

Demjanjuk v. Petrovsky (6th Cir. 1985)

John Demjanjuk, Cleveland steelworker, was accused of being “Ivan the Terrible,” the Ukrainian prison guard who terrorized prisoners at the Treblinka concentration camp during the World War II.

How much evidence must be produced to support his extradition to Israel?

Does universal jurisdiction support the exercise of jurisdiction by Israel?

How does a crime become subject to universal jurisdiction??

Are there statutes of limitation on universal crimes?

Can civil actions be brought against perpetrators of universal crimes? Any statute of limitations??
