Director's Notes

The Snow Queen and the Goblin has come from a truly collaborative process in which set, costume, puppet, script and movement elements have been interwoven. The production has required everyone to stretch, and each performer, designer and coach has contributed their own creative ideas to the final collage. The overall design elements have been inspired by Trinidad's magnificent costumes, Julie Taymor's The Lion King on Broadway, and my long love affair with movement, masks, and giant puppets.
