invited to a meeting of the Social Policies committee. Judging that my opinion was that of several other students, I protested that wearing of neckties for afternoon dances, though looking nice, was impractical. The committee then proposed to create a sub-committee to study the situation. Later I was asked to head this committee, but because of personal reasons I declined.

A certain faculty member declared that my criticism was destructive rather than constructive, and that I was being "childish" and a "poor sport," because I felt so strongly interested about the problem but cared not to take the chairmanship.

My reply to this faculty member was that I'm interested in everything that happens on the campus; that I voiced my opinion merely because I recognized that there was a definite problem; that I believed my opinion represented many students; that the problem had to be solved somehow; and that someone had to take the initiative and have courage enough to do something about it. I only had in mind a harmonious, pleasant relationship of the administration and the student body.

One of my reasons for not accepting the chairmanship was that I wanted the Social Policies committee to realize eventually that many other students were also concerned about the problem, in fact, more than I. I was waiting and wishing that they would do something about it.

Now that they are doing something about it, the same faculty member claims that I have been going around "fussing" among the students. I do admit that I have asked opinions of other students, and that I have joined in the impromptu fraternal discussions occasionally because it is part of my duty as vice-president of the ASUH to know what the students are talking and thinking about. But I have NEVER at any time or in any way induced or influenced or sold my opinion to a single student. If there is any student who claims that I have done so, I am perfectly willing to admit it.

Yours faithfully,
ANDREW IKEZAWA.

Library exhibits show Indian art

While nations are fighting to control the world's natural resources, the Honolulu Academy of Arts is carefully preserving the artifacts of the warring countries.

This is attested by the recent University library exhibits of rare and old silver. The displays included a Japanese vase of the Tokugawa period, an old Indo-China spoon, a hammered bowl from Bali, a delicate bowl from ancient China's Tang dynasty; and a candelabra, a sweetheart dish and a finely cutout fish server from old England.

This week's display shows American Indian art. There are intricately woven baskets, pottery, painted vases, bone necklaces, an archery set, a snowshoe and other leather and bead craft.

These exhibits are a regular feature of the University library.

Kuykendall appeals to sophomore class

To the Sophomore Class—

It has been brought to my attention that there are some members of the sophomore class who are not satisfied with the selection of the class councillors and the way in which class business is being conducted. I feel that it is appropriate at this time to make some definite statement of the policies of the class council.

At a meeting of the class officers that I called soon after the elections, the officers decided that they needed the help and advice of a more representative group from the class. They carefully considered the hard working and conscientious leaders of the class and appointed the following five persons to act as sophomore class councillors: Betty Kikawa, Una May Zane, Mildred Doi, Charles Kagawa and Robert Chuck.

This group has been together, with you, in the University for well over a year and I think that you as a class, will agree that these persons represent a wide variety of opinions and a majority of the class.

The council has made the following appointments of committee chairmen: Program, Betty Kikawa; Community sing, Una May Zane; Publicity, Allen Walker; Sports managers, Charlie Kagawa, Robert Chuck.

These persons are hard at work with their committees and I assure you that evidence of their work will be forthcoming very shortly.

Plans have already been made for this year; community sings sponsored jointly by the sophomore class and the YWCA.

You are all aware of the striking and successful appearance of our class at the inauguration of President Sinclair. I would like to say a word of praise at this time for Una May Zane and her committee for their work in connection with having the leis made. Betty Kikawa and her committee should have a vote of thanks for their work on the class elections and the soph-frosh community sing.

At the next meeting of the ASUH council I am going to ask that the above mentioned sophomore class councillors have the official sanction of the ASUH. Before I do this, however, I am going to call an open meeting of the class council so that all who are in doubt will be able to see the manner in which we do business. The meeting will be held on Friday, November 6, at 12:45 in the Alumni room, Hemenway hall. I hereby invite all persons who have any complaints or suggestions to appear at this meeting. I also extend an urgent request to all sophomores to be present if they so desire. I am going to ask Pump Searle and Douglas Brier to be present also to represent the ASUH.

The council is working together as an efficient and hard driving team. We are working on plans for a few really worthwhile events to be sponsored by our class in the near future. The council is trying to do the things that you would like to have done, so please bring us any and all suggestions that you may have. If you are interested in working on any of the committees, let us know. We can surely make use of you.

Yours sincerely,
RICHARD KUYKENDALL,

Interclass nine-man touch football league starts today

Juniors leading women's athletic association interclass volleyball league

Six teams to vie for title

Wise field will be scene of action

The opening games of the 1942 ASUH intramural touch football league are scheduled for this afternoon, announced Bert Chan Wa, physical education director.

The seniors will meet the juniors and the freshmen will meet the sophomores at Wise Field starting at 4:30.

Six teams are entered in this league. The freshman class has three teams and the other classes have one each. The teams were organized last week and have undergone light training in preparation for the coming games.

The teams will be attired in athletic jerseys furnished by each class.

Manager Harry Kurisaki's freshman teams will wear maroon jerseys; Charles Kagawa's sophomores, gold; Kenneth Uyehara's juniors, green; and Kazuo Takenishi's seniors in blue jerseys.

Two rounds will be played and the class emerging with the most victories will be declared champions.

The schedule is as follows:

Nov. 4—Juniors vs. Seniors; Frosh A. vs. Sophomores. Nov. 5—Juniors vs. Frosh B; Frosh C vs. Seniors; Nov. 6—Frosh A vs. Juniors; Sophs vs. Frosh B.

Nov. 9—Sophs vs. Juniors; Seniors vs. Frosh B. Nov. 11—Frosh A vs. Seniors; Sophs vs. Frosh B. Nov. 13—Seniors vs. Sophs; Juniors vs. Frosh C.

Other teams close behind as season reaches halfway mark

With half of the season gone, the junior class captained by Michiko Uno, is in the lead of the WAA volleyball championship tournament. They have won three games while losing one.

Following closely behind are the two sophomore teams. Freshman A follows next and Freshman B and the seniors are tied for last place.

The standings of teams are:

Teams	W	L
Junior	3	1
Sophomore A	2	1
Freshman B	0	2

Last week's games and scores were: Freshman A (35) vs. Sophomore A (32); Junior (39); vs. Senior (36); Sophomore B (39) vs. Freshman A (21); Junior (35) vs. Freshman A (29); Sophomore A (51) vs. Sophomore B (32); Junior (41) vs. Freshman B (25); Sophomore B (28) vs. Senior (27); and Sophomore A (55) vs. Junior (34).

Schedule of the remaining games are:
 Nov. 4—Freshman A vs. Sophomore B; Senior vs. Freshman B.
 Nov. 5—Senior vs. Freshman B; Sophomore A vs. Freshman B.
 Nov. 6—Junior vs. Sophomore B.
 Nov. 9—Freshman A vs. Freshman B; Sophomore A vs. Senior.

Inter-institutional horseshoe pitching tournament to begin

The Hawaii Agricultural Experiment Station will conduct a horseshoe pitching tournament shortly, announced Mr. H. K. Hee, secretary of the Inter-Institutional athletic committee. This tournament will be held after the completion of the softball series which is in progress at the present time.

Mr. Hee said that this tournament is being held in order to continue the competitive spirit of the different institutions. A horseshoe court has been installed on the campus, makai of the Hawaii Agricultural Experiment station greenhouse, and has been in constant use by the participants.

A tentative schedule has been drawn for an elimination tournament to draw the best players from the various institutions. The finalists will be eligible for one of the three doubles teams or three singles berth. After the elimination tournaments have been completed the inter-institutional horseshoe tournament will begin.

Meanwhile in the softball league the teams are going into the home stretch. The league will commence on November 13.

Last week's results are: Teams B, E.S.A. (10) vs. H.A.E.S (8); and Teams B, P.R.I. (17) vs. H.A.E.S. (7).

Bown announces WAA managers

Managers of the various intramural sports events to be offered this year for women have been announced by Barbara Bown, WAA president.

In charge of the different sports to come and already going on are: Kikue Sasaki, volleyball; Una May Zane, pistol shooting; Marjorie Macklin, jacks, bean bags and hopskotch; Laura Yemoto, bowling; Elsie Awai, basketball; Leonilda Kikuewa, ping pong.

Roseline Medeiros, swimming; Mae Ogawa, tennis; Mariko Kutsunai, archery; and Dorothy Wee, badminton.

Jacks, bean bags, and hopskotch will be the next WAA event on the campus and is scheduled for November 16-20, according to Miss Bown.

WAA members interested in joining a club to improve or perfect their swimming are asked to contact Roseline Medeiros or Mrs. La Verne Bennett, physical education instructor.

Shooting class starts Monday

With about 50 women signed up, the pistol shooting class sponsored by the WAA and managed by Una May Zane will begin on Monday and will last for three months.

Weekly classes consisting of 12 students will be held from 2-4 on Mondays through Thursdays at the Ala Moana shooting range. Instructors will be chosen by Captain Dewey Mookini of the Honolulu Police department.

The women will pay for their own ammunition, to be obtained at the range. The cost is 35 cents for 50 rounds for .22 caliber pistols, which will be supplied by the department, and 15 cents for a target to be shared by two girls.

Besides pistol shooting, a few lessons on the fundamentals of judo will be taught so that the group may gain some confidence in self-protection.

Captains chosen by Miss Zane to be in charge are: Bernice Choy, Monday; Marion Longley, Tuesday; Charlotte Chun, Wednesday; and Beatrice Suizo, Thursday.

The instructors are: Russell Smith, Herbert Cockett, William Smith and Kenneth Cundiff.

Novice tennis tourney to be held

"An all-campus novice singles and doubles tennis tournament will be held," said Bert Chan Wa, physical education instructor.

"Those who plan to enter this tournament should register with me or their class managers," he concluded.

Do You?

The Campus Stroller

By Elsie Awai

Evidently, I am no longer a "chit-chatterer," but a campus stroller. However, that fact doesn't change this column one bit.

Clothes! Clothes! Clothes! Somehow you can't escape them at all—or can you? Everywhere you turn you're bound to see the human frame draped in some sort of costume, sometimes outlandish, often sweet, and most times — just simple. Whatever the effect, it's entirely up to you.

Have you ever noticed the large proportion of smart coeds who seem to delight in wearing skirts (and, of course, what goes with them). Need I say that there are almost as many different types of skirts as there are different types of girls? Dark-colored skirts serve as a nice complement to gay, bright blouses. However, almost anything goes in the way of skirts . . . big Hawaiian prints, plaids, and even "patch" skirts.

Speaking of skirts, I remember the first convocation this year when a guest speaker said that speeches should be like skirts — you know, short enough to be interesting, and yet long enough to cover the subject! Well, that's the thought for today.

University students are being given the opportunity to learn and improve their dancing ability from Mr. Noah Potti, former dance instructor of the Arthur Murray studios in Detroit, Michigan, announces Miss Cenie Hornung, councillor for women. Classes are being held every Monday and Friday at 12:45 in Farrington hall.

These classes are being held in connection with three dance service groups recently formed to provide partners for the men in the armed forces. Heads of the Caucasian and part-Hawaiian group are Grace Bacon, Peggy Carson, and Heather Todd. Leatrice Yamagata is in charge of the Japanese group, while Alice Chun and Marietta Chong head all other nationalities. These are voluntary groups for the sake of morale. All girls interested in offering their services are asked to contact any of the girls mentioned above.

However, the dance classes are open to everyone, men and women alike. The instruction is given free of charge.

The finance committee of the YWCA is selling Christmas cards at five cents apiece for the Women's Campus club.

IN THE SOCIAL LINE . . .

Tu Chiang Sheh . . .
. . . campus fraternity, held its first war-time meeting recently at the home of Choy Zane. Officers elected for the year are: president, Raymond Ho; vice-president, Kenneth Ing; recording secretary, Dick Yin Wong; and treasurer, Choy Zane, Jr. Plans for the coming year were discussed. The members were in full support of the continuance of the "Trasheet," fraternity publication. Riley Yee and Dick Yin Wong were appointed permanent editors.

Neophytes of Yang Chung Hui . . .
. . . were introduced to the general membership at a meeting held last Friday in the ASUH office. They are freshmen Edna Ching, Jane Chun, Muriel Ling, Rose Tan, Ellen Young; and seniors Alice Chun and May Siu. Co-chairmen of the initiation and house party to be held later in the semester are Marietta Chong and Bettie In. Others working with them are Yan Kwai Lau, Dorothy Jim, Marian Chun and Lai Seu Choy.

A get-together party . . .
. . . of the Newman club will be held this Saturday, November 8, at the home of Frances Ching. Satie Nye will speak on her experiences in the Orient. Games and refreshments are being planned for the affair.

New officers were chosen . . .
. . . at the Hui Iwi meeting held last Thursday because the vice-president was the only officer chosen last spring who has returned to school. The newly elected are: president, Lai Seu Choy; vice-president, Pearl Richardson; secretary, Leonilda Kekuewa; and treasurer, Rosaline Medeiros.

Te Chih Sheh . . .
. . . Chinese women's sorority, elected neophytes at a recent meeting. They are: freshmen Ada Chang, Ah Hau Lee, Rosemary Tongg, Lucy Yee, Carol Zane; sophomores Frances Chang, Abbie Kong, Una May Zane; and senior Doris Lee. Plans are being made for a lively initiation program to be held soon.
